At an elaborate social affair given by Alice MacDonald the lights go out, and when they come on the home has been looted and even the pockets of the guests picked. Katharine discovers the heart and dagger drawn crudely on a wall. To convince Miss MacDonald that he is brave and intelligent Winter declares he will outdo the police and run down the criminal band. GRACE TO EAT REINDEER

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Rapid growth of the Alaskan reindeer industry, predicted soon to be the territory's chief production, may aid in reducing the cost of meat in the United States, agriculture department officials said today.

Considerable quantities of the meat already have been shipped, it was said, despite high shipping rates. Low production costs overcome much of the transportation losses, officials said. Quality of the meat is said to be somewhat better than venison and very similar in flavor.

POLISH REFUGEES LIVE IN DUG-OUTS IN SIDE OF HILLS OR IN EMBANKMENTS ALONG THE ROAD

PHILADELPHIA, March 9.—Dug-outs in the sides of hills or in embankments along the roads compose the only homes of thousands of refugees in Poland, say agents of the American Friends Service committee who are distributing American and other aid in that war-devastated country.

In the Tarnopol district, in Galicia Poland over which territory the hurricane of war swept a dozen times, 2,500 families are living in such dug-outs, writes Harry Stevens, an English Friend, who is working in Poland.

He describes the land as seamed with trenches and distorted by vast quantities of barbed wire. Hundreds of people are reported to be dying of starvation, cold and disease. They have neither livestock nor farming implements. Their land was overrun by Russians, Austrians, Prussians, Turks and Bulgarians in the world war and afterward by the Ukrainians and Belsheriks. Horses, cattle, poultry, farm tools—everything was taken. The timber was cut down, their houses burned and even school buildings destroyed.

Describing the miserable conditions of refugees from Russia, some of whom have walked thousands of miles to reach their homes in what is now Poland, Mr. Stevens wrote:

"Their clothing was pitiful to behold; scarecrows can boast of better in winter.

The chief fear in Royalist circles, however, is that the Venizelists will make capital out of any failure to carry out pre-election pledges. In this event, it is planned to have the King pay a two or three day visit to the front. In no case will he assume personal command of the troops.

As to Greece's abandoning the war against Turkey, it is pointed out that Greece today cannot even pay the interest on her former loans. For more than the past quarter of a century Greece has continually borrowed money. Virtually none of the principal has been paid.

The Greek people are either very wealthy or very poor. Thus far no means of extorting taxes from the paupered peasants has been devised, and no government has been strong enough to extract any important amount in internal loans from the rich Greeks.

The Venizelous government secured about a million pounds by threats of "confiscation and mobilization of wealth by the state." The final result was the transference of private wealth to Paris and London by the capitalists and the enforced migration of Venizelous and his cohorts to Nice.

King Constantine and the present government wishes to play. Obviously they will not attempt and drastic measures. The only recourse is to bolster up the national credit and get what is available from England, France or the United States.

ALLIES MUST FOOT GREECE'S WAR BILLS

ATHENS, (By Mail to the United Press).—King Constantine will not go to Smyrna and Greece will abandon the war against Mustafa Kemal and the Turks—unless the allies foot the bill.

Despite declarations and reports to the contrary by the King himself, the above deduction is the viewpoint of conservative Greek statesmen and astute diplomats in Athens.

King Constantine's spread-eagle promises of leading his people to Constantinople has been all bluff, it is now admitted.

At the present time King Constantine has a "diplomatic cold." At the same time, the provincial propaganda is working. Almost daily the Government papers print petitions from the Macedonian, Thracian and Phrygian peasantry entreating the King not to imperil his life by "going to Smyrna." The peasants' loyalty point out that His Majesty's life belongs to Greece, not to himself.

From the royal Palace emanates the information that His Majesty is not at all displeased over the solicitude of his subjects; Smyrna or the best is a cold, barren, desolate place
