SENATOR STANFIELD POOLS INTEREST IN SHEEP CORPORATION

Move is Made Because Oregon Legislator is Unable to Attend to Varied Enterprises.

PORTLAND, April 6.—All of the interests of Senator Stanfield have been pooled into the R. N. Stanfield Company, a million dollar corporation with resources in excess of $2,000,000.

The board of directors, as thus far announced, consists of Robert N. Stanfield, Gerald E. Stanfield, Hugh L. Stanfield, J. B. Adrian, McHenry Hand and James H. Lane.

Mr. Hand is president of the Brownlee Sheep company; Mr. Lane is president of the Battle Creek Sheep company, and G. E. Stanfield is president of the Malheur Sheep and Land company.

Into the R. N. Stanfield company have been combined the 31 corporations, companies and partnerships in which the senator is identified.

In the past, Senator Stanfield's activities have been varied and his has been a one-man organization. His election to the United States senate precluded his giving the personal attention to his enterprises such as has characterized his operations in the past.

Policy is for Expansion. The company will conduct a policy of expansion rather than of contraction. Senator Stanfield is optimistic as to the sheep and wool situation.

There is a tremendous shortage of sheep in the United States for which has been a reduction of 10,000,000 in the past two years. The population of sheep is increasing, while the ranges are depleted of breeding stock, especially in Montana and Wyoming.

Details of the combine were completed yesterday and last night. Senator Stanfield departed for Washington.

WORKERS PLAN TO CONTROL INDUSTRIES HARD NUT TO CRACK

ROME, April 6.—(Henry Wood, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Italy's hopes of finding a panacea for all industrial ills by granting workmen the right of exercising an advisory control of the industries in which they are employed are little nearer being realized than when Premier Giolitti first advanced the idea.

The trouble is that the workmen and the industrialists cannot agree upon the precise nature of the bill to be introduced by the government in regard to the industries to be controlled.

Before the precise measure can be formulated that will give satisfaction to both sides and be finally enacted into law, it is very likely that Italy will witness one or two changes of government.

Following the announcement of Giolitti last fall, at the time Italian workmen were occupying factories and endeavoring to sovietize them, that he would introduce in parliament a bill granting workmen control of the industries, a joint commission was appointed by him to draw up the proposed measure.

In the end it was unable to agree upon a joint measure and as a consequence both sides turned in to Giolitti a measure of their own.

This in turn met with many objections from both sides and had to be repeatedly modified. The bill as it now stands before the Italian parliament provides that separate machinery for control shall be organized for the eleven principal categories of industries.

From the industries to be "controlled" here are excluded all industries run by the state, or by municipalities those which have not been in operation for more than four years and those which employ less than sixty workmen.

The workmen of each of the eleven categories of industries will elect their
