WESTON MOUNTAIN FOLK REPORT SOME ILLNESSES

(East Oregonian Special.)

WESTON MT., Jan. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Booher's little daughter Thelma has the chickenpox.

Henry Dowd left for Washtena, Wash., Tuesday after a two weeks visit on the mountain.

Mrs. Albert Gould has been quite sick for two weeks.

Mrs. Robert Hopkins and son Wayne returned home from Garfield, Wash. Sunday after several weeks visit with relatives.

Mrs. R. E. English went to Pendleton Tuesday and will visit a few days in Weston on her way home.

School was closed Monday on account of the teacher Mrs. Hyatt having the cold or lasiprize that is going the rounds.

Miss Marjorie Bowers has been quite sick with tonsillitis for two weeks. Little Virginia Bowers is now sick with the same trouble.

The vice president and treasurer of The Weston Mt. Telephone Co. are out on the line trying to locate where 17 and 18 are tied together. The telephone service is not of the best the last two weeks.

While gathering eggs in the barn Saturday, Eph Tucker had a gentle work horse kick him on the hand and break it. Mr. Tucker rested his hand on a pole and frightened the horse causing him to kick.

Some people were upon the mountain looking at the Price and Ferguson farms with a view of renting Friday.

CAPTAIN OF WRESTLERS AT CORVALLIS INJURED

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 21.—The announcement that Captain "Eli" Palmer is out of the wrestling game for the rest of the season cast gloom over the mat enthusiasts at O. A. C. This leaves no one to represent the college in the 125 pound class, and no one has turned out for this class. Unless a dark horse can be discovered, O. A. C. will have to forfeit the 125 pound belt in the coming matches. Palmer was injured last year, and has not recovered sufficiently.

The Aztecs have completed negotiations for a contest with the university of Washington for February 26 in Corvallis. The Mupltomah club matmen will form the first opponents of the season January 28. The University of Oregon will be met on the home floor February 5. A match with Washington State College will be held some time after the U. of W. contest.

For Coughs and Colds

"I want to say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in my family on occasion, without numbers, for coughs and colds and has given the best satisfaction of any cough medicine we ever tried," writes Mrs. C. Metzger, Greenville, Ill. "I will look a long while before you find a better remedy for coughs and colds or one that is more safe and pleasant to take."

Well Known in Foreign Countries

It will be a surprise to many to know that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is well known and highly esteemed in many foreign countries. Charles M. Cramer, a well known writer of Columbus, Colton, says of it: "I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds. I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial."

Tonight

If you would enjoy tomorrow, take Chamberlain's Tablets tonight. They produce an agreeable, laxative effect, clear the head and cleanse the stomach. They are just what you need when constipated.

No Doubt About It

There is no question but that Chamberlain's Tablets is one of the best preparations on the market for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. There is no better proof of this than when a man has once used them; he will consider nothing else when in need of such medicine.

ONE HALF OF JAPAN'S REVENUES GO TO NAVY

TOKYO, Jan. 21.—(By Henry W. Kinney, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—The great naval program which is now swelling up almost one-half of the Empire's revenues was begun some years ago, when naval construction was much cheaper and when Japan was still in sight of brilliant commercial and economic prospects.

Today the program is still in process of being carried out and no one thinks of seriously curbing it, as long as the great fleet proposed is considered necessary for the defense of the country, but enthusiasm on the part of the people in general was waning. The prosperity which fell to the lot of Japan during the war, until last March, have given way to hard times. Japan's great export trade is disappearing and with that her profits. Taxes are getting higher and the profits with which to pay them are dwindling. Every cent to be given the tax gatherer must be ground out of business which is often barely able to keep from bankruptcy.

The clamor of the prospective great fleet of warships has gone, and while the Japanese people will continue to bear the burden involved, they are looking upon proposals for disarmament with an interest such as could not have been imagined a few years ago.

It is very plain that in preparing her naval armament, Japan is frankly sharpening a weapon against the United States. The time has gone, however, when she is expected to be reckoned as a formidable aggressor—America's performance during the war put an end to that dream—but she expects to be in a position to strike back and the profits with which to maintain, under all circumstances, communication with the outside world which is vital to her, as she depends on imports for much of her food and raw materials, and, like in the case of England, a fleet which could blockade her, would have her at her mercy, even though never a hostile foot be landed on Japanese soil.

Considering the special interest thus taken in America, and particularly in American naval armaments, the proposition of U. S. Senator Borah for restriction of armaments had led to widespread comment.

"We do not know how Senator Borah's proposal for the restriction of armaments in Great Britain, America and Japan will fare in the Senate," says the Jiji, one of the most influential dailies of Tokyo, "but in view of the fact that if a naval race is started it may undermine the fabric of the world's peace, we most earnestly hope his proposal, no matter if it is actuated by local political considerations, will obtain the support of the Senate and have the effect of commanding public opinion."

