Census Supervisor Here. W. A. Terrall, of Wasco, who wa in charge of census operations in the second congressional district of Oregon, is in the city checking up on the agricultural and industrial cennus which is being taken in this section. He plans to be here for several days.

Oregon Maps Distributed.

Snow & Dayton, local realty dealers, have recently been distributing among their customers and friends large, colored wall maps of Oregon, con-taining a key list of all cities and towns and their population according Local Shriners will not be represented at the conclave of the temples of the Pacific coast at Tacoma on Saturday, a partial canvass of members here today showed. Most of the local Shriners are too busy with inventory and first of the year business matters to venture so far from home at this time. Twenty-eight temples will be represented at the meeting.

Freewater Reports $521.60.

Freewater today reported to C. K. Cranston, treasurer of the Ceneral European Relief, that it has raised $521.50. H. S. Murray, mayor of the east end community, sent in the re-port, which was received with considerable gratification at headquarters. Freewater was allotted a quota of $320 as was its neighbor, Ferndale. Mr. Cranston wrote today to ascer-tain whether the amount sent in was raised wholly in Freewater or includ-ed Ferndale, from which place no report has yet been received.

booters Show Interest

Local members of the Pendleton Rod & Gon Club today evidenced more than usual interest in the announce ment that a meeting would be held to night to decide whether a jackrabbit shoot should be held on Sunday. The mestion will be settled tonight and, if it is decided to hold the shoot, captains will be named for the competing teams and conditions of the shoot de cided on. Secretary C. G. Matlock wants to find out tonight hoy many will take part and declares that all those who wish to get into the game on Sunday must be at the meeting tonight at 7:30. It will be held in the H. Estes office

Organization to Be Revived

The Boy Scouts, once a flourishing anization in Pendleton, will be re fived at a meeting tomorrow night at the R. Raymond home on Water street. Rev. J. M. Cornelison, Presbyterian minister, in response to an appeal from the youngsters, will mee with the boys and discuss plans for securing a scout master. The meeting will be held at 7 p. m. andboysof one time the members of the Boys Scouts club numbered about 30. Clar-ence Tubbs, then a member of the high Tax Blanks Not Yet Mailed school faculty, was scout master.
