

Social and Club News

DATES ARE SET.

May 31 and June 1 and 2 have been set as the dates for the annual convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, for which Pendleton women who are members of the federation will be hostesses. Convention headquarters will be in the Umatilla county library.

Special interest and importance is attached to the convention, for Mrs. Alice Ames Winter, national president of Women's Clubs, is to attend. Mrs. Winter is known as a woman of great ability and Pendleton clubwomen are keenly interested in the announcement that she will be one of the prominent speakers.

Another feature of the convention will be the election of state officers. This occurs every two years, and 1921 is the date for the election. It is thought that the fact that officers are to be chosen will in itself alone attract many delegates.

One of the projects on the program will be conferences of the presidents of the various clubs. At these conferences problems relating to attendance, interest, social conditions and membership in the clubs will be discussed.

Committees of Pendleton women will be appointed in the near future to make arrangements for the federation meeting. Included in the entertainment planned, is a reception in honor of the visiting delegates. Sessions of the convention will be open to the public and large crowds of townspeople are anticipated.

Mrs. Ida B. Callahan, state president of the Federation, is making efforts to secure reduced railroad fare. Mrs. Callahan, in urging the attendance of delegates at the convention, said in the March number of the Clubwoman's Bulletin:

"Let us work diligently for a greater Federation, both state and general. It will mean the working together of the club women of the United States for better conditions for all the people and the putting of true Americanism into our educational, social, industrial and political life."

Pink and white blossoms and pussy willows were effective in a decoration, and refreshments were served by the hostesses after the evening's play.

Mrs. Alfred Somple gave a talk on "Congo Land," and Mrs. S. H. Reetz on "The Book of God." A recitation, "My Mother's Bible," was given by Mrs. Margaret Hoover. Crosswell, Mrs. Kenneth McKee, Mrs. Reese of Heli, Mrs. Averill, Mrs. Spalding, Mrs. Herbert Green, Mrs. J. H. Estes, Mrs. James B. Welch, Mrs. E. P. Tulloch and Mrs. G. L. Clark.

Mrs. Benjamin L. Burroughs and Mrs. Harold J. Warner were hostesses yesterday afternoon for a meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club in the library club room.

Of more than exceptional interest was a review of John Drinkwater's play, "Abraham Lincoln," by Rev. Alfred Lockwood. Enjoyable, too, was the reading, by Rev. Lockwood, of a group of Drinkwater's poems. A comprehensive sketch of the life of John Galsworthy was given by Miss Beth Smith. Mrs. B. S. Burroughs read charmingly from Galsworthy's works, the selections including "Maggie Over the Hill," and a play, "The Little Dream."

Two solos, "The Wind Song," (Rogers) and "Little Serenade" (Purdy) sung by Miss Edna Gates, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. F. E. Boyden, made up a delightful musical program. A tea hour followed, with Mrs. Thomas Burmeister of Salt Lake, presiding at a table gay with daffodils and pussywillows. Several matrons assisted the hostesses in serving.

LIBRARIAN AWARDED POLITENESS PRIZE

Miss Helen Clark, of the county library, received word recently that Miss Caroline Robinson, who was employed with Miss Clark in a library in Indiana, had won a $50 "politeness prize" given by the Chicago Tribune.

Following is the story of the prize-winning, as contained in the Chicago paper:

It was a dirty, toll worn husky who entered the erudite portals of the Gary Public library. Shoes which were old and battered, overalls that had long since lost their blueness, hands and face blackened from the coal dust of the Tribune's boiler room—all made of the politeness reporter a gent of grime and toughness.

At the desk he encountered Miss Caroline Robinson of 544 Pierce street.

"Say," placing a malodorous corn-cob upon the counter, "I want a room and board. Give me a list, will you?" Patient and smiling was the library girl. The inquirer, it developed after a bit of conversation wanted to see the want "ads" of the local paper.

Goes for Paper.

"Just a minute, please," said Miss Robinson and—though her province is the children's room and the retrieving of public prints has nothing to do with kids—the young woman descended the stairs and secured the journals. "Here are some later papers," she announced a moment later, and a fresh batch was placed on the desk, where the reporter had seated his grimy person.

Long and laboriously he searched the printed sheets, then— "I can't find any rooms and boards," he complained.

Miss Robinson left her work, walked across the room, and located the lost "ads." Scarcely had she resumed her duties when the reporter was peering her for pencil and paper. "Certainly," with a smile.

More Stupid Inquiries.

Twice again the politeness seeker interrupted the library girl with his stupid queries. Then he appeared with a list of addresses, all ardently lettered, and demanded to know where the places could be found.

"No. 844 Maryland street?" read Miss Robinson. "Now, let's see. That would be six blocks east and two—no, three—blocks south."

Very slowly the reporter printed the directions—invariably misspelling it "bloks." There were half a dozen other addresses on the list; and sometimes the young woman herself uncertain, had to wander into distant recesses of the library to consult with her associates. But always it was done with patient smile and perfect courtesy. The civility seeker shuffled out without returning the pencil. He came back a few minutes later to award Miss Robinson The Tribune's $50 politeness prize.

6-FOOT LAWYER LOOKED LIKE PUMPKIN

"I was often doubled up with pains in my stomach and was yellow as a pumpkin before taking May's Wonderful Remedy, which 10 years ago saved my life. My friends had given up all hopes of my recovery, as the best doctors did not help me. Am enjoying the best of health now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Druggists everywhere.

EAST END MEN WANT BLUE MOUNTAIN ROAD

Urging the county court to favor construction of a good road from the Milton-Freewater valley, across the Blue mountains to Elgin, a delegation of prominent east end men is here today. Those in the party are Hugh Murray, mayor of Freewater, F. K. Noordhoff, Harvey Van Slyke, F. E. Cockburn, George Miller and C. S. Cheshire. At the present time traffic over the mountain is obliged to rely upon the tollgate road which is considered so inadequate as to be a disgrace. The east end men want a surer made and some forestry money secured if possible. They have had the matter up with the superintendent of the Umatilla reserve.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF YOU WERE HARDING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—(A. P.)—A party of thirty motion picture actors and actresses arrived here from Los Angeles to participate in the civic festivities.

"What would you do if you were President Harding?" each was asked. "I would get down on my knees and pray," answered Clara Kimball Young. "He's got an awful job ahead of him." "I'd take care of the poor and unemployed," said Beanie Barriscale. "Down with the sur-tax," was the quick, militant reply of Mary Miles Minter. "There is no justice in the sur-tax on top of the income tax." "I'd bring back beer to the laborer," William Russell said. In that he had support. "I'd cut out the dry law," Edith Roberts remarked.