While sentiment generally seems to favor reduction of armaments, as long as this may be attained without safety, these are now entirely without opposition. Nichi Nichi, one of Tokyo's responsible dailies, says: "If circumstances permit, Japan is desirous of carrying out disarmament, but this is not permitted by her geographical position and by international relations. From this point of view, the naval policy of America may be regarded as having an important bearing on Japan, but it goes without saying that our naval policy cannot be swayed by America's policy. Whatever the attitude of America, Japan should extend her navy in so far as this is necessary to protect her from any menace and to insure the safety of her national existence."

SENATE COMMITTEE WILL HEAR PALMER PLAINT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Insistence of attorney General Palmer that a sweeping congressional investigation be made of charges that department of justice agents in rounding up alleged radicals last winter were abusive and disregarded the legal rights of accused, brought assurance today from a senate judiciary sub-committee that it would hear first hand, both the agents who supervised the raids and their critics.

The attorney general appeared before the sub-committee which was considering the advisability of granting amnesty to persons convicted of violating the espionage act and other war time laws. Mr. Palmer said that an amnesty proclamation would not effect an immediate and wholesale release of persons confined in prison for violations of wartime statutes, because each would have to be gone into on its merits.

Mr. Palmer discussed the charges made against his department by the national popular government league. These charges were drawn up, he declared, by attorneys, many of whom were counsel for persons arrested for deportation on charges of being alien radicals. He asked that an effort be made to ascertain the facts. "I have nothing to go on but the reports of department of justice agents, carefully selected men," said Mr. Palmer. "Naturally I believe them."

FINANCE EUROPE IS ADVICE FROM HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(U. P.)—The only solution of the present economic depression in the United States and throughout the world is an extension of credit to the starving countries of Europe, Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, told the House agricultural committee. Hoover launched forth unexpectedly into a discussion of the world food and economic situation, a subject with which he is most familiar, at the end of his testimony before the committee, which sought his opinion on pending legislation to prevent manipulation in hedging in grain transactions.

"In the United States," said Hoover, "we have a vast surplus of food and raw materials which we are unable to market. In Europe, the people are living under the lowest standards of generations." Hoover said the trouble lies in the fact there is under-consumption in a large area of the world and not because of any over-production. This he laid to various causes, political and social, but mainly economic, and the dominant factor is the inability of Europe to secure materials and establish credits. "If we could devise some system of credits, and set it in motion, there would be ample markets for our productions," he continued. "In time those peoples could recuperate and repay their debts." He said before Germany could be put on the road to recovery, her indemnity must be definitely settled and later she could be afforded credits.

FROM TACOMA BELL HOP TO SUPERIOR JUDGSHIP

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 21.—(U. P.)—From bell hop and pawnbroker's clerk to a judgeship on the superior court bench is the road traveled by Judge William D. Askren, who has just assumed his new official duties.

Eighteen years ago, Askren was answering to "front" at the Tacoma hotel here, shining shoes, running errands, etc. Later, study at night school to make up early educational deficiencies, led to his passing the bar, becoming a deputy prosecuting attorney in 1912 and, in 1918, prosecuting attorney.

Askren's term as county attorney was one sensation after another, the culmination coming in the almost successful attempt on his life last May when he was shot by Phila. Smith, whom he had convicted in local courts.

STANFIELD WILL HAVE $60,000 HIGH SCHOOL

(East Oregonian Special.)

DRAGON CHEWS UP MOON AND THEN SPITS IT OUT

CALCUTTA, Jan. 21.—(A. P.)—The moon's release from the jaws of a mythical demon was anxiously watched and prayed for by thousands of people throughout India during a recent eclipse which was visible here. Hindus regard an eclipse as the act of a demon called Rahu, who is believed to swallow the moon and then spit it out.

On the Howrah bridge across the Hooghly river, dense crowds waited for the first glimpse of the red moon, then with one voice cried out: "Jaka Chhordi! Chhordi!" ("let it go, leave it.") Before dusk, the river was thronged with bathers, as bathing during an eclipse is considered a soul-saving act.

Beggars swarmed through the city, and as it is a virtue to give freely on these occasions, they collected plenty of small coins.

MEAT KING COMPELLED TO DRAW ON RESERVES

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Only by drawing on reserves accumulated by their foreign connections were Armour & Co. enabled to show a net profit as a result of their 1920 operations, according to the annual report of J. Ogden Armour, president, which he presented today to the stockholders.

The statement disclosed that while the company's total sales approximated $86,000,000 for the year, that portion of it which represented sales in and exports from this country resulted in losses aggregating many millions of dollars. In view of these losses, Armour & Co. found it necessary to draw upon the reserves of their foreign connections to show a net profit of $5,319,978.44, which represented but 2.4 per cent on the average net capital investment of $231,000,000.
