

PRESIDENT'S LETTERS FORM BASIS OF BOOK

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(U. P.)—When Charles Swem, President Wilson's stenographer, finally publishes his book on an eight year's association with the man most prominent in the world's eye during that time, an intimate, personal history of the World War, its causes and its effect will be added to the world's literature.

That such a book will eventually be published has been admitted by the quietly efficient master of the curio-ques of shorthand, but he very definitely stated that no such book would appear upon the market for several years and until all possible objection of President Wilson has been obviated. Publishers have not been slow to realize the importance of Swem's personal acquaintance with the President and have made flattering offers. Even the compilation of the letters, which the President wrote during the eventful days of 1917 and 1918 in book form, with a bit of explanation by Swem about the circumstances which called for the letters would be a most valuable commentary on actions taken by the administration which are now little understood by the public.

In the mass of material, which Swem is now packing up for his departure about March 1 for Chicago, where he will take up his old position with the Gregg Publishing Company, which he held before he became the President's stenographer, is a stack of notebooks about three feet high containing practically all the correspondence of President Wilson dictated for the past eight years. These will form the basis for Swem's book when he finally decides to give his reminiscences to the world.

IT IS A HARD LIFE FOR BOXING COMISH

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, March 1.—It's a soft life for the boxing commission. Yes—everyone thinks so but the commissioners.

Good state money is paid out in large goblets to the men who see the tired boxers and their sometimes thinned managers walk straight.

This is a twelve-hour day job, however. According to Commissioner Walter Hooke, Hooke is the official chair warmer of the commission, being around the handsomely fitted quarters most of the time.

"We are supposed to know everything about boxing and do everything connected with boxing," Hooke said. "Someone called up a few minutes ago and wanted to know how many minutes the second round had gone when Bob Fitzsimmons knocked out Tom Sharkey at Coney Island. Another lady wanted to know why they used only three strands of rope around the ring.

Hundreds of calls come to the commissioners asking for assurance that it would be perfectly safe for a woman to attend the boxing shows. Some of them have heard such terrible things about "prize fights."

ed faced, tin-eared groups of high financiers. Some of them are looking for licenses opening the doors to prosperity, others are there to complain.

One little bantam recently wanted the commission to collect six dollars that a former manager had owed him for four years.

"What was the six dollars?" he was asked.

"My cut of the purse," he answered.

"What do you get now for boxing?"

"Oh, I was draggin' down about a thousand for awhile but things is kinda slack since de blue-lawsers cut the ticker prices. I ain't doin' nothin' right now and there aint no union wages fur that."

Then there are the peeved fans. They buy tickets for a good seat. They get a bad one and they want the commission to get their money back or suspend the club. There are the fans who bet three dollars on a boy who lost a "bum" decision and they want the commission to have the referee and the judges shot at sunrise.

The arenas are too cold for some and stifling hot for others. The commission should attend to those things. The light is too poor for some to see, it is blinding in the glare for others.

Then there are the friends who have friends that have a relative who wants some kind of a job with the commission.

"He'd like to become a referee, that's a good job with little work and big pay, isn't it?" one of these pluggers plugged for a friend recently.

"Has she had any experience?"

"Well, not exactly, but she's young and ambitious and picks up things awfully quick."

The commissioner might have told him that it wasn't the duty of referees to pick up things in the ring but he didn't.

SAYS U. S. IS ACTUATED BY SPIRIT OF AGGRESSION

MONTEVIDEO, March 1.—The United States should not only be right in its conduct toward South Central American republics but should seem to be right, Dr. J. A. Buero, foreign minister of Uruguay, told North American correspondents in an interview the other day.

Dr. Buero made this statement when asked by the correspondents concerning the prejudice reported to exist in South America against the United States because of actions taken at various times in regulating the affairs of some of the less stable republics in the tropic zone.

"Uruguay," he replied, "thoroughly understands the United States and the reasons for its actions. However, some of the nations that have had difficulties with the United States may not understand the North American position. Furthermore, there are a number of agitators throughout South America willing to play upon the minds of the people to influence them against North America and make them believe that the great northern republic is actuated by a spirit of aggression.

"Therefore permit me to suggest in the interest of American solidarity and universal good will among American republics that the United States not only be but seem to be right in its dealings with South and Central American republics. The facts and the appearances should coincide."

Discussing the League of Nations, Dr. Buero declared that without North America it could not be a success. It could not do without the physical, moral and financial support of that nation, he said.

Dr. Buero was asked whether he believed that a Pan-American League

Take It In Time!

Do you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

Do you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

Do you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

Why not give a fair trial to this medicine on the lines proposed by President Brum of Uruguay was incompatible with the League of Nations.

"Most certainly I do not," he replied. "The Americans, if they wish to retain the world influence that is coming to them must have an American solidarity. Before a meeting of the League at Geneva the Americas should hold a meeting of their own to determine the policies that the Americas desire and by presenting a solid front to make their influence felt much more powerfully."

"There is, however," continued the foreign minister, "one great drawback to this much desired solidarity of the American peoples. It is the barrier of language. For economic and political reasons the public schools in both the United States and Latin-American countries should teach both English and Spanish. The universities of Urguay have already begun to do so. The United States, I fear, has not yet thoroughly appreciated the importance of doing this."
