

Social and Club News

With the opening of the Lenten season on Wednesday, social activities in Pendleton will be limited to informal affairs, church societies, lectures, and club activities. It is expected that Valentine's Day, February 14 and Washington's birthday, February 22, each will claim a share of informal festivities.

As the last formal affairs before the opening of Lent, Mrs. Herbert Thompson and Mrs. James Thompson are entertaining today with a bridge luncheon at the home of Mrs. Herbert Thompson. This will be followed by a similar party tomorrow.

For tomorrow night is scheduled the fourth in a series of informal dances to be given by the members of the Elks lodge in honor of their ladies. As the last of the series before Lent, the affair promises to be one of the largest given by the club during the winter social season.

The Pendleton Women's Club is sponsoring a lecture, "Yesterday and Today in the Philippines," which will be given next Saturday evening at 7:30 in the library auditorium by Miss Jessie Rywer, who is a noted lecturer. Her story of the Philippines is said to be of decided interest.

Club women of the city are already making plans for the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in annual convention in Pendleton sometime during the latter part of May. Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, will be present. Mrs. Winter has traveled from Maine to Texas on her present itinerary and has already visited seventeen states, delivered twenty-five addresses and has held unnumerable conferences.

AVENUE ARE WELCOMED.
Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Averill, who have returned from Spokane to make their home in Pendleton, are being welcomed by their many friends. Both are popular in church and social circles and Mrs. Averill is a talented musician.

DELPHIAN CLUB MEETS.

For the second of a series of programs having the Middle Ages as the central theme, members of the Delphian Club met Saturday in the library club room with Mrs. Fred Leuallen as hostess. "St. Francis and the Franciscan Orders" was the title for a comprehensive paper read by Mrs. L. L. Rogers, who traced the work of the Franciscans from the date of their origination down to the present day.

Mrs. J. MacMaster read a paper which vividly depicted the travels of Marco Polo, while "Early Fiction" formed the topic for an excellent paper by Mrs. G. M. Rice. Mrs. Alger Fee's paper on Greek fiction was graphic, and was followed by a review of "Beowulf," read in a pleasing manner by Mrs. L. M. Spalding. Two charming solos, "The Link Divine," by Plectrolin, and "Vannah's Cradle Song," were sung by Mrs. Wayne Eddy with Mrs. David Hill at the piano. Two little girls, Barbara Leuallen and Vivian Warner, played a piano duet. During the social hour, Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. B. M. Huntley presided at a table prettily decked with a basket of spring flowers in pastel tints. Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. L. C. Scharpf and Mrs. Alger Fee.

PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED.

Paramount in the activities of the Thursday Afternoon Club are preparations for the presentation of two plays April 28, with the entire personnel of the club as members of the casts. The plays, which are of the Irish type, are "The Well of the Saints," by J. M. Synge, and "Spreading the News," by Lady Gregory, and they will be presented at the State Hospital theatre. Mrs. Wilson D. McNary in charge of the direction and the first reading of the plays will take place tonight. Mrs. F. E. Boyden and Mrs. Willard Bond are hostesses for the club meeting of April 28, the day upon which the plays will be given and both are assisting Mrs. McNary.

As the first evidence in Pendleton of the "Little Theatre" movement, the plays promise to be of unusual interest. The club has been studying British and Irish authors and the two Irish plays are in accord with the program.

PROGRAM IS PLANNED.

A Lincoln's birthday program is planned by the members of the Riverside Needlecraft club for February 12, the birthday of the great American. Musical numbers and readings will form the entertainment and a quilt and cooked food will be sold at auction, the proceeds to be devoted to the activities of the club. Refreshments will be served and no admission fee will be asked. Plans for the program were made yesterday at a meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. James R. Porter.

ENTERTAIN WITH PARTY.

Mrs. Nancy Despain and Mrs. Henry Zander entertained on Thursday from 3 to 5 o'clock in the Malcolm apartments, honoring Mrs. Charles Carter Berkeley of Hay Creek, Ore. Tulips and daffodils gave the rooms a springlike appearance. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Cecil Parsons, Miss Jane Blair, Miss Sue Feith, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Miss Marian Myers, Mrs. George Hartman, Mrs. Franklin Jost of San Francisco and Miss Fagan.—Oregonian.

BIRTHDAY IS HONORED.

In celebration of the seventh birthday anniversary party of Billy Clarke, Mrs. W. J. Clarke entertained twenty-nine boys and girls Saturday afternoon at the Clarke home on Jackson street. Little Miss Marion Moorhouse won the girl's prize in an amusing game and Homer Welch carried off the honors for the young gentlemen. Other games made the afternoon pass merrily, after which the youngsters took their places in a grand march and to the strains of piano music played by Miss Mary Clarke, entered the dining room, where scarlet hearts and valentines decked the table. A huge red heart in the form of a Jack Horner pie was found to contain delightful plums in the form of toy guns for the boys and dolls for the girls. A dainty red cap formed still another favor which was presented to each little guest.
