JUDGE LINDSEY HAS NOT YET RECEIVED SENTENCE OF COURT

Lindsey Refused to Reveal Information on Murder Case Confided to Him by Child.

DENVER, April 16.—(U. P.)—Further legal steps in the criminal court delayed the final execution of sentence on juvenile Judge Lindsey, who was ordered to pay a $500 fine or serve a year in jail, for contempt of court. Lindsey refused to reveal the alleged information on a murder case which was confided to him by the son of the woman involved.

Judge Makes Statement
By Judge Ben H. Lindsey, (written for the United Press)—Isn't it a beautiful thing that children are willing to confide in someone whom they trust? I know of no greater compliment to our courts than that perhaps one half of the children we deal with come voluntarily. Do you think this would be the case unless they had faith and confidence in its administration of justice? It is a tribute to the power of understanding, and of sympathy wisely used with firmness which commands respect and obedience. The public would scarcely believe it but over 200 children have come to me within the past year with their private troubles and cases that involve delicate offenses which ordinarily are difficult to learn or correct.

GAME WARDEN PLANS NEW FISH HATCHERY

Plans for the fish hatchery near Bingham Springs are being made by Captain A. R. Burshdoff, state game warden, who with George Tonkin, former district game warden now U. S. game warden, is in Pendleton today. The plan for the hatchery includes the bringing of egg sacs to Bingham where they would be cared for in troughs until they reach the fingerling stage after which the streams of this county would be stocked with the young trout.
Captain Burshdoff and Mr. Tonkin attended the Sportsmen's and Tourists' Fair at Spokane this week and Mr. Tonkin believes that Pendleton could put on just such a show. The fair, which had exhibits from Montana, Oregon, Idaho and Washington, was attended by thousands of people. Wallawa county was the only Oregon county which showed an exhibit. Captain Burshdoff, Mr. Tonkin, U. S. Game Warden Steel, of Portland, U. S. Game Warden Ransom, of Spokane, U. S. Game Warden Muschbeck of Billings, and Otto M. Jones, Idaho state game warden, were in charge of a musical booth. Captain Burshdoff made a talk at a banquet held last night in connection with the fair and gave assurance of the co-operation of Oregon with other states in matters of interest to sportsmen.
Mr. Tonkin is interested in the recent crow and magpie shoot held here and is investigating the results with a view toward advocating them in other parts of the state.

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS HELD AN INTERESTING MEETING LAST NIGHT

Union Labor Does Not Act From Selfish Motives, Works in Interest of All Workers.

"That union labor does not act from selfish motives but does its work in the interest of all workers and that the labor of the organization branches reacts to the benefit of all men and women who work was a statement made last night at a meeting held in Union hall which was attended by a large crowd. The special speakers of the evening were O. R. Hartwig, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor and C. M. Ryerson, editor of the Oregon Labor Press.
The meeting last night was the third one of a series that is being held in Pendleton by labor organizations, and the appearance here of the Portland men who are prominent in the work over the state was only one of many such meetings they are attending in educational work which they are doing in a tour of the state. Other meetings in the immediate future are planned for Huntington, Baker and La Grande and other points in this section of the state.
Relations between employers and employees are cordial now, the speakers declared, and an excellent spirit pending to make for better understanding of mutual problems exists. The recent settlement of the contention between contractors and the builders' trades at Portland was used as an example of this spirit. In commenting on general conditions on the coast Mr. Hartwig, among other things, said:
"The city of Portland, our largest industrial center, has during the period of adjustment following the war been recognized as the best town of the coast. Business conditions have been better, and unemployment has not been so great as in other coast cities. This condition, we believe, direct result of the 'Get-together' spirit which existed with employers and employees during the trying times of the war. The recent adjustment of the building trades dispute in Portland, is a splendid example of the methods we have adopted."

AUTO CLUB REPORTS MOST ROADS OF THIS SECTION FAVORABLY

Elimination of Detours is Sign of Better Travel; Dry Weather Prevails.

Many of the roads in this section are in their best condition at the present time according to the central office of the Eastern Oregon Auto Club in this city, which is making weekly reports on roads for the information of all automobilists. Plans of the past week have only helped the dirt roads which were getting dusty in places. Only in the mountains is there still trouble from muddy roads. Travel the main highway without detours seems to be the order of the day at the good roads club office as all drivers are routed over the highways. Much construction work is being done by the state and county in this immediate section. Pendleton-Pilot Rock road is being graveled as is Cabbage Hill on the Old Oregon Trail. Graveled is also being laid at Hills and some in the west end of the county at Hermiston. County Road Master Shultson is pleased with the outlook for roads this season in Umatilla county.

CREEKS BETTER THAN RIVER FOR FISHING IS ANGLERS' REPORT

Anglers who are going out to catch the elusive trout should go to the creeks in preference to trying the river, and better success will probably result from using bait rather than flies. This was the experience of many fishermen yesterday on the opening day of the season.
Many parties were out, and several good catches were reported. The water is still a little murky, however, and the streams are a little high for the best of luck yet.
Guy Matlock, Jim Estes and Ed Barrn got 40 as a result of their joint on the Lower Birch yesterday. The catch represented members of the fly fishing club that ranged in length from six inches to twelve inches.
A party headed by Dr. P. L. Ingram caught the limit on East Birch. Otto Nelson caught 22 good ones along the Upper McKay. A party consisting of Leskie Gibbs, Forrest Blake and John Manning got a nice string on their baits. Many other parties were out along the streams, many of them getting good strings.
