BRITISH LABOR DEMANDS IMMEDIATE GOVERNMENT REMEDY FOR ITS PLIGHT

Declare if They Can Not Achieve Program by Constitutional Means They Will Adopt Extra-Constitutional Lever.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(A. P.)—British organized labor at the national conference of the labor party and the trades union congress today demanded immediate action by the government to remedy the plight brought about by unemployment, endorsed a policy which its authors assert will remove the cause of industrial depression and adjourned until February 23 to give labor members of parliament opportunity to press for the desired action. "If we cannot achieve what this program suggests by constitutional means, we will adopt some means of an extra-constitutional character," declared Robert Williams, leader of the transport workers, supporting the resolution.

Momentous or Futile.
The conference was characterized by the Daily Herald labor organ as "either the most momentous or the most futile in labor's history."
General dissatisfaction with the government's proposed remedies was reflected by the delegates. When Mr. Williams and other speakers brandished the general strike weapon as one the workers would eventually have to resort to, there was applause. But when the railway men's leader, J. H. Thomas, counseled moderation, there was also applause. The conference adopted a joint resolution urging that all the resources of the nation must be concentrated on affording security against destitution. It declared the government's foremost obligation is to find productive work at standard rates for every willing worker.

Labor's Proposals.
The labor proposals are for trade with Russia; restoration of trade with other continental countries; cessation of wars; stabilization of international exchange rates; an extension of credit organization of a European transport system; cessation of the military opposition and lawless reprisals in Ireland; strict maintenance of an unemployment benefit; a 40-hour week; drastic regulations of overtime; the undertaking of necessary public works, including the development of roads, railways and waterways, the withdrawal and restitution of juvenile labor, raising school leaving age, government training schools for women and unemployed male workers, a guaranteed minimum housing program for five years with safeguards against unemployment to business trades unions, the removal of government restrictions on the expansion of building guilds, and the control of building material.

FORDNEY TARIFF BILL DISCUSSION STILL CONTINUES IN SENATE

McCumber Charges That the Senators Discuss Everything From Negroes to Battleships and Are Still Far Afield.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(A. P.)—The Fordney emergency tariff bill today was discussed only in a speech by Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, and in a brief debate on sugar items. Speeches were so far afield ones that Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, declared the senators had discussed "everything from negroes to battleships."

The tariff debate, however, was not without pointed argument. Senator Simmons' speech was directed at what he termed the inequalities of the proposed legislation. He charged congress would be exceeding its power in enacting such legislation. He also took Senator McCumber to task for his attitude on wheat protection. He argued that Mr. McCumber was supporting legislation which not only would increase the prices of bread and cereals but would place the United States in a position to suffer retaliation from Canada.

Denies Canada Prices Less.
McCumber that Canadian prices were lower than those in the United States. Mr. Simmons quoted official statistics to show that prices had varied little between Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Senator King, democrat, Utah, asked whether it would not be proper for the government to "take care of the unemployed with a pension if it were going to take care of the wheat farmer and the Louisiana sugar grower."

After further debate Senator Penrose followed yesterday's tactics in asking a recess, keeping the bill before the senate. Previous to the recess, Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, introduced an amendment to afford protection of two cents a pound on sunflower seed and 20 cents a gallon on sunflower seed oil.

SWEDEN-BRITISH FERRY SERVICE, PLAN

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(A. P.)—A plan for linking up Sweden with England by means of a train ferry to cost 16,500,000 pounds is being considered by business men of the two nations.

The scheme aims at the establishment of a daily service by at least six 12,000-ton ships of 18 knots speed, each capable of carrying 30 railroad cars. As the gauges of the British and Swedish railroads are the same, rapidity of transportation would be assured.

The Swedish government is understood to be willing to guarantee a 10 percent return over a given number of years, if Britain will guarantee the cost necessary for the initial outlay.

The route suggested runs from Hull to Gothenburg and there is also a suggestion of an extension across the Baltic, so as to provide direct communication between Hull and Petrograd.

RECORD BREAKING AUTO GOES TO LOS ANGELES

After an overnight stay in Pendleton, the record-breaking Buick coupe which was piloted from San Francisco to Portland recently in 23 hours and 16 minutes, left yesterday afternoon for The Dalles, en route to Portland. The car arrived here Wednesday afternoon, six hours from The Dalles, and nine and one half hours from Portland, elapsed time.

Roads from The Dalles to Pendleton were not in good shape, Charles Thirkill, of Portland, said. The car got on the new Columbia River highway grade at Millers' bridge, on the east bank of the Deschutes, and followed the new road all the way to Pendleton. This mistake cost some time as there were three detours necessary. After leaving Arlington the car made Pendleton in two and half hours.

R. E. Skinner, of San Francisco, who was one of the crew that drove the car from the Bay City north, accompanied Mr. Thirkill here.

In six weeks surfacing of the highway between Miller and Arlington will be completed, the engineer in charge of the work told Mr. Thirkill. The grade is completed now but is rough and muddy. Out of The Dalles to the Deschutes river the road now is in bad condition, the seven mile hill beds especially difficult of negotiation.

While here the speedy coupe was examined by a large number of persons interested in the auto game. It showed no ill effects from its hard overland trips.
