The Polish-Soviet government is ready to move from Moscow to Kiev, with the general staff of the white Russian army, according to one newspaper.

The white Russian army is reported to be in course of organization now, it is believed to constitute the troops reported concentrating at Kiev and preparing fortification to withstand a possible Ukrainian revolt.

The proposed Rumanian and Polish governments are said to have been completed in detail. Some Polish sympathizers with the Soviet aims are said to have been selected for minor posts. It is believed here that officials for the proposed government are being thoroughly drilled in their duties this winter and put in readiness to move forward as rapidly as the troops.

JAPANESE NEWSPAPER DENOUNCES RUMOR OF SECRET TREATY WORDS

Says Talk of War Between the United States and Japan is Mischievous at Time When Disarmament is Progressing

TOKYO, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—The rumor from America of a secret clause in the Anglo-Japanese alliance is denounced by the Ji Ji Shimpō as in the class of mischievous canards and the talk of war between Japan and the United States as simply mischievous, particularly at this time when, it says, the disarmament idea is making headway.

The Ji Ji Shimpō expresses the hope that President-Elect Harding will shortly announce his views on disarmament and also his plan for an association of nations.

Kokumin Shimbun, commenting on disarmament discussion, says: "This is America's day; others can only listen to her simultaneous plea for disarmament and the biggest navy."

The newspaper expresses its view that the suggested Washington conference on disarmament would end by confirming the big navy policy.

The Ji Ji Shimpō said that as for a naval race between America, Japan and England, this would be incomparably more foolish than the Anglo-German naval race before the war.

WOULD TAKE COAL INDUSTRY WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(U. P.)—Government supervision of the coal industry is provided in a bill introduced by Chairman Calder of the senate coal investigating committee.

WASHINGTON, ALL DRESSED UP, MAY FROLIC ANYWAY

Nation's Capital, Anticipating Pageants, Carnival and Balls Swallows Bitter Pill in Simple Inaugural Program.

CANCELLATIONS FOR $250 ROOMS ARE POURING IN

Unofficial Celebration May be Staged in Desperation to Appease Merchants and Buyers of New Togs for Mar. 4.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(U. P.)—Washington is all dressed up and no place to go. Plans for pageants, carnivals and balls in connection with the inauguration of Warren G. Harding promise to rival in simplicity that of President Jefferson, who rode to the capitol on horseback. Hotel proprietors are deluged with cancellations or reservations at $250 a room. People who had ordered new wearing apparel for the big occasion considered themselves wronged.

In desperation, an unofficial inaugural celebration may be staged here, backed by merchants, hotel keepers and others who risked their money on getting big profits from March 4 crowds.

The merchants and citizens committee claims it has $110,000 to spend on inaugural festivities despite Harding's wishes and the decision of congress to follow them.

But congress is still in a mood to put a limit on hotel rates, food prices and taxi cabs and prohibit the erection of stands or selling of seats for an unofficial parade.

Wilson to Accompany Harding WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—Cancellation of inauguration plans will not prevent President Wilson from going to the capitol with Harding for the swearing in.

LEYGUE'S CABINET SUFFERS DEFEAT BY WIDE BALLOT

Chamber of Deputies by 463 to 125 Votes Lack of Confidence in Existing Regime Which Hastens to Step Out.

PREMIER RESIGNS WHEN POLICY IS DENOUNCED

Foreign Program Brought to Limelight by Imminent Meeting of Allies Precipitates Action and Quick Results.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—Premier Leygue's cabinet suffered a defeat in the chamber of deputies today by a ballot of 463 to 125. The vote was on a question postponing all interpellations until after the conference of allied premiers January 19, the premier making his demand for postponement a question of confidence.

Cabinet Steps Out. PARIS, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—The Leygue cabinet resigned following defeat. Move Not Unexpected.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(U. P.)—The Leygue ministry was overthrown today. The chamber of deputies by a ballot of 463 to 125, voted lack of confidence in the government. Premier Leygue immediately went to the Chamber d'Etats to offer his resignation to President Millerand.

The vote followed Leygue's request that he be permitted to postpone interpellations on the government's foreign policy and the question of disarmament until after the meeting of the supreme council here January 19. The interpellators, Bokanowski and Boyer, insisted that he be compelled to answer immediately and the question became a matter of confidence in the government. The action has been expected since Leygue's policies have been considered affronting to England and unsettling to internal affairs. His successor is expected to be chosen immediately, in view of the fact the allied plenipotentiaries will meet Monday to discuss a number of matters affecting them all. The German indemnity, disarmament and the Near-East, are among the questions to come up.

DEPLETED RESERVE CAUSES CLOSING OF BANK AT KLAMATH

SALEM, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—The First State and Savings Bank, Klamath Falls, was today closed by Frank C. Brummell, state superintendent of banks, who said a depleted reserve was the cause. Further action depends on developments resulting from examination of the bank now under way, said Brummell.

HUNDRED THOUSAND BUSHELS OF WHEAT SOLD IN TWO DAYS

Grain Goes in Pendleton on Basis of $1.50 for No. 1 Club; Buyers Come in Market With Showing of Steadiness.

One hundred thousand bushels of Umatilla county wheat have been sold in Pendleton in the past two days on the basis of $1.50 for No. 1 club. Most of the grain bought, however, has graded No. 2 and No. 3, selling at the correspondingly lower figure for those grades.

