PLAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

A comedy with a strong element of pathos is "The Well of the Saints," J. M. Synge's play presented last night at the State Hospital Auditorium by eleven members of the Thursday Afternoon Club, who faithfully depicted the lives of the simple Irish peasants of a century or more ago.

The story is that of a poor beggar and his wife, each blind, and each believing that the other is good to look upon. Through a miracle performed by a saint, sight is restored to the two and disillusionment begins. The beggar discovers that his beloved is not beautiful and she, in turn, is disgusted by the crudity of her husband. At this point in the play the husband becomes distinctly modern in type and is irritated with a girl who embodies the beauty and charm which during the beggar's years of sightlessness, he believed were possessed by his wife. Even the girl's secret does not convince the man that his wife is quite his equal, if not his superior, and it is not until sight is taken from the two that they are reunited. The saint offers to restore sight to the couple but they refuse, valuing contentment beyond all else.

As Martin Donl, the beggar, Mrs. H. W. Dickson skillfully portrayed the varying moods of the character and invested the part with a touch of tragedy which was in striking contrast to the comedy element which prevailed. Donl, despite his ludicrously stout and ponderous figure, was so artistic as he sought the ideal he had treasured for years. Mrs. A. S. Somer, as the wife, was excellent. She showed fidelity to the role and an understanding of the character portrayed. Miss Beth Smith, as the beautiful Molly Byrne, beloved by Donl and Mrs. R. S. Burroughs, as Timmy, the smith, played their parts very cleverly. Miss Edna Gates was the wandering friar and her acting was especially good, her voice being remarkably well suited to the lines. Mrs. G. J. Boyden and Mrs. Harold Warner were attractive in their roles of peasant girls while Mrs. William E. Lowell, as Patch Ruanth, and Mrs. A. Fred Lockwood as Mat Simon, were typical Irish peasants both in make-up and acting. Mrs. George Hartman, as a peasant youth and Mrs. H. L. Burroughs, as a deaf Irishwoman, carried on some laughable by-play.

The costume was a pleasing feature and with the stage setting, which showed an out-door scene in the mountainous district in the East of Ireland, added much to the realism of the play. Mrs. Wilson D. McNary who directed the production and to whom is attributed much of the success of the play, gave a short introduction before the curtain rose. Mrs. F. E. Boyden and Mrs. Willard Bond, who were hostesses for the evening, have also been active in making arrangements for the presentation.

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

Whooping Cough
This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.

Evils of Constipation
Perhaps the most serious of the diseases caused by constipation is appendicitis. If you would avoid this dangerous disease, keep your bowels regular. For this purpose Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent, easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. Chamberlain's Tablets are Mild and Gentle in Effect. The laxative effect of Chamberlain's Tablets is so mild and gentle that you can hardly realize that it has been

FARMER FROM ALBERTA INQUIRES ABOUT FARM LAND IN THIS COUNTY

For farmers of Umattila county who think the world is not treating them just as it should, here is a story that comes from Canada that makes this country seem like a garden spot.

H. M. Barr, a farmer in the province of Alberta, has written the Commercial Association asking information on farming conditions here. Among other things he wants to know the nature of the soil, whether the land is flat or rolling, the prices charged for grain and cash rent, the prices improved land is bringing and other facts of a similar nature.

"The only things we can sell for cash here are oats, which bring 10 cents a bushel and fat cattle, but the winters have been so cold that the cattle won't bring as much an even to feed them a single winter," he writes. "I am disgusted with the outlook here, and I plan to leave about June 1. I wish you would give me all the information you can including the prevailing prices for good cows, work horses and farm machinery."

His request will be complied with by the association.

WON IN 10TH

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—(A. P.)—Judge's triple to right field with two on base in the 10th won the last game of the series for Washington today, 4 to 2. Moore was knocked out of the box in the second, but Knefe pitched brilliant ball for Philadelphia until the 10th despite mediocre support.
