GALLANT OLD SEA DOG FOOLS AN ENVOYMENT

One of the dramatic scenes in "The Inferior Sex," a picture starring Mildred Harris Chaplin and which will be shown at the Arcade theatre, today, is that which takes place on a yacht. The young married woman, whose husband has shown great indifference to her has been wooed by a wealthy citizen and finally has decided to elope with him. She goes to meet him aboard his yacht. But there she is followed by her sister-in-law who explains the situation to the captain. The gallant old sea dog turns on his master and tells him that by the laws of sea he is in command of the yacht and that he will not sail, placing his own position in jeopardy rather than be a party to a scandal and the wrecking of a home. There is a sharp clash between the captain and the owner, but the captain wins out and the elopement for the time being, at least, is foiled.

PICKFORD DEBATES LAWS

Mary Pickford is debating all the laws of film limitations. It is said, in her forthcoming production "Suds" which will be seen at the Alta theatre today. Heretofore it has been the tradition that no film star shall be seen by the public in anything but her best and with her most beautiful and angelic expressions, but in her second United Artists production Mary Pickford sets these traditions at naught by appearing in a majority of the scenes at her very worst. With her curls slicked back, smudged nose, worn shoes and ragged clothes she swamps through this wonderful comedy-drama. Investigation shows that a story of the type of "Suds" has never been attempted by any other screen favorite.

and that the leading film idol should attempt such a thing so soon after her production of "Polyanna" not only shows her wonderful ability as an artist, but also shows her desire to please and entertain her millions of admirers.

CHICAGO TO HAVE NEW JOURNALISM SCHOOL

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The Joseph Medill School of Journalism will open here February 7, to be maintained in connection with Northwestern University through the co-operation of the Tribune.

Chicago scribers were offered the part-time four year course. It is the intention of heads of the school to arrange hours so that persons on afternoon or morning paper can attend.

Evening students or beginners in journalism, who have finished two years of liberal arts, will be given the full time course of two years.

There are to be three courses of instruction. They follow:

1. Familiarizing the student with present day social, economic and political problems and the general field of literature.
2. Will develop his power of clear and effective expression.
3. Will provide training in the technique and practice of modern journalism.

BERLIN SEEKS BEST MAN FOR U. S. ENVOY

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—(By Carl D. Groat, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Business man, economist or slud handler?

German authorities mullied over these three classes today in considering possibilities for the next German ambassador to the United States. High hopes were expressed that peace between the two nations will be declared shortly after the new American administration begins to function. Germany wants to be ready for an appointment so that relations may be resumed as soon as possible.

Nations previously resuming ordinary relations with Germany have received business men as ambassadors from the former empire. Berlin has drawn heavily on the big concerns at Bremen and Hamburg for her representatives. One of the most commonly mentioned names in connection with the Washington appointment is that of Director General Henneken of the North German Lloyd Co.

Henneken resigned from the company to prepare for the appointment, but later asked that his name not be considered. Later, the foreign office sought to induce him to reconsider. The success of some German professors in bringing about good feeling in other countries has led to the suggestion of several names. The men talked of most frequently are known to have had pacifist views and to have had no connection with the old regime.

A wealthy man probably will be named when the time comes. The pay under the present conditions is exceedingly small and the appointee must accept a portion of his remuneration as the glory accruing to the office.

The American who comes here as ambassador will find conditions far different from those surrounding James W. Gerard, the last head of the embassy here. There is no brilliant court life now. In fact the social side will be almost entirely missing. President Ebert entertains occasionally, but in a very simple way with none of the lavish decorations and exotic dishes which marked the Kaiser's banquets. Among the diplomats there also is lacking the customary social life of a European capital. Most of the men are swamped with work.

The American representative will be especially busy. The American mission has been conducting many investigations and compiling data. However, when the ambassador arrives he will find many problems confronting him and requiring business ability and diplomatic skill.

SOUTHERN WOMEN WILL DISCUSS THE BALLOT

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 2.—(U. P.)—The new woman citizens of the south, led by Mrs. Julian B. Sulley, director of the third region of the National League of Women's Voters, will meet here February 3 for a get-together meeting.

Special emphasis on the education and training of the new voters in the intelligent and conscientious use of the ballot will be made by speakers. Mrs. George Gellhorn, St. Louis, vice chairman of the national league, will deal particularly with this subject. She has had charge of the citizenship work throughout the country during the past year.

The National Board of Directors of the league are expected to attend the meetings, which will last two days, in a body.

The conference is the last regional meeting to be held before the national convention in Cleveland, O., April 11-12.

States comprising the third region with their state chairmen are: Alabama, Mrs. A. J. Bourton, Birmingham; Florida, Mrs. Edgar Lewis, Elders; Georgia, Mrs. Anne G. Wright, Augusta; South Carolina, Mrs. P. F. Munsell, Charleston; Louisiana, Mrs. Lydia Wickliffe, Haines; New Orleans; Mississippi, Mrs. Blanche Rogers, New Albany; North Carolina, Mrs. Gertrude Weil, Goldsboro; Tennessee, Mrs. George Fort Milton, Chattanooga; Virginia, Mrs. Edith Clark Cowles, Richmond.

JAZZ DEAD IN LONDON, FOX-TROT STANDARDIZED

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The "jazz" is dead in London, says P. J. S. Richardson, one of the foremost English authorities on dancing. He declares that no "new" dances will be popularized this year, but the fox-trot, one-step and tango, which have held international interest for two or three seasons, will be standardized.

"Previously those taught the same dances by different teachers found themselves hopelessly at sea when they tried to dance together," he said. Through standardization on which the majority of dancing instructors in London have now engaged, a common framework in the steps will be insured without eliminating all chance of introducing individual variations. Freakish and eccentric "light gymnastic" such as exaggerated form of "jazz" are rapidly passing out.

in the characterization of a little cockney laundry drudge "SUDS" builds the loveliest dream castles out of soap suds.

It is one of the rare productions that goes straight to the heart and awakens all sorts of human sympathy—strong and moving—and with that measure of humor and pathos that is inseparable from its realism.

HOPS PAY FARMER MUCH MORE THAN CORN CROP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(A. P.)—Corn, king of crops, produced an average of only $29.93 an acre to farmers based on December 1 farm prices while hops produced $48.10 an acre, according to averages for the country as a whole issued by the Department of Agriculture. The value per acre of hops in 1919 was $374.75, while corn's average value per acre was $28.49. With the exception of rye, cranberries, soy beans and sorghum strip the average value per acre last year showed heavy reductions from 1919 because of the declines in prices.

While variation is shown in the value per acre of the various crops while the averages for different states show a broad range for each crop. The average farm value per acre of the important farm crops as estimated by the Department of Agriculture for last year and for 1919 follows:
