Dr. W. H. Campbell gave up the profession of medicine several years ago to engage in the pastime of growing wheat to feed the rest of the world. Occasionally he comes in from his ranch in the Cold Springs country and when he does those who do not agree with him on any subject usually know he is here. He is in Pendleton today as most anyone who favors starting the Cold Springs road from this end can testify. Dr. Campbell thinks it should be started at the river and built this way.

More than one foreman baffle. He usually brought victory to the lemon and yellow and otherwise gave promise of a brilliant career. He is now naturalization examiner for the state of Oregon and a large part of Washington and in such capacity is in Pendleton today.

forming citizens of other countries into citizens of the United States. They brought their lunches and enjoyed a picnic on the court house lawn during the noon hour. These in the party were Irene DuPuis, Myrtle Corley, Dorris Lunsden, Willard Ames, Lee Crawford, Roland Baker, Ralph Rothrock and Norman Wallan.

Opposes Salary Reductions. The county school superintendent's office is in receipt of a letter from E. D. Bessler, secretary-treasurer of the State Teachers' Assn., in which he voices opposition to any reduction in salaries paid to teachers. His letter in part follows: There is no justification for reduction of salaries for the reason that the shortage of qualified teachers is a permanent and not a temporary one. Not only did many teachers leave the profession during the war the normal schools lost attendances so that the normal supply has fallen behind year by year. Those schools which attempt to reduce salaries will find themselves either without teachers or with those who are least qualified and lacking in professional spirit and personality. As a matter of fact the present salaries are not war-time salaries but only a tardy partial acknowledgement of the inadequacy of the before-the-war salaries. There is a nation-wide movement to recruit and hold in the teaching ranks men and women of character and training. It will be a state and national disaster if school boards and communities do not sustain this movement.

Charged With Tire Theft. Charged with stealing tires from local cars, John Spencer and M. A. Olson were taken into custody Saturday night by Traffic Officer Loday and are being held at the county jail awaiting prosecution on a state complaint. The tires were stolen from cars belonging to A. B. Beyce and B. H. Olson.

Poultry Meeting Cancelled. The poultry meeting which was to have been held Wednesday evening, April 6, has been cancelled. This was deemed necessary because County Agent Bennison was unexpectedly called upon to go to Chicago. The next regular meeting of the club will be held the 13th of April and it is hoped that Prof. H. E. Cosby, O. A. C. extension poultryman, will be able to be present.

No Decision Made. Following a personal visit to the Cold Springs country Saturday Messrs. Booth and Barratt of the state highway commission, refrained from any decision or expression of sentiment as to what they will favor. Some, however, are placing significance on the fact the commissioners did not go to Cold Springs landing. It is understood that the two men who were here did not wish to act until they could consult with Commissioner Lyon, who did not make the trip.
