IRISH WILL CARRY WAR FOR INDEPENDENCE INTO ENGLAND DECLARED

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(Webb Miller, U. P. Staff Correspondent)—The Irish plan to carry their war for independence into England, was revealed here today. Official documents captured in a recent raid on the Irish republican army headquarters at Dublin were made public by the Irish office, showing the widespread preparations for "operations abroad."

Among the documents found was a memorandum declaring the large scale of activities on English territory are "of paramount importance." Two months training is the period for volunteers for service in England, outlined. Another memorandum referred to "army appropriations" of $150,000 for this work. One document stated: "Of the following, some plans might be carried out, but they will require considerable preparation: destruction of large ships, buildings, blasting of furnaces, coal mines, conduits, telegraph, telephone lines; wrecking trains, and the destruction of farm crops."

Further records showed the general staff had decided to "make all roads impassable for the enemy" by exploding mines in them and ordering the county councils to make no repairs. "Strip all enemy outposts one night a week and constantly during the day," one document said.

This same paper discussed the wrecking of troop trains and tapping of telephones and announced the decision to dig at least one dugout for each company in the military areas.

SHEEP SHEARING SEASON TO BEGIN EARLY PART OF NEXT WEEK

Washington Workers Will Receive 12 1/2 Cents per Head But Oregon Growers Expect to Get Sheep Clipped for 10.

Fully supplied with shears to start the season, Everett Butler, Yakima valley sheepman, left for home this morning. The shears are to be paid at the rate of 12 1/2 cents per head.

Two crews were secured, one for Stanley Coffin, who will begin shearing early next week. He has 30,000 head. The other crew will work for Pete Amy, who will begin March 7. Other growers will start work as these men finish.

Though the men signing up for work in Washington are to receive 12 1/2 cents per head the Oregon growers expect to get their sheep clipped for 10 cents.

Mr. Butler said that 12 1/2 cents was more than the present price of wool justified but since the shearers were compelled to pay high prices for their combs and cutters as well as high railroad rates he felt they should be paid more than prewar wages. He says the resident shearers in the Yakima valley were demanding 15 cents per head while some of the "floaters" were holding out for 17 1/2 cents. The Washington growers regarded these prices as unreasonable and sent Mr. Butler down into this county to secure men. His mission was successful.

Several Oregon growers interviewed last evening and this morning say that while the Washington price is 12 1/2 cents higher than the price prevailing here that 10 cents is all they can stand and all they will pay. The Washington growers have always been compelled to pay a premium over the

HOSPITAL WHERE MRS. ELY DIED IS CLOSED BY HEALTH OFFICER

Women's Hospital Condemned Because of Septicemia Cases; Nurses on Duty Spread Disease is Belief Held.

PORTLAND, Oregon, February 26.—With one woman, Mrs. H. Ashley Ely, died, another said to be at the point of death and three others affected with puerperal septicemia, which is blood poisoning following childbirth City Health Officer Parrish yesterday ordered the closing of the City Hospital, 144 Eighteenth street.

City Health Officer Parrish received first notice of the presence of the disease late Thursday when he was notified of the dangerous condition of Mrs. Ely, who expired shortly after.

An immediate investigation of conditions was instituted by the city health officer. Cultures of the throats of all attendants and nurses at the institution were taken, and analyses completed by City bacteriologist Benson showed that seven of nine nurses cultured were infected with the disease.

Historians who the city health officer traces back said it is believed that a number of the nurses have suffered with sore throats and colds and remained on duty during the time they were thus affected. Dr. Parrish said this condition may have caused the spread of the disease.

The hospital will be permitted to accept no patients until approval is granted by the city board of health, and all patients now confined in the hospital must either be immediately removed to their homes or to other hospitals.

Mrs. Ely was the daughter of Dr. C. J. Smith, a member of the state board of health. She was the wife of H. Ashley Ely, former president of the City club and a prominent grain man in Portland. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Ely is survived by two children, Ralph, aged 2 years, and Alison, aged 13 days.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ely were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of her father at 841 The Alameda. Interment will be at Riverside cemetery.

SMYTHE LONERGAN COMPANY START MONDAY ON BUILDING OF MODERN STORAGE PLANT

Detailed plans for the construction of a thoroughly modern ice and cold storage plant for the Smythe-Loneragan Company to replace the building recently burned here were announced today by Dan P. Smythe, president of the company.

