GRIEF DESCENDS ON HOME TOWN PEOPLE

BOWLING GREEN, Mo., March 7.—(U. P.)—Grief, caused by the sorrow of many hearts, fell upon this little village as the home town folks witnessed the last rites over the body of Camp Clark. A large crowd met the special train which arrived shortly before noon from St. Louis. Less than a mile to the north of Bowling Green, the open grave was ready in the cemetery where two of Clark's children are buried. Clark would have been seventy one years old today.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY OFFICES AND OFFICERS

Would Recover $2740.

Suit was filed today in the district court by Lucy Shafer and E. B. Shafer against Jennie Quinlan seeking judgment for the sum of $2740 declared to have been paid on a contract for the purchase of certain property in Pendleton. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff contracted with the defendants to purchase the property for the sum of $6000 and that they had lived up to the contract even though the defendant assured them she could not exact a technical compliance of the terms. The plaintiffs further aver that on the 13th of January the defendant in violation of her representation and protestation of friendship and kindly leniency assigned to "cheat and defraud" the plaintiffs out of their money and divert it for her own use. The plaintiffs further allege that they have tendered payments due under the contract which were refused and that they have been forcibly ousted and ejected from the premises. Wherefore they ask judgment to recover money which they allege is due them. Peterson, Bishop and Clark are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Second Shipment Ready—The second shipment of pictures for the annual is ready to be sent. The pictures are being sent to the engravers in quarter lots. The first lot was sent several weeks ago and the second shipment will be sent within a few days. As yet no printing company has been signed with as the staff wishes to get bids on the work. Local printers have made bids, as well as several printing houses in the northwest. Miss Irva Dale, business manager and editor-elect, announces that the sale of the annuals is advancing nicely but the advertisements are coming in slowly. Several business houses have already contracted for ads but others have refused. Advertisements in such a book would be paying to any merchant as alumni as well as high school students will have copies and exchange copies will be sent to colleges and other high schools over the United States, says Miss Dale. Several subscriptions for annuals have already been sent in by alumni.

A. C. BILLMAN, of Indiana, who says Taniae is unquestionably the greatest medicine he ever heard of. "It put me back on my feet after I had practically given up all hope of ever being well again," he states.

"Taniae is unquestionably the greatest medicine I ever heard of. After I had practically given up all hope of ever being well again, it put me right back on my feet, and I am feeling one hundred percent better than I have for twenty years. I have gained ten pounds in weight, and every one says I don't look like the same person. For several months I suffered from a serious stomach disorder. I had no appetite and couldn't eat enough to keep up my strength. Very often when I sat down to a meal I would leave the table without touching anything scarcely, as I could not bear the sight of food, much less eat it. I was losing in weight and my friends would often ask me: 'What is wrong with you?' Why are you looking so thin?"

"I also suffered terribly with pains across the small of my back and over my kidneys. It was almost impossible for me to get out of bed in the morning, as my back would pain me so I would almost fall over when I would first stand up in the morning. At night my back pained me so it was almost impossible for me to sleep. I would lie first on one side and then on the other, and would roll and toss all night long. I had almost given up and thought maybe my age was against me, as I had taken so many different kinds of medicine without results. The first bottle of Taniae didn't help me much, but I made up my mind to give it a fair trial. After starting on the second bottle I began to feel better. My appetite returned and it just looked like I could hardly wait for meal time to come. In fact, I was hungry all the time.

"My back and kidneys don't bother me any more and I can sleep like a log now. Taniae has just simply made a new man of me, and any one living in this county can tell you the same thing, as everybody knows me and knows the shape I was in."

The above statement was made recently by A. C. Billman, of Ligonier, Ind. Mr. Billman has lived in Noble County all his life and is a well-known and highly-respected citizen of that county.

Taniae is sold in Pendleton by Thompson Brothers.

RAILROAD LINE TO CIVILIZE THE BALKANS

ROME, March 7.—(Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.)—The "Adriatico" is the name that will be given to the new line of railway that is to connect Belgrade with the Adriatic seaport of Cattaro and which is expected to mark Woodera in carrying modern civilization into certain sections of the Balkans.

Where the railroad was the principal factor in carrying modern progress into the western portion of the United States half a century ago, the lack of railways appears to have been the determining factor in leaving portions of the Balkan peninsula in a state of primitiveness that is a surprise to Americans.

However, Jugoslavina's new railway project is intended more especially as a commercial short-cut to Europe, rather than purely a means of civilization. The "Adriatico" from Cattaro will connect up with Brindisi on the Italian side with huge ferry boats.

HOME RULE ON TRIAL IN FIRST ASSEMBLY

BELFAST, March 7.—(Chas. McCann, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Eliot, believing the future history of Ireland depends on its successful operation of the home rule bill, is alive to the warnings of its leaders that upon the caliber and work of its first parliament depends the operation itself.

Bitterly disappointed, though hardly surprised, at Sir Edward Carson's refusal to become first premier, the unionist leaders are going ahead with the material they have. From the members of the first parliament will be selected the cabinet, which Sir James Craig has consented to lead as premier if his selection is unanimous. The first parliament, too, will elect the senate. Prospective members of the government now are devoting most of their time to becoming acquainted with the existing British government departments which they must overtake and operate. Leaders despair of obtaining a man who can take Carson's place,

Painless Parker's Big Practice

By Painless Parker

MY dental practice has grown steadily from the beginning. It is today the largest in the world simply because I have supplied reliable dentistry to the people at a fair price and given a better service than they could get anywhere else. Success isn't accidental. A man has to make good.

I have gone out into the highways and byways and talked good teeth to the people for thirty years, and have probably done more to send folks to dental offices than any other one man who ever lived.

I don't say these things in a boastful spirit, but give them as plain facts. I am proud of what I have done, and am thankful to the public for the support it has given the E. R. Parker System and me.

but they are not discouraged. They are looking for a man—whom they believe they have in Sir James Craig—who must be, as unionist expressed it, "an architect as well as a builder"—who can design what is really Ulster's future. He must, the unionist added, "dream the full design before he begins to build."

The present government will be taken over with Ulster as capital of a small semi-dependent country. Formerly the government emanated from London and centered in Dublin.

Leaders regard as equally important the British and southern Irish reactions to the operation of the new republic. British sentiment toward the future of the whole of Ireland will rest largely on the way Ulster gets along. Southern Ireland, particularly the nationalists, also are expected to judge by the first government—enthusiastically condemning a failure or reluctantly recognizing, perhaps by imitation, a success.

One problem (troubling moderate leaders in Ulster is what one of them called "small ideas." Belfast, the capital, has one-third the total population of the province. Its people have totally different outlooks from the farmers who comprise much of the remainder of the population.

There is also the problem of religion. In southern Ireland religious feeling is not intense. In Ulster religion is the problem. It is not possible to find a Protestant in a Catholic club. It is similar in everything else. If there are thirty school-children in a town, ten Catholics, ten Episcopalians and ten Presbyterians, it is possible for their parents to demand separate schools, each with an attendance of ten.
