They are the best services ever held in the Baptist church of Pendleton, declares the local pastor.

BURNED HOLES IN HIS COAT LEAD TO ARREST

Failure to observe two or three small holes burned in the back of his overcoat resulted in a trip to Arlington for Jack Pullman. He left last evening in company with Chief of Police Swenson of the goose town. It seems that someone visited one of the sheep camps of Smythe Brothers near Arlington recently. No one was home so the visitor helped himself to a long overcoat, a short leather coat, a pair of high buckle work overboots and a Stetson hat. A description of the missing articles was sent to the local officers. Among other things some holes in the back of the overcoat were mentioned.

Yesterday while Officer Sheer was making his regular rounds he discovered Jack Pullman wearing everything but the hat and the leather coat. The hat was found in an inside pocket but the coat is still missing. Before leaving for Arlington, Pullman is said to have admitted the theft of everything but the leather coat. Chief of Police Roberts believes this coat was sold at Rieth or some other station between here and Arlington where the man may have stopped.

PROHIBITION NOT FAVORED ON SHIPS ON WESTERN COAST

Vice President of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce Hands a Wallop to Prohibition at Meeting of U. S. Shipping Board.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(U. P.)—Another wallop at prohibition as a destroyer of the American passenger ship "business" was dealt by R. F. Blaine, vice-president of the Seattle chamber of commerce. "Passengers will not travel on ships which have only soft drinks, prayer books and hymnals in the salons," he told the United States shipping board. "I am not a drinking man, but I would not undertake a long voyage on high seas on a dry ship," he shuddered. Representatives of all the Pacific coast ports appeared before the shipping board at today's hearing, each port urging its claims for increased ship allocations and trade routes under the revision of the Pacific service which is contemplated by the board.

Blaine added both the Japanese and Canadian lines are preparing to put new ships in the Pacific service which will be faster and finer than any American ships. He described the Pacific shipping situation in terms of a big poker game, in which he said the United States cannot "get anywhere" by merely "calling" Japan and Canada. "We must raise them," he insisted. "We must have more ships at Seattle to match the Japanese and Canadian services from the northwest."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Day Celebrated With Assembly and Half Holiday—Washington's birthday was celebrated at the high school this morning with an assembly program in the great American's honor. The main speaker of the morning was Judge Stephen A. Lowell, who told the students in his address why the nation is observing this day. He also told what Washington typifies and how the young men and women of today can model themselves after his principles. Byron Warner preceded Mr. Lowell with a brief sketch of Washington as a man. The high school orchestra played several selections. The complete program was as follows:

- America—Audience
 - Selection—Orchestra
 - "Washington the Man"—Byron Warner
 - Selection—Orchestra
 - Address—Judge S. A. Lowell
 - Selection—Orchestra
- The program ended with the announcement that there would be no more classes for the remainder of the day. Many parents and visitors were present.

WORK ON NEW WING

will be required for the construction work, that being the length of time required for the construction work, that being the length of time required for building the last wing. The institution now has a population of 540 and is crowded to capacity. At Salem the insane hospital has approximately 1800 patients and is considered as having reached its limit of expansion. Accordingly the plan of the state board is to enlarge the Pendleton hospital with a view to relieving the congestion at Salem. By the time the new wing here is completed there will be demand for all the new room available and it may soon be necessary to ask for further enlargement. A feature of the situation that makes it advisable to enlarge the local hospital is that the per capita maintenance cost may be reduced by such a policy. It is said 100 patients may be cared for by the same overhead expense now borne. However regardless of the comparatively small population at the Eastern Oregon hospital the per capita living cost there was the lowest of any state institution during the last two years.

ANCIENT AND MODERN

Gold in Connection.
The only gold coin in the collection is a tiny English coin smaller than the American dime. Its date is uncertain.

Among the Italian coins are one bearing the name of Garibaldi and dated 1807. Belgian money, dated 1862, bears the likeness of Leopold, the first king of the Belgians. A likeness of Paul Kruger appears on a coin of recent date used in the Congo, South Africa. Uruguay money of silver and copper is dated 1869, and Argentine money 1899.

George Washington used coins similar to those bearing the date of 1817, and the stamp of George III, shown in the collection. The coins are silver and resemble a half dollar.

Resemble U. S. Coins

Helvetian two franc coins resemble U. S. coins. They have a value of two francs and are dated 1873. Russian pennies, German "Kreuzers" dated 1886; Canadian and Chinese money of recent date; Ceylon five and 10 cent pieces, dated 1879; Guernsey money of 1830 and Jersey money of 1877, Mexican money of 1862; Austrian two eagle pieces and Spanish coppers dated 1811 are interesting features of the collection.

Of the old United States coins, there are pieces bearing the date of 1786, 1825, 1832, 1854 and 1862.

Many Various Kinds

Money from Chile and Panama is shown, as well as Indian money with a scalloped edge and having the rupee or anna value. Jamaican coins are of recent date, as are the Australian.

Especially interesting pieces are shillings from the time of Charles II, showing how the kind reduced the original shilling, about the size of the U. S. half dollar, to a small coin having the same value. This was done to increase the amount of money.

The collection owned by Mr. Gibbs contains the smallest piece of money made, a tiny Balboa coin. Other coins collected by Mr. Gibbs are from Panama and other countries.

The American government has communicated directly with the League of Nations council on the subject of mandates, this being the first time the United States has initiated an action before that body. The communication was sent to insist upon its rights although the United States is not a member of the League. It is asserted that the United States expected to be heard regarding the terms of the mandates before they are put in force.

Oil and Cable Rights Involved
Oil and cable rights are involved in the protest from the United States. Yap is important as a cable landing point. Secretary Colby has already questioned Britain regarding her intentions in handling the great oil fields in Mesopotamia. The council has adopted publicly rules somewhat similar to those of the league assembly. Open meetings will be held when the members believe it "opportune." At other times the action of the council will be made public after it has been taken.
