RACE RAD SPREADS, DEVELOPS SCANDALS

By HENRY L. FAIRRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 21.—They used to say uncomplimentary things about New York because the big town fell for a six-day bike race. Things have changed though. New Yorker's don't fall for one six-day race now—they fall for four of 'em.

Three of the long grinds have already been staged this winter and a fourth is in the making. As it is a puzzle to the population of those "slow districts" outside of the "world's greatest city," so it is to a great many foreigners who wonder what there is in the American to make such a sport popular.

Victor Breyer, prominent French sport authority, writing in "Sporting Life" (London) recently commented on this particularity and also gave some interesting "inside stuff" about a six-day race in Brussels, which apparently was not a six-day affair. "Ever since the Americans originated the six-day craze," he writes, "with their famous Madison Square cycle races, the success of these events not only across the 'herring pond,' but in most European countries has been a source of wonder to the average sporting mind. As one who has witnessed many of these so-called competitions, I am utterly unable to understand why crowds flock to attend them whether in New York, Paris, Brussels or Berlin.

Be that as it may, six-day races had so far been free of that sort of complaints which marked the event just concluded a week ago in Brussels, and which are nothing short of scandals.

"Every morning at about seven the hall was cleared of spectators in order to have the building cleaned. Only a few privileged persons were allowed to remain, outside of the competitors.

"It turns out that when the crowd had gone, the riders followed suit. The race was stopped each morning for a period varying between one hour and two hours, during which the contestants did as they pleased. Some left the building to go into town and make visits.

"In the meantime Paris is in turn 'threatened' with a six-day affair which is advertised to take place at the winter cycle track the last week of March. It remains to be seen whether the disclosures reported in connection with the Brussels event will affect the tremendous game which all precedents lead the Parisian promoters to expect."

SPORT BULLETINS

BLEATHERIN GOLF CONTEST.

DEL MONTE, Cal., March 21.—(A. P.)—Spectators and players armed with horns, bells, whistles and other noise making devices attempted to unnerve the golfers in the third annual bleatherin contest today. Despite the noise, excellent golf was played, the best ball being one over par. George A. Harris of New York City won, eliminating nine other players in nine holes. Among those competing were George B. Carpenter, Portland, Oregon; Charles E. Straub, president of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League, qualified, but did not play. He said he could stand noise on the diamond but not on the links.

SHOT 1294 PINS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 21.—(A. P.)—New leaders were established in the two-man event of the American bowling congress tournament Sunday when Charles Norton and S. Knoche of Madison, Wis., shot 1,294 pins.

BRANDON TEAM WON

WINNIPEG, Man., March 21.—(A. P.)—The Brandon hockey team gained the advantage in the finals for possession of the Allan cup, emblematic of the Canadian hockey championship Saturday night, when they defeated the University of Toronto team, two to nothing.

GUESTS CALL AT WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON, March 21.—(A. P.)—For the first time since the U. S. entered the war, the white house today was the scene of a reception to the diplomatic corps. The president and Mrs. Harding received their guests, numbering about 250, in the blue room.

ALTA SUNDAY AND MONDAY

NEW STAR SEEN IN SMART COMEDY

Alta playgoers will witness the first starring effort of one of the newest of film twinkle Sunday. "You Never Can Tell," the initial Pebe Daniels production for Realart.

It is needless to say that Miss Daniels scored a real hit. This was a foregone conclusion with those who have watched her rise through comedies with Harold Lloyd to leading woman roles in Paramount productions.

Starring, however, is a different matter and tests a player to the limit. Miss Daniels meets the test in a manner that thoroughly satisfied a large audience last night. She is delightfully amusing as the ambitious little check-room girl whose love for beautiful things leads her almost into trouble before she meets and loves a "Prince Charming" whom she thinks a taxi chauffeur but who really is a young millionaire. It is a clever and amusing story of the "good little bad

The supporting cast shows a really remarkable array of acting ability. Jack Muihall is good-looking and thoroughly likeable as leading man, while others who play excellently included Neely Edwards, Edward Marchand, Heien Dunbar, Harold Goodwin, Leo White and Mrs. Harry I. Davenport.

Careful direction is evidenced, for which praise is due Chester Franklin, Tom Geraghty and Helmar Bergman who wrote the scenario from two Saturday Evening Post stories by Grace Lovell Bryan.

ARCADIE SUNDAY AND MONDAY "HOW COME?"

There was only one Smith in the world of Annesley Grayle. It was nothing to her that the City Directory was populated and overcrowded with Smiths from whom she might make a reasonable choice. No. She had to marry Nelson Smith and he was a crook of such a violent deviation from "straight" that he had the police of two continents trying to catch up with him and give him board and lodging for life.

In a world full of gentle, Smiths, weekly Smiths, Smith brothers and kind Smiths, poor innocent, carefully guarded Annesley Grayle found herself bound at the matrimonial altar to the naughtiest, crookedest, smoothest, "darlingest" and "darlingest" Smith that ever wrote his name on a police blotter.

Some stars are in the ascendant, while others are gradually losing their brilliance. Carmel Myers, Universal's bright luminary, is fortunate enough to be in the former new beauty of face, charm of manner and deeper dra-

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the runs or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 15c and 30c a box.
