Mr. Hayes said that the company will take immediate steps to pass ordinances accepting the north side paving work so that the company may get its money. There is $40,000 or more tied up here in bonds which the company is anxious to use, Mr. Loneragan said. Action was promised at the next meeting.

Mr. Loneragan also asked, on behalf of the Warren Construction Co., of which he is agent here, that the city take immediate steps to pass ordinances accepting the north side paving work so that the company may get its money. There is $40,000 or more tied up here in bonds which the company is anxious to use, Mr. Loneragan said. Action was promised at the next meeting.

Mr. Hayes said that the rough spots would be repaired where they were found. Mr. Hayes said that the company laid even square foot on Garfield street thicker than the specifications called for.

The report for January of the city treasurer showed that the city is "in the red ink" on the general fund.

Operating expenses for 1920 showed a deficit of about $2000, which included the purchase of a street flushing auto at a cost exceeding $7000.

The condition of the general fund was responsible for a motion authorizing the finance committee to call in a loan of $5000 made to the city water com-mision two years ago. The commission, it was declared, is now empowered to issue script up to $25,000 and can afford to pay the city its $5000 so that some of its overdrafts against the general fund may be met.

The grade of Tustin street, between Taith and Jane, will cost $4500, the city engineer reported. In submitting a profile and estimates for the improvement. Two grades were worked out, one following the street line and the other the contour. The present grade is 21 per cent, the re-grade will give about 14 per cent and the contour plan about 12 per cent.

Septic Tank Revived

Sewage disposal, which has been among Pendleton's problems for the past decade, was reincarnated as a live issue last night by C. K. Cranston, commercial association secretary, who appeared to protest against the disposal of raw sewage through the Umatilla river.

Mr. Cranston also pictured the terrible conditions surrounding the city dumping ground, where he declared, rate breed by thousands and a stench created that with the west winds makes life in the west end of Pendleton most unpleasant.

Mr. Cranston's pointed suggestions revived talk of Pendleton's need for a specific tank for sewage disposal.

This plan was in formation two or more years ago but when it was found that the cost would be $25,000, it was dropped. Mayor Hartman admitted that the matter was one of paramount importance and asked the sewer committee to revive plans for action.

An extension of the Tustin street sewer to do away with backwater from Tutuilla creek, was suggested by Mr.

Hayes. It would cost not to exceed $250, he said. The mayor also referred to this to the sewer committee for a report, with the suggestion that the $250 be spared, if possible.

With the rejection of the bond bids was an order on the city recorder to return to the bidders their certified checks. The recorder was also instructed to have the bonds printed as of March 1.

Charter to Be Published

Publication of the city charter and amendments will soon be required.

City Attorney Harold J. Warner said,

He brought up the matter of calling for bids for the work but decided, after discussion, to have the entire copy in shape before calling for bids.

Upon recommendation of the street committee the bid of the Van Patten

Lumber Co. for lumber for the Leo

Street Bridge, was ordered accepted.

The city attorney read a communication from the secretary of state advising that city owned vehicles must produce licenses and their operators have operators' licenses.

The annual report of Thomas Fitz

Gerald, recorder and police judge, was read and filed.
