Wheat Growers Will Meet
Umatilla county farmers are evincing interest in a wheat growers meeting to be held at the county library Thursday at 1:30 p. m. for discussion of the Oregon State Wheat Growers Association. George C. Jewett, manager of the Washington Wheat Growers Association, will speak and will explain the system used in Washington. No attempt will be made to secure the endorsement of the Umatilla County Farm Bureau, the purpose of the meeting being simply to bring the plan before the farmers. If sentiment at the meeting justifies such a move, the Oregon association will arrange for a meeting to be held here under its auspices.

Sugar Up Liable to Rise More
Sugar prices went up 75 cents per hundred to the merchants here on Monday and they were advised that another rise of $1.20 per hundred is in store. Until the notice came of the rise, local merchants were selling sugar by the sack at from $9.50 to $10 and in smaller quantities proportionately higher.

School Board Meeting Is Routine
The monthly meeting of the Pendleton school board, held in the office of the clerk last night, was purely routine. Discussion of the part which the board shall play in the development of community activities and in other new enterprises in Pendleton was had but there was no definite action voted on any matters discussed.

Book for Hotel Ready Soon
Proof of a booklet which will be placed in all the rooms of the Pendleton Hotel was received today by C. K. Cranston, secretary of the Pendleton Commercial Association, for revision. The book contains a story of Pendleton and its resources, as well as considerable information about Umatilla county. Advertising and reading matter that will make up a very attractive booklet will be combined in the volume, Mr. Cranston says.

Railroad Employees to Meet
A score of employees of the O. W. R. & N. Co., will meet in the assembly room of the Pendleton Commercial Association at 1:30 o'clock next Friday afternoon to discuss ways and means of giving better service and saving damage to freight in transit over the company's lines. The meeting will be the first of its kind held here. Previous sessions having been held monthly in La Grande. Hereafter the company plans to hold such meetings in the important towns along the system between Huntington and Portland.

Change of Grade Being Profited
Profiles of the proposed change of grade on Thompson street from south of the railroad to High street have been completed by Frank B. Hayes, city engineer, and will be presented to the city council at the weekly meeting tomorrow night for consideration. The street is soon to be paved but the grade must first be established by vote of the council. Mr. Hayes says that by March 1 Thompson street and several other streets in the city should be let to contract for paving. There are a number of streets upon which everything but the bids have been completed. Paving was suspended during the month of January.

Wheat Land Washing Unusual
Veteran wheat growers declare that never in their memory has wheat land washed so badly from merely rains as during this winter. Without a really serious cold spell thus far, wheat fields have washed as deep this month as during the worst thaws. The condition is due to the super-saturation of the ground from continual rains since last August. There is no finding bottom in some of the wheat fields at this time, the growers say. The condition of the growing crop is excellent, however, where it has not been washed out of the ground.

Legion Will Stage Another Card
Pendleton Post, American Legion, will stage another boxing card for the edification of the fight fans of Pendleton, about the middle of March. Lyman G. Rice, a member of the post boxing committee, said today. Jack Dolph, matchmaker for the three cards which have been staged by the post since its inception, will again be entrusted with the corraling of material. The last card, staged in the Oregon theatre 10 days ago, whetted the appetites of the fight fans here and the legion is planning the next card to satisfy that craving. Some high class material is in store for the March number.

X-Club Will Have Banquet
Plans for a banquet by the newly organized X-Club, to be given at 6:30 o'clock on Feb. 22, Washington's birthday, are being formulated by a committee consisting of Henry J. Taylor, former councilman; John L. Vaughan, ex-mayor; and J. W. Maloney, former county judge. Judge James A. Fee, president of the organization, will act as a toastmaster. The committee expects five addresses to be given and the names of the speakers and their topics will be announced later. The club now has close to 50 members enrolled and most of these are expected to be present at the banquet. It will be served in the dining room of the Elks Temple.

Rev. Clark Returns.
Rev. George L. Clark, pastor of the Presbyterian church, returned this morning on No. 24 from Corvallis, where he attended a convention of Christian Endeavor societies in the region west of the Cascades. Eight hundred delegates were present and $3600 was raised for state work. This in addition to the $400 raised at the Eastern Oregon convention recently held in La Grande, will be used throughout the state. It was decided to do away with the twin conventions next year and to hold one large convention. The Dalles and Selma were tentatively mentioned as a location. "Fellowship" was the topic and the speakers were Rev. Clark, Sam Higginbotham, agricultural missionary in India, and Paul Brown, national worker, of Los Angeles. Roy Robinson of Portland was elected state C. E. president to succeed Miss Payne Steinmetz who has filled the position for the past two years.

Rain and Snow .10 Inch.
The fall of rain and snow in the past 24 hours totaled .10 of an inch, Major Lee Moorhouse, official weather observer, today reported. There was but a 10 degree variation in temperature, the maximum being 48 and the minimum 30. The barometer is well up, with 29.82 the figure.

THREE PORTLAND YOUTHS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—Three 10-year old Portland youths narrowly escaped drowning Saturday when their canoe overturned on Crystal Springs lake near the Reed college campus. Floyd Woodings, Reed sophomore from Washougal, Wash., attracted by frantic cries of "Help! Help! Mamma!" saw the youngsters' plight, and plunging into the icy water, swam rapidly toward the walling canoeists who were clinging desperately to their ill-starred craft.

"Save me first, mister," one of the youths cried and Woodings approached.

"I'll save you last, you little devil," Woodings replied as he ordered the youths to hold tight while he pushed the canoe and its embarrassed crew in to shore.

The chilled and thoroughly frightened youths were soon drying themselves in the Reed dormitory and incidentally wondering just what "dad" would have to say.

ARREST OF NAVY MAN CONNECTED WITH PLOT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(A. P.) An enlisted man of the navy was arrested at the navy yard here in connection with an alleged plot to blow up the presidential yacht, the Mayflower. The secret service is proceeding on the theory that a plea may have been extended to the shops and to other vessels at the navy yard. The man under arrest is said to have offered the officer a bribe to be permitted to put a package aboard the Mayflower.

The man under arrest was a member of the Mayflower crew. He is said to have avoided boatswain that he was given watch at a certain hour of the night as he expected a package to be brought aboard. He pleaded that it would be worth a large sum of money to him. The boatswain suspected the man wanted to bring the bomb aboard and had him imprisoned.

The man now imprisoned is discovered to have made an appointment in the park with another man, apparently to secure the "package." Naval authorities went to the park instead, but the other man did not appear. They found a note, however, directing the sailor to meet him the following night. Daniels intimated to officers of the Mayflower that he had reason to suspect the enlisted man of sinister purpose.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL. PLAYER DIES OF INJURIES

CONWAY, Ark., Feb. 15.—(A. P.)—Troy Shumate, 19, a member of a high school basketball team, died today from internal injuries received Saturday during a game.

QUESTION OF PAID WORKER

These plans, beside being considered with the councilmen, will be taken up tomorrow evening by the Community Council of 25, in a meeting in the library room. All members have been asked to attend.

The athletic committee of the American Legion, under Chairman Leslie Gibbs, last night considered the matter of reopening the athletic club gymnasium. The members present expressed a preference for getting behind the boys' club establishment at this time and letting the athletic club matter rest for the time being.

Another angle of Community Service to swing into action is that of music. Mrs. S. H. Forshaw, chairman of music, will meet members of the music committee tonight in the county library to lay preliminary plans for activity.
