which most of the K. P.'s took part and did exceptionally well. The program in part follows: Miss Gubdan Morrison sang a solo; Doris and Dena Lisenell, readings; Miss Wilma Boyer sang a solo entitled, "You can Never Get Another Mother." Hazel Angler delivered a comic reading in which each of the K. of P.'s figured; Ralph Wallen sang a solo, aided by Carl Christian, Guy Mayberry and Ray Larabee, who joined in the chorus. This number was the pleasant melody, "My Little Home on the Hill." A cornet solo by Bert Kirby with Mrs. Ewart McCollum accompanying on the piano followed. Mrs. Charles Bunch sang a solo entitled "Look Out for the Car." Carl Christian was elected Master and Chief of Police, Guy Mayberry, city violinist, Harry Larabee, a colored porter, Ralph Wallen, a colored tramp, who hid in a trunk and almost scared the colored porter to death as he was made to think the house was haunted. Roll Morrison played the Jew and with Francis Lisenell his son-in-law, he tried to sell his coat which he claimed was worth $250, for $25, and finally ended by selling it at $1.50. It was indeed a surprise to many to know that so much real talent existed in our community. After the show a fine banquet supper was spread on two long tables by the lodge men. The cooking was done exclusively by the women except for the potatoes which were cooked and mashed by the men.