The new building is to occupy the same ground as the old structure and will be approximately 27 feet square. The building will be two stories in height and will have a flat top asphalt roof. The building will house the company's ice plant, offices, creamery and storage rooms.

Being larger than the old building the new plant will have an ice storage capacity of 600 tons whereas the old plant could hold only 225 tons of ice. There will also be 3000 square feet of storage space for commercial storage. The building will have an electric elevator.

Work on the new building is to start Monday and the building will be completed within 60 days. Meanwhile new equipment is being purchased with a view to having it available by the time the construction work is done or very soon thereafter. Under this arrangement the company will be fully prepared to take care of the enlarged ice business during the summer months.

The new building is being designed and will be erected by F. J. Leonard of Portland, an architectural contractor who has long specialized in this particular line. Mr. Leonard was for 23 years with Swift & Co. and for the past 10 years has been engaged as a general contractor in the erection of ice and storage plants. He built the Swift & Co. plant in Portland, likewise the Swift plants in Spokane, Tacoma and Seattle; the Libby McNeill & Libby plants at The Dalles and other points in the northwest.

Also Mr. Leonard constructed and designed Armour & Company's plants at Spokane, Tacoma and Portland; the Valley Packing Co. plant at Salem and the Nebergall meat company's plant at Albany, all these being modern plants constructed within the last few years, and various other plants throughout the west.

YOUNG DALTON BANK ROBBER IS CAPTURED

Town Marshall Captures Young Dalton While He is Engaged in Game of Pool With Village Cue Shark.

TRAVELING BAG HOLDS STOLEN LIBERTY BONDS

Fears That Liberty Bonds Had Been Stolen From or Destroyed by Robber Set at Rest When Bonds are Recovered.

KEYWORTH, Ill., Feb. 25.—(U. P.)—Country town marshal caught the quarry of the police of the nation. Jack Draper, marshal of this village, arrested William Dalton, the 17-year-old bank clerk, who fled from the Chicago Trust Company Thursday with $72,000 worth of Liberty bonds. Dalton was playing pool with the village cue shark when Draper arrested him. A small traveling bag beside the pool table was opened and the Liberty bonds rolled out. "Where you got me," Dalton remarked indignantly. "Fear for Stolen Bonds."

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The police of the city are seeking a 17-year-old boy carrying $72,000 worth of Liberty bonds in a satchel slightly larger than a girl's vanity case and driving a sleek Ford automobile. (Willis Dalton, the "mushy" man who walked out of the Northern Trust company with securities under his arm Thursday had increased the bond on 2 1/2 purses to 100 days at noon today. Every minute the boy is free has added to fears of the authorities that bank official bonds will not be recovered. They fear the youth might burn, bury them, be held up and robbed or lose them in his flight. Spurred by a reward of $25,000, the greatest private detective agencies in the country are enlisted in the search for the missing bank clerk. No track has been left since Dalton drove out of St. Louis, Ill., in an automobile at dusk Friday.

Willie had always been his mother's boy. Will Get Dalton Help CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—(A. P.)—The Northern Trust company, from which William Dalton, the 17-year-old boy took $72,000 in Liberty bonds, will urge the police to release him if he will return the securities said W. R. Miller, the vice president. "It will help him straighten out and get settled back in the right road if he will bring back the bonds at once," said Miller.

Dalton's arrest was the result of his accepting a r.d.e. He was plugging along the country road, logging the outlaws with a fortune in bonds when a motorist asked if he wanted to ride. The motorist suspicions were aroused and after taking the boy to town, he arrested the marshal.

While he was waiting the Chicago police to arrive, he talked freely of the affair and said he worked alone. He showed no regret.

PRISONER REMAINED CALM On reaching Keyworth, Dalton had breakfast, then went to the pool hall where he challenged Jack Hennessy, the town's pool shark, to a game. They were playing rotation and Dalton was just aiming a white ball at a thirteen ball when he was arrested. Half a dozen villagers who had gathered, stood around with their mouths open as they saw the suit case opened and the huge amount of securities roll out on the floor. The president of the local bank was summoned and the bonds given into his custody.

The prisoner was the calmest person in the crowd. He smiled as he watched the proceedings. The marshal was afraid to trust the boy to the little county jail, fearing he might escape, or some one might kidnap him for the reward. The boy was taken to the home of a citizen where he was placed under a guard of four heavily armed men. "I worked alone," said Dalton. "I was just tempted when I had all those bonds in my possession and I felt."
