BEST PICTURE HERE IN "LAST OF THE MOHICANS"

"Never has such a picture been booked at the Arcade Theatre," was the verdict of Manager Guy Matlock of that popular house after he had seen Maurice Tourneur's picture of "The Last of the Mohicans" by J. Fenimore Cooper, which is now showing.

"There is everything for everybody" he continues "and not a member of the family can miss it, because it pleases the old folks by bringing happy remembrances of other days, for the middle class—the fathers and mothers of today—the appeal is strong because of the personal entertainment element with the value of the picture solely as an amusement. These parents have another interest, that of educating their children, for Cooper's famous book is used in school work, and by seeing the film, the youngsters are doubly impressed, and their interest in literature is stimulated.

"Then for the boys and girls: What kid has not played Indian and enjoyed it? Not a one, indeed. Therefore for every lad and lassie of Pendleton will have the very time of their lives at the Arcade when this big historical picture is shown.

"Every American in whose veins flows the blood of our forefathers, wants to see this thrilling picture. I could go on for an hour and tell of the wonderful scenic beauties—the mountains—the splendid acting, stage settings and photographs.

Maurice Tourneur presents The Last of the Mohicans

Jewel production, "Under Crimson Skies," featuring the Colossus of the screen, Elmo Lincoln.

"Under Crimson Skies," is an original story by J. G. Hawks and is reminiscent of the virile tales of the sea by Jack London and Robert Louis Stevenson. It tells the story of Hank Marston, master of the Southern Cross, who is sailing to a South American port with a cargo of pianos. Clayton, owner of the cargo, and his wife and baby daughter are the only passengers aboard, taking a shipment of rifles and ammunition to be used in a rebellion, and the firearms are stored in the empty piano cases. The second mate and part of the crew are in his employ. During a storm at sea Captain Barstow discovers that he is carrying contraband, and when he threatens to put Clayton to iron the crew mutinies. He is forced to shoot the ringleader, and Clayton's wife, who arrives on the scene too late to witness the mutiny, believes Barstow's action sheer brutality.

When the Southern Cross docks at the Latin port, Clayton and the crew accuse the captain of attempted manslaughter on the high seas, and he is tried by a marine court martial. Keeping silent on account of his love for Clayton's wife and baby, he is sentenced to prison, from which he escapes and becomes master of a band of beachcombers after vanquishing the leader of the lawless mob.

How the revolution starts and threatens to engulf the conspirators, how Barstow and his gang of beachcombers come to the aid of the besieged Americans at the consulate and how he regains his liberty and reputation are told in a series of intensely interesting scenes.

Rex Ingram directed the production, which engages the services of many clever players and which is rich in artistic photography.

ALTA TODAY

Elaine Hammerstein, the popular, beautiful and talented Selznick star, will again be the principal attraction at the Alta theatre, this time in her latest and strongest photoplay, "The Daughter Pays," an adaptation of the story by Mrs. Baile Reynolds.

Robert Ellis, who is responsible for Kaye O'Brien's last two big screen hits, directed Miss Hammerstein in "The Daughter Pays" and he also plays an important role in the production.

The plot in brief deals with the revenge of a monomaniac upon the woman who had slighted him in earlier years, but which he has never forgiven or forgotten. The man, Osbert Gaunt, was jilted by his fiancée because of a rival who possessed greater wealth. At the time the story opens

Lives to See the Prescription He Wrote in 1892 the Worlds Most Popular Laxative Remedy

DR. W. B. CALDWELL TODAY
Born Shelbyville, Mo., March 27, 1829
Began the manufacture of his famous prescription in 1892

Founder of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, long past Biblical old age, but hale and hearty—Still sees patients daily—Wonderful achievement of a "country doctor."

WHEN I started to practice medicine, back in 1875, there were no pills or tablets or salt waters for the relief of constipation, and no artificial remedies made from coal tar.

The prescription for constipation that I used early in my practice, and which I put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid remedy, and I have never had reason to change it. I intended it for women, children and elderly people, and these need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

I am gratified to say that under successful management my prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that over eight million bottles were sold by druggists last year proves that it has won the confidence of mothers whose chief interest is the health of their children.

It is particularly pleasing to me to know that the biggest half of those eight million bottles were bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for grownups. The price of a bottle holding 50 average treatments is sixty cents; such a bottle will last a family several months.

I have never made a secret of what is in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. These ingredients are endorsed in the U. S.

Pharmacopoeia. I consider Syrup Pepsin today in the serious 82nd year of my age, as I did in 1892, the best remedy a family can have in the house for the safe relief of constipation and its accompanying ills, such as headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and I believe if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

the wheel of Fortune had turned, and Gaunt is now wealthy, and his old sweetheart is a widow with three grown-up children and a very meagre income. Gaunt conceives the idea that he will marry the daughter and then proceed to make her existence as miserable as his fantastic imagination can conceive. Part of the plan proceeds as per schedule; he marries the daughter, but from then on the situation takes an unforeseen turn. The outcome of it all will be shown in what is said to be one of the most brilliant bits of screen fiction seen for some time.

An exceptional cast, with Norman Trevor, Theresa Maxwell Conover, Robert Ellis and others of equal fame support Miss Hammerstein in the presentation of "The Daughter Pays."

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $25,000 BANK DEPOSITS

CHICAGO, April 22.—(U. P.)—Five bandits held up two officials of the Amberg State Bank and escaped with $25,000 which was being taken to the Union Trust Company for deposit.

INTRODUCE ANTI-VAMPIRE BILL. CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 22.—(A. P.)—An "anti-vampire" bill, designed to protect the sanctity of the home, has been introduced in the West Virginia legislature by Senator Harner, of Charlesburg.

The measure provides that if any husband or wife suspects another person of being unduly familiar with his or her mate, they may appear before a justice of the peace, swear to the facts in the case, and then send a written warning to the person lavishing the attention upon the said mate. In event the recipient of the warning fails to take heed and cease the "vamping" methods, the justice shall cause his or her arrest, summon them into court, and, if adjudged guilty of the charge, a fine of up to $100 shall be assessed.

CLAIMS OLDEST SPINSTER. WARSAW, April 22.—(A. P.)—Poland claims the oldest spinster in Central Europe. She is Miss Anna Dobek, living in Chocholow, who recently celebrated her 124th birthday. Miss Dobek is still quite active, physically and mentally, and does some house work each day.

She also has a sense of humor, and to her acquaintances, attributes her longevity to the fact that she has never been bothered by having a man about the house. Miss Dobek doesn't like cats, either.
