IRISH RECOGNITION

Ireland was invaded by might and strength 400 years before there was any other religion than Catholic in the whole of England and Ireland the shaker said. Ireland has opposed England under both Catholic and Protestant kings by continued. Mr. Loneragan laid much stress on the fact that it was not a religious war but a war of independence which had been fought for 700 years.

"The claim has been made that it is a domestic question," said Mr. Loneragan who declared that Ireland had a more forcible argument for independence than the United States had in its fight for freedom. Mr. Loneragan paralled the case of the colonies under England and that of Ireland and declared that point after point in the Declaration of Independence applied to Ireland much more forcibly than it did to the colonies.

Mr. Loneragan decried the statement that the recognition of Ireland by the United States would disintegrate the bond between this country and England and cited instances when this country had recognized small nations who had declared their independence. The independence of Ireland would have been settled ages ago if that country had been as far away from the mother country as the United States said Mr. Loneragan in referring to the war between this country and England.

In answer to the charge that Ireland was disloyal in the late war Mr. Loneragan declared the country could not be disloyal because they did not owe any loyalty to England and that England was a foreign nation as far as Ireland was concerned. In reference to the Easter uprising which occurred during the war Mr. Loneragan defended the action and gave as an illustration the story of the landowner attacked on his own property by a great bully. "And if a mad dog should come up during this fight between you and this great bully choking the life out of you, and if this dog should bite the bully, wouldn't you be pro-dog?" said Mr. Loneragan, which statement received considerable applause.

The statement that Ireland would not be able to agree if they had their own government was laughed at as the speaker who said "they run every government on earth but their own."

"It is not a question of fitness to govern," he said, "but that a country with the right to govern themselves should be permitted to exercise that right."

Mr. Loneragan closed his remarks with a plea to every one to write the congressmen at Washington and the president urging that this country recognize the Irish republic and asking that the support to which the country was entitled be given by everyone.

"Tanlac is what ended up troubles and, besides that, my wife has gained twenty-five pounds by taking it," said M. C. Stanley, 2615 Fifty-Second, St., Southeast, Portland.

"I had been having spells of rheumatism ever since I was a child and at times was in such bad shape I actually couldn't raise my feet and lay off the floor. The pains would start in my feet and go up through my legs into my arms and shoulders, and I simply ached all over."

"My stomach got out of order, I lost my appetite and couldn't eat anything hardly but what it bloated me up until it was all I could do to get my breath. My kidneys bothered me terribly and I had awful pains in my back. I had sickening headaches and at night the pains would wake me up about one or two o'clock and I couldn't get back to sleep the rest of the night."

"Well, I have taken six bottles of Tanlac now and can't feel a trace of the rheumatism and am as strong and active as a man could want to be. My kidneys never bother me now and I am a well man in every respect. Tanlac has restored my wife's health, too, and to my way of thinking it a medicine that can't be equalled."

Don't Fool With a Cold
(From the New York Sun.)
We must repeat our warning against pneumonia, the most dangerous disease that prevails in this city, and which is extraordinarily prevalent at this time. Be on guard at all times against taking cold. Look out for it if you take it. Gladstone used to go to bed and send for a doctor whenever he had a cold and consequently he got well in a very short time. "The Sun" is right and their warning should be heeded. For colds, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is excellent. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Persons past middle age should go to bed and take this remedy until recovered.

For a Bad Cold
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain cure for bad colds. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in freeing the system of all symptoms of the cold. It is not a palliative that simply gives relief; it cures.

They Make You Feel Good
The pleasant purgative effect experienced by those who use Chamberlain's Tablets and the healthy condition of body and mind which they create makes one feel joyful.

What You Need for Constipation
When troubled with constipation, what you need is a remedy that will produce a free movement of the bowels. A remedy that is mild and gentle in its action. A remedy that leaves the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. A remedy that is easy and pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Tablets meet all of these conditions. Try them and see for yourself. They only cost a quarter.