The grain market has been showing a slower and steadier tendency upward of late and buyers have shown more of an inclination to come into the market, it is said. A large number of growers who held their crops had agreed to sell when the market went to $1.50 for No. 1 and as a result of the climb in the March futures in Chicago, buyers have met their figures. Most of the grain bought is for export.

Sales of several cargoes at the coast have lately been reported. Charter rates by the U. S. shipping board for shipment to the United Kingdom have dropped 25 percent, from $20 to $15 a ton, and this is one of the big factors in stimulating the sale of grain from this coast for consumption in the United Kingdom.

The rise in sterling exchange is the other factor which is declared to have aided the rise in wheat prices at Chicago and over the country. Sterling has gone up nearly 25 points from the 64 and if it continues to rise the wheat price, it is said, will follow.

A better feeling pervades the atmosphere.

ILL-FATED AIR MEN PATCH UP BREAK AND GO

Private Car Provided by Canadian Railway Leaves Today for Toronto With Three U. S. Lieutenants Enroute to N. Y.

QUARREL OVER LETTER APPARENTLY SETTLED

Hinton's Account Written to Wife About Farrell's Alleged Loss of Nerve on Journey Precipitates Blows.

MATTICE, Ont., Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—United States Naval Lieutenants Farrell, Kloor and Hinton, prepared to depart late today for Toronto in a private car provided by the Canadian National railway. The dispute late yesterday culminating in blows between Farrell and Hinton over a letter Hinton wrote to his wife, apparently had been settled today.

Banquet Called Off. TORONTO, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—The Aero Club of Canada it is announced, called off the official banquet to the three American balloonists because of the incident at Mattice when Lieutenant Farrell knocked Lieutenant Hinton down.

Letter Brings Tangle. MATTICE, Jan. 12.—(U. P.)—With two members of the party not on speaking terms and with an official investigation of their in prospect, the three United States navy balloonists are scheduled to start for New York late today. Lieutenants Hinton and Farrell greeted each other only with scowls following Farrell's attack on Hinton late yesterday.

When informed that Hinton wrote his wife in New York that Farrell had weakened, had asked the others to kill him and offered his body for food, Farrell knocked Hinton down with a fight and left to the law. The episode occurred in a trapper's cabin after Farrell demanded an explanation from Hinton and none had been forthcoming.

Take Amis Farrell. Farrell, a mild mannered but burly man with a heavy face, grow red with anger as he heard the story after the arrival of the three in Mattice yesterday. "It's a lie," he shouted angrily. "I was the strongest member of the crew at all times and was in good enough condition to have turned the two boys upside down. There will be more to be said about this later."

Farrell sought Lieutenant Hinton and demanded that the latter withdraw the statements that he made in the letter sent to Mrs. Hinton from Moose Factory immediately after the men were rescued. Hinton tried to placate the angry man, urging him to say nothing to the reporters and to wait until the matter was officially investigated, but he did not offer to deny having made the statements charged to him nor did he offer to withdraw them.

Lieutenant Warned. Failing to get satisfaction from Lieutenant Hinton, Farrell insisted on justifying his conduct in an immediate detailed story to the correspondents gathered about. Hinton kept interrupting, trying at once to placate the angry man and to make him stop his narrative to the correspondents. Hinton had been to the telegraph office and kept reminding Farrell that they were under orders from Washington not to talk.

Lieutenant Farrell, however, was determined to answer what he seemed to believe were charges of weakness made against him in Hinton's letters, and he warned Hinton to keep away from him and stop interfering.

Farrell then returned to the kitchen for a cup of tea, continuing his narrative to the correspondents. Hinton hurried in and again tried to keep Farrell from telling his story. "Will you take back what you said in that letter and clear my name?" Farrell shouted.

Hinton hesitated and shrugged. The long strain of the adventure, combined with anger caused by what he took to be charges of weakness made by his comrades, snapped the bonds of restraint that had held Farrell up to that time. He rushed at Hinton and

FIRST PICTURE—RESCUE OF LOST BALLOONISTS.

The Daily East Oregonian publishes herewith, exclusively, the first photograph to reach the United States showing the rescue of the three U. S. navy balloonists who were lost for days in the frozen wilderness of northern Canada. This picture shows the arrival of the half-famished Americans at Moose Factory, a trading post, where they were met by J. L. Gandot of the Hudson Bay Company. Left to right are Gandot, Lieut. L. A. Kloor (commander of the balloon), Lieut. Walter Hinton and Lieut. Stephen A. Farrell. The balloonists left Rockaway, N. Y., at station on Dec. 12. A strong gale carried the big gas bag steadily northward. On Dec. 14 the airman decided to risk a landing and at 2 p. m.

they came down in the dense wilderness just south of James Bay (see map). For four days they wandered, half frozen and hungry, through the wild frozen country, eating various moss and finally killing two of their three carrier pigeons for food. Then, with death one day off, they chanced upon an Indian trapper, Tom Marks, who took them to his cabin, gave them food and then led them to Moose Factory. Below the map is a view of Moose Factory, showing also the desolate nature of the country. After a rest, the balloonists set out by dog sleds, such as that shown in the upper right picture, across the frozen trail leading to Mattice and Cochrane, railroad towns, shown on the map.

The arrival picture was taken by S. A. Bradbury, a clerk in the Hudson Bay Company's post at Moose Factory, who was present when the Indian trapper led the exhausted men in. Bradbury left Moose Factory, carrying the photograph, with the party of messengers that brought out the happy news of the rescue.
