THE BEST-LOVED MEN

It isn't all in getting rich, it isn't all in winning fame,
A bigger thing than victory is how you've tried to play the game.
Success is keeping faith with men and standing true to what is best,
And finding joy in humble things and being fit for every test.
The good man need not come to wealth nor need he rise to world renown,
Not often is the richest man the best loved citizen in town;
You'll find he walks in humble ways and modest in the garb he wears,
And on his back from day to day life piles a multitude of cares.

His glow is a generous heart, a voice that carries hope and cheer,
A willingness to do his work, a wish to be of service here;
He asks no favored place from life, nor shirks the hardships in his way,
But meets all men with head erect and plays the friend from day to day.
The best loved man in any town is honest, manly, brave and true,
Sharing his life with all who live, doing what work he finds to do;
He may not climb the heights of fame nor come to treasure's golden fountain, but he is still accounted great in all God asks a man to be.

"THERE ARE SMILES"

(By Dr. William E. Barton)

A DISTINGUISHED man said in my hearing one day this week: "It is all well enough to force yourself to join in the thoughtless chorus of those who sing of packing up their troubles in their old kitbags and smiling, smiling; but no kit-bag is large enough to hold the world's troubles, nor is there at the present moment any ground for a smile. A baggage car will not hold our troubles; we should need a freight train."

He said much more, but this will answer.
There is a superficial optimism from which we may well deliver ourselves. It is of that sort which led the Persian kings to decree that any man should be put to death if he came into the royal presence with a sorrowful countenance. It is of that sort which would heal the world's sore by turning our back upon it; stifling its cry of destitution and despair with jazz music.

I find ground for optimism in the fact that the average man I meet would rather do me a kindness than an injury; that the normal impulses of human life are on the whole conducive to good living, and that there is in every man the possibility, and in most men the desire, of being better.

There are no kit-bags large enough to hold the world's troubles; they are real and very terrible. But the ships of the world are not great enough in their capacity to bear the good wishes and kindly deeds and golden hopes of mankind.

From the hollow, mechanical, thoughtless smile, may the good Lord deliver us; but for that faith that can "smile at Satan's rage and face a frowning world," as our grandmothers used to sing about it, let us thank God and take courage.

WHILE THE FOUNDATION IS INSECURE THE HOUSE WILL SHAKE

WITHIN 24 hours after the ways and means committee of the house had announced that the emergency tariff bill vetoed by President Wilson would be reenacted by congress, wheat took a drop in Chicago, touching the lowest point since 1916.

One might surmise from this that legislation, actual or proposed, has little effect on the wheat market. Further evidence along the same line is provided in the almost continuous decline in wheat and other commodities since the election of an administration pledged to a high tariff policy. When President Harding was elected last November wheat was above the $2 mark and there were people who thought it would quickly rise to $3 per bushel or more. On the contrary, the price has declined until yesterday March options sold below $1.50.

Had Governor Cox been elected president and had his election been followed by the price decline of recent months there are plenty of people who would be calling on Heaven to witness the disaster they had predicted. Since Cox was not elected, what is the explanation?

The answer is not hard to find. The law of supply and demand is the chief factor in the situation and that law is a bigger thing and more inexorable than most people have realized. But that is not all of the story. There has been another factor at work. The peace treaty, which has been the biggest factor in the world since the armistice was signed, is still in the air. Our Uncle Samuel has refused to ratify it. That has disturbed affairs and Germany is trying desperately to escape an indemnity. That means uncertainty with reference to the colossal sum of $57,000,000,000. Our allies, who incidentally are our wheat customers, do not know whether they will get that indemnity or not. Their credit is accordingly weakened by this instability and by the further fact they are obliged to keep substantial armies in the field. They cannot buy because financially they are all "balled up." Many months ago Julius Barnes, who is a republican and an expert on the wheat business, said that the failure of this country to ratify the treaty had hurt the wheat price to the extent of $1 per bushel. It looks like Mr. Barnes knew whereof he spoke.

What the East Oregonian knows about world politics and about finance might go into a very small book. Nevertheless, this journal has an opinion that the surest way to revive prosperity is to finish the treaty job and thereby end all uncertainty on that score. Let President Harding put his own version, if he wishes, on the treaty and the league covenant, but get the matter settled so that the various countries with which we do business will know where they are at and where they are going to be at during the next decade. By the very nature of things the peace treaty is the foundation of the world's economic system at present and nothing can change this fact. As long as the foundation is shaky the house will be shaky.

LADIES AID SOCIETY WILL GIVE SILVER TEA

(East Oregonian Special.)

ECHO, March 22.—J. Lorraine, traveling salesman for an aluminum company of Seattle, gives an aluminum tea kettle credit for saving his life last Friday afternoon. Mr. Lorraine left Echo Friday for Pendleton and when about 4 miles above here, his car skidded in the loose gravel and plunged down a steep bank and turned completely over. The aluminum utensils were scattered in all directions and one large tea kettle fell so that the radiator rested on it and enabled Mr. Lorraine to crawl from under the car and thus escaped with only a few minor scratches.

Don't Fool With a Cold (From the New York Sun.) We must repeat our warning against pneumonia, the most dangerous disease that prevails in this city, and which is extraordinarily prevalent at this time. Be on guard at all times against taking cold. Look out for it, if you take it. Gladstone used to go to bed and send for a doctor whenever he had a cold and consequently he got well in a very short time. "The Sun" is right and their warning should be heeded. For colds, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is excellent. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Persons past middle age should go to bed and take this remedy until recovered.

For a Bad Cold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain cure for bad colds. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in freeing the system of all symptoms of the cold. It is not a palliative that simply gives relief. It cures. They Make Your Feet Good at The pleasant purgative effect experienced by those who use Chamberlain's Tablets and the healthy condition of body and mind which they create makes one feel joyful.

What You Need for Constipation When troubled with constipation, what you need is a remedy that will produce a free movement of the bowels. A remedy that is mild and gentle in its action. A remedy that leaves the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. A remedy that is easy and pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Tablets meet all of these conditions. Try them and see for yourself. They only cost a quarter.

In 1850 they liked Folger's Coffee — so will you

In the homes of the Western pioneers, in the coffee houses and hotels of the early Fifties, Folger's Coffee was the "cup that cheered." From the days of hoop skirts and prairie schooners, "Folger's" has been the name of better coffee.

Through all these seventy years the Folger ideal has been to produce coffee of distinctive flavor. Folger's Golden Gate Coffee is the realization of that ideal.

Care in selecting only coffees of highest quality combined with skillful blending and roasting gives Folger's Golden Gate Coffee a uniformly good flavor—a flavor that never changes.

Find out for yourself how good it is. Ask your grocer for it.
