

People Here and There

William Mills of Wallburg, who, in 1888 was employed in the mechanical department of the East Oregonian and on other papers during that time but who now has farming interests north of here is in Pendleton for a few days looking after business interests.

Chester, Elmer and Raymond Ferguson who have homesteads near Blenheim Springs were in Pendleton today. There will be good pasture in a short time in their section this year, they state, as the grass is growing rapidly. They will return to their homes tonight.

Carl Kupers of Union and interested in the Columbia River Fish Oil company has been in Pendleton for a few days transacting business. He is leaving this evening for his home at Helix.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Proebstel of Weston are spending a few days at Hot Lake.

JAPANESE PRINCE SAILS FOR EUROPE

TOKIO, March 4.—(A. P.)—Prince Hirohito, heir apparent to the Japanese throne, left for Europe yesterday amid an imposing military and naval display.

INAUGURATION OF VICE PRESIDENT IS BRIEF; MARKED BY SIMPLICITY

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(U. P.)—Coolidge was inaugurated vice president with ceremonies of brief simplicity, in the senate chamber, witnessed by a distinguished assemblage of diplomats and high officials. In a short inaugural address he declared the greatest function of the United States was "preservation of liberty," and added, "The great object I seek here is to make this chamber, as was intended by its fathers, a citadel of liberty."

Coolidge's remarks about the constitution, defining the powers of the vice president, are taken as an indication that he will not sit in the cabinet as was suggested during the campaign.

Marshall, in his retiring address, said he was not being deferred to the "ranks of the average American citizen, for I never arose above them."

Glen Dudley, of Athens, was a visitor in the city last night.

Miss Martha Henderson is spending a few days in Portland.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY OFFICES AND OFFICERS

Would Collect Note
J. E. Haasch has filed suit in the circuit court against G. H. Collins to force payment of $425 alleged to be due on a promissory note. Attorney's fees to the extent of $75 are asked.

Widow Gets Allowance
An order allowing Mary H. Criegler, widow of Andrew J. Criegler, $100 a month from the estate was made in the county court this morning. An appraisal of the estate fixes its value at $64,734.53. The debts of the estate do not exceed $1000 the order states.

OLD CABINETEERS WILL HANG AROUND AWHILE

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(U. P.)—Most of the present cabinet members profess a consuming desire to get away from Washington as soon as possible after their terms expire. However, as a matter of courtesy, the outgoing cabinet members will remain, more or less, about their offices for a few days acquainting their successors with the work.

In every department there are trusted experts of long service upon whom the secretaries depend to see that everything runs smoothly. Changes of administration do not affect the status of these specialists. After the conferences between the new and old secretaries of the various departments and a few days of ex-officio assistance, as it were, by the retiring officials, the new cabinet members will rely upon the old bureau-chief wheel-horses for such assistance as is necessary until the new secretary himself gets a confident grip on the wheel.

Five hundred thousand people died from influenza during the epidemic in this country, according to estimates of the United States Public Health Department.

ADMINISTRATION OF SERVICE

sane economy, combined with fiscal justice and it must be attended by individual prudence and thrift which are so essential to this trying, hour and reassuring for the future.

Reflection of War's Benefits.

The business world reflects the disturbance of war's reaction. Herein flows the life blood of material existence. The economic mechanism is intricate and its parts interdependent and has suffered the shocks and jars incident to abnormal demands, credit inflation and price upheavals. The normal business have been impaired, the channels of distribution have been clogged, the relation of labor and management have been strained. We must seek the readjustment with care and courage. Our people must give and take. Prices must reflect the receding fever of war activities.

"Perhaps we never shall know the old levels of wage again, because war invariably readjusts compensations and the necessities of life will show their inseparable relations, but we must strive for normalcy to reach stability. All the penalties will not be light, nor evenly distributed. There is no way of making them so. There is no instant step from disorder to order. We must face a condition of grim reality, charge off our loss and start afresh. It is the oldest lesson of civilization. I would like government to do all it can to mitigate them; in understanding, in mutuality of interest, in concert for the common good our tasks will be solved. No altered system will work a miracle. Any wild experiment will only add to the confusion. Our best assurance lies in efficient administration of our proven system.

From Destruction to Production.

The forward course of the business cycle is unmistakable. Peoples are turning from destruction to production. Industry has sensed the changed order and our own people are turning to resume their normal, onward way. The call is for productive America to go on. I know that congress and the administration will favor every wise government policy to aid the resumption and encourage continued progress.

"I speak for administrative efficiency, for lightened tax burdens, for sound commercial practices, for adequate credit facilities, for sympathetic concern for all agricultural problems, for the omission of unnecessary interference of government with business, for an end to government experiment in business, and for more efficient business in government administration. With all of this most attend a mindfulness of the human side of all activities, so that social industrial and economic justice will be squared with the purposes of a righteous people.

"With the nation-wide induction of womanhood into our political life, we may count upon her institutions, her refinements, her intelligence and her influence to exalt the social order. We count upon her exercise of the full privileges and the performance of the duties of citizenship to speed the attainment of the highest state.

