NEWS OF FARM AND RANGE

SHEEP SHEARING IS UNDER WAY IN PLANT AT ECHO THIS WEEK

Force of 24 Men Get Busy With Machines on Flocks of Big Owners; Prices Are Lower.

Spring sheep shearing started this week at the big plant near Echo, with J. C. Wattenberger, who has handled the shearing in this neighborhood for the past 27 years. He has a crew of 24 men to do the work. Shearing will start later on a land of sheep belonging to Joe Monese. Following this the Cunha sheep, part of the Stanfield flock and a number from the Antonio Vey ranch will be sheared. There will be less sheep at the plant than for a long time. One of the reasons for the reduction in numbers is the fact that so many of the Stanfield sheep have been moved to the Huntington district. Mr. Wattenberger estimates that there will not be to exceed 20,000 sheep sheared here this spring. This will take about three weeks. After completing the local work the crew will move to the Huntington district, where they will work well into the summer. No definite price has been fixed for shearing this year, but it is probable that the price will be the same as in adjoining districts. In Morrow county the shepherds have fixed the rate at 19 cents per head, and double price for bucks, with board.

Thrips Break Out
Thrips, which caused considerable damage to the prime crop of Oregon a few years ago, has reappeared, according to a bulletin sent out by the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association.

Planter Has System
Scott Hamster, formerly of Weston, known in this county as "Hough and Ready," has introduced a new system of plowing on his wheat ranch near La Grange, Wash. He has chained three three-bottom row plows together and pulls them with two dozen head of horses.

Two hens of Sam Hill's poultry yard at Weston occupy the same nest. One is a diminutive hen, and the other is under the larger hen's wing. When the latter left the nest the former followed her. The two are inseparable. The larger hen regards the smaller as a newly-hatched chicken.

Wheat in Fine Shape
All reports from the wheat districts are that the fall wheat is in the best condition seen for years, and there is indication of a bumper crop. East of Echo the grain is 12 to 15 inches high, with a thick stand. As the ground is still full of moisture there is every prospect of the grain making a large yield. Spring wheat is also looking fine.

Potatoes In Ground
G. H. Fams, prominent potato grower of Weston mountain has not yet unearthed at least 1200 bush of his 1920 potato crop. Mr. Fams has no fear of not being able to dispose of this amount between the present time and harvest.

Taxes totaling about $663,000 are collected directly by the government on cigarettes, soft drink beverages, movie admissions and tobacco for each Sunday of the year. This was estimated on the basis of one-seventh of the total tax collections from these sources with the exception of tobacco. From this source only one-twentieth or 5 per cent was subtracted, since it is assumed that Sunday closing of tobacco shops would not reduce sales in direct proportion to the period when purchases could not be made. Addicts of the weed, it is assumed, would stock upon Saturday.

BLUE LAW AND UNCLE SAM'S TAX BUDGET

BY RALPH FORD COUCH (United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, April 21.—Sunday closing of movies, soda fountains, tobacco stores and the like, as urged by blue law enthusiasts, would cost the federal government nearly $1,000,000 a Sunday in reduced taxes. It was estimated here today on the basis of returns of the Internal Revenue Bureau. The loss of $2,000,000 a year is a mere drop in the bucket to the government, which last year collected nearly $5,500,000,000 in taxes, according to blue law proponents. This shortage could easily be made up through taxes from other sources, it is urged. A federal anti-cigarette law, proposed by those behind the legal purification movement, would cost the government approximately $150,000,000 a year. That was the amount collected last year on cigarettes. A law forbidding the sale of tobacco in all forms would mean a loss of nearly $285,000,000 a year. In this connection it is disclosed that snuff, so much affected by our grandfathers, has not yet completely gone out of fashion. Snuff taxes last year netted the government nearly $7,000,000 or nearly $2,000,000 more than the year before.
