BASEBALL PLAYERS TO ROMP AROUND ROUNDUP PARK ALL DAY SUNDAY

Prospects for Prosperous Year Are Good Say Local Sportsmen; Plan Four Team League

Baseball stars and near stars will romp tomorrow morning at Round-Up park providing the weather permits and the first tentative lineup will be doled up. There are considerably more ball players this year in Pendleton than heretofore and it is expected that the local nine will be well supplied with material. There are a number of men who played with fast teams last year and who now call Pendleton their home and with these men and the starts of last year Pendleton should have a good team. Practice will begin as early as possible Sunday morning.

Sufficient funds have been provided to build a new back stop, fix up the diamond and purchase needed material for the team. The men are well outfitted from last year and with the exception of a few minor articles nothing much will be needed this year. The grounds are to be put in shape not only for the benefit of the local team but for the Moosejaw nine which is expected to train here this season.

Local fans are well pleased over the prospects of the Moosejaw team coming here and expect to see high-class ball as a result. Games will be played with the locals and with nearby towns during the three weeks the visitors will train here.

Plans for the league which Pendleton fans are boosting are coming ahead nicely and already Athena and Helix have signified their intention of joining the league. The plans now on foot comprise the formation of a four team league and as things stand now only one more team is needed. It is expected the forefront of the week that either Pilot Rock or Milton-Freswater will join. A four team league will give each club a game at home every other week.

BOSTON TEAM WINS

CLEVELAND, O., March 18.—(A. P.)—The Boston A. A. hockey team won the third game of the semi-final series for the championship of the United States Hockey league, from Cleveland 2 to 1 last night after a hard-fought game. The victory gives Boston two games to Cleveland's one.

THINK MICH. CAPTAIN WAS COAST LEAGUE STAR WITH PORTLAND TEAM

CHICAGO, March 18.—(A. P.)—Phil Bartelme, director of athletics at the University of Michigan, last night announced here that he had started an investigation to determine whether Vernon Parks, captain of the baseball team and leading western conference pitcher, had played ball on the Pacific coast last season under an assumed name.

Bartelme said he had received word that Parks pitched for the Portland club last summer under the name of Harold Brooks and had been the most dependable twirler on the Portland team.

"This Brooks," said Bartelme, "won 30 per cent of his games. I am informed I have seen his picture and I am certain he really is Vernon Parks, our star pitcher."

"If the charges are true, there is no doubt that the University of Michigan will take drastic action."

QUARTER MILE RUN IS HARDEST TRACK EVENT SAYS OREGON COACH

Bill Hayward Gives Pointers On Running 440; Two Types of Runners for This Race.

BY WILLIAM L. HAYWARD
(Track Coach University of Oregon.)
The 440-Yard Run

Of all the track events this race is considered to be the hardest, if run properly. It combines both speed and endurance, and is one that should not be run except by men in good physical condition. There are two types of runners for this distance—the sprinter and plunger. Of the two, the first is generally the better, providing he has the endurance to carry him through the 440 yards. The other is usually a half-mile runner who has a good uniform speed and is able to plug it through all the way. Best adapted for this race is the tall, rangy runner who has an easy, swinging stride.

Every 440-yard man should start like the sprinter and learn to get his stride quickly. The ability to start is just as important in this race as in the sprints. As most quarter-mile races are run on a circular track and the start is generally from thirty to forty yards from the first curve, the quickest starter has the best chance to get the pole on entering the turn, and this is something that must not be overlooked.

During the early training the runner should do considerable jogging at distances greater than the 440, usually one-half or three-quarter miles will be sufficient. The object of the greater distances is to gain for the runner the endurance which is necessary to finish spurring races. After the legs and wind are in fairly good condition, the runner should do a little speed work with the sprints, going 50 or 60 yards with an occasional burst of 250 yards at three-quarter speed. As the athlete gets stronger and feels that he can go farther without injury, the sprint may be lengthened out to 200 yards. When a runner feels that he is strong enough he may pay more attention to sprinting, but should never lose sight of endurance. This must be his chief aim. From this time on he should work for speed which will be the deciding factor in his races. Unless running a trial the athlete should not go more than 275 yards at top speed. As a rule, it is not wise to run more than one trial a week, and that should be a race. To be successful the runner must be a good judge of pace, and run his own race regardless of the others. The greatest mistake a quarter-mile runner makes is to run the first 300 yards too fast and finish in distress. Learn to know your endurance and your pace.