Prayer for Industrial Peace

"I wish for an America no less alert in guarding against dangers from within than it is watchful against enemies from without. Our fundamental law recognizes no class, no group, no section, there must be none in legislation or administration. The supreme inspiration is the common good. Humanity, by usages for international peace and we crave it with all mankind. My most reverent prayer for America is for industrial peace, with its rewards, widely and generally distributed amid the inspirations of equal opportunity. No one justly may deny the equality of opportunity which made us what we are. We have mistaken unpreparedness to embrace it to be a challenge of the reality; and die concern for making all citizens fit for participation will give added strength of citizenship and magnify our achievement.

If revolution insists upon overturning established order, yet other peoples make the tragic experiment. There is no place for it in America. When world war threatened civilization we pledged our resources and our lives to its preservation and when revolution threatens we unfurl the flag of law and order and renew our concentration. Ours is a constitutional freedom where the popular will is the law supreme and the minorities are sacredly protected. Our revision, orderly progress, and we mean to cure our ills, but never destroy or permit destruction by force.

"I had rather submit our industrial controversies to the conference table in advance than to a settlement table after conflict and suffering. The world is thirsting for the cup of good will, understanding in its fountain source. I would like to acclaim an era of good feeling amid dependable prosperity and all the blessings which attended.

Protection of Industries

"It has been proved again and again that we cannot, while throwing our markets open to the world, maintain American standards of living and opportunity and hold our industrial empire in such unequal competition. There is a lurking fallacy in the theory of banished barriers of trade, but preserved American standards require our higher production costs to be reflected in our tariffs on imports. Today as never before, when peoples are seeking trade restoration and expansion, we must adjust our tariffs to the new order. We seek participation in the world's exchanges, because therein lies our way to widened influence and the triumphs of peace. We know full well we cannot sell where we do not buy, and we cannot sell successfully where we do not carry. Opportunity is calling not alone for the restoration, but for a new era in production, transportation and trade, we shall answer it best by meeting the demand of a surpassing home market, by promoting self reliance in production, and by bidding enterprise, genius and efficiency to carry our cargoes in American bottoms to the markets of the world.

An America of Homes

"We would not have an American living within and for herself alone, but we would have her self-reliant, independent and ever nobler, stronger and richer. Believing in our higher stand-

Do This For Constipation

THE public should know that there is a vast difference in the action of the various remedies for constipation. Some are "flushes," purge, physics. They grip and weaken.

For lasting effect use a laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently and mildly so that even a baby can use it with safety. It is a compound of Erythrae Senecio and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most popular of all laxatives and more is used in American homes than any other. Last year eight million bottles were sold by druggists, the largest sale in the world.

ards, reared through constitutional liberty and maintained opportunity, we invite the world to the same insights.

But pride in things wrought is no reflex of a completed task. Common welfare is the goal of our national endeavor. Wealth is not identical to welfare; it ought to be its friendliest agency. There never can be equality of rewards or possessions so long as the human plan contains varied talents and differing degrees of industry and thrift but ours ought to be a country free from great blotches of distress and poverty. We ought to find a way to guard against the perils and penalties of unemployment. We want an America of homes, illumined with hopes and happiness, where mothers, freed from the necessity for long hours of toil beyond their own doors, may preside as benefice the hearstone of American citizenship. We want the cradle of American childhood reared under conditions so wholesome and so hopeful that no selfish interest, no material necessity, no lack of opportunity shall prevent the gaining of that education so essential to best citizenship.

"There is no short cut to the making of these ideals into solid realities. The world has witnessed, again and again, the futility and the mischief of ill-considered remedies for social and economic disorders. But we are mindful today as never before of the friction of modern industrialism, and we must learn its causes and reduce its evil consequences by sober and tested methods. Where genius has made for great possibilities, justice and happiness must be reflected in a greater common welfare.

Service, the Supreme Commitment

"Service is the supreme commitment of life. I would rejoice to acclaim the era of the golden rule and crown it with the autonomy of service. I pledge administration wherein all the agencies of government are called to serve and ever promote an understanding of government purely as an expression of popular will.

"One cannot stand in this presence and be unmindful of the tremendous responsibility. The world upheaval has added heartily to our tasks. But with the realization comes the surge of high resolve, and there is reassurance in belief in the God-given destiny of our new republic. If I felt that there is to be sole responsibility in the executive for the America of tomorrow, I should shrink from the burden. But here are a hundred millions, with common concern and shared responsibility, answerable to God and country. The republic summons them to their duty and I invite cooperation.

"I accept my part with single-mindedness of purpose and humility of spirit, and implore the favor and guidance of God in his heaven. With these I am unafraid and confidently face the future.

Portland Man Had Suffered 30 Years

After Taking Tanlac Feels Like He Is Starting Life Over Again.

"I am now sixty-three years old, and I am just now getting rid of a case of catarrh and stomach trouble that has been bothering me thirty years," said A. Holmquist, 344 East 44th St., Portland, while telling of his remarkable recovery by the use of Tanlac.

"For well nigh half my life," he continued, "I have been troubled with about as bad. It started in my head and spread to my stomach and it kept me feeling miserable all the time. My head felt heavy and stuffed up, my nose was dry and my throat was affected. I developed dyspepsia, lost my appetite had severe pains in my stomach, I was constipated and had terrible headaches.

"I'm frank enough to say I didn't believe Tanlac would help me after everything else had failed, but I could hardly believe it when I saw the catarrh was actually leaving me along with my other troubles. I am absolutely a well man now and feel almost like I am starting life over again. It has been so long since I felt well that I can hardly realize I am in such this health."

Tanlac is sold in Pendleton by Thompson Brothers.
