For a very interesting program Mrs. Winn Johnson read a paper, "The Halls of Memory," written by Mrs. Nancy E. Despain; Mrs. Lee Mouchouse read a paper on the early churches of Pendleton; Mrs. Overholt read a clipping from the East Oregonian of many years ago, describing a masquerade ball and gave a reading "Where Dreams Come True"; Mrs. William Blakeley gave incidents of the Indian life in early days, Mrs. Mary Lane sang "Lord Lovell," and Miss Betty Bond recited "Your Flag and My Flag."

PEON ON DEATH FARM GIVES HIS TESTIMONY REGARDING WILLIAMS

Two Men Forced to Throw 3 Negroes With Rock Sacks Around Neck Over Bridge.

COVINGTON, Ga., April 6.—(E. A. Shelton, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—The boys begged mightily hard, but Mr. John said throw them in the river. Me and Charley Chisholm pitched them over the bridge.

This statement was made by Clyde Manning, a negro, to the jury in the case of John S. Williams, on trial for the murder of 11 negroes killed on or near his Jasper county farm.

Manning said the "boys," he and Chisholm drowned were Lindley Peterson, Willie Preston and Harry Price, Peon farm hands on the Williams plantation. Chisholm later was killed to keep him from "talking," he alleged. "Boss, I don't recollect the exact date," said Manning, "but it was Saturday night late in February or early in March. Peterson and Preston were tied together and thrown in the Yellow river. They begged awful hard, but we had to throw them in the water. Price was drowned in the South river. Mr. Williams drove us in the Ever in his auto. The boys were killed a week after the government agents had talked to us about peon conditions." Special Prosecutor W. M. Howard asked Manning where Price was when Peterson and Preston were being drowned. "In the car," he answered.

WM. PENN OPERATED ON

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—(U. P.)—William Penn has been cured. Oh, didn't you know he was ill? He had dropsy and an operation has been completed and he came out just fine. William Penn is the statue at the top of City Hall tower.

However, the operation was more dangerous to the "surgeon" than to the patient. A workman climbed up the statue, bored holes in each one of Williams' limbs and drained two buckets of water out of each member. Now Mr. Penn has recovered sufficiently to receive callers. The entire tower is open to visitors for the first time since before the war.
