Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

OTHERS

We need the lives of others to make our own complete. It takes the smiles of neighbors to light our humble street; And all the joys we treasure would cold and soiled be Unless another wanted to share our victory.

For on a desert island where man must live alone, Though heaped with gold and silver which he could call his own, The stuff would lose its value and he would sigh for someone with whom his wealth to share.

Friendship is an empty glory without the friends who praise, From others comes the splendor which crowns the toil of days; There's none so great or humble but what at night must find That with the lives of many, his life is intertwined.

We must have kindly neighbors, we must have loyal friends, On them and all they give us the joy of life depends; The thing called Self is trifling, it makes success, defeat, We need the lives of others to make our lives complete.

WHERE MONDELL WAS RIGHT

IN passing the $400,000,000 naval appropriation bill the republican house organization under the leadership of Representative Mondell acted wisely in turning down efforts to make the appropriation contingent on a disarmament conference to be called by the president.

The subject of disarmament is at present in a nebulous stage. The American people by rejecting the League of Nations helped bring about this condition of affairs. The situation may be corrected under the Harding administration. The opportunity will be open to the president and he will have the country behind him if he wishes to undertake something real. But we will not get any where with such a move unless we are ready to go into the thing wholeheartedly and in good faith, willing to accept our responsibilities as well as demand our rights.

Meanwhile we have a possible quarrel with Japan and the administration at Washington is pledged to repeal the Panama canal tolls act which will seemingly be in conflict with an important treaty with England. We do not know just what is ahead of us nor does the rest of the world.

Under such conditions the advisability of a stronger navy should be plain and it is obvious to most people on the Pacific coast. Having rejected the most ambitious plan ever offered for promoting peace the logical course for this country is to keep its sea strength up to date, particularly so when England now has the mastery and Japan is building at a lively rate. To stop our naval betterments now would be like letting fire insurance policies lapse after having taken all the wheels off the fire truck.

ARE BUSINESS MEN SMART?

DR. EDWIN L. THORNDIKE, the Columbia University psychologist, has devised a system of intelligence tests intended to ascertain the mental abilities of prospective college students. They reveal not knowledge, understanding, but mental alertness, quick wit, perception. Recently he gave these tests to fifty leading business men of an eastern city. The results were astonishing. Not one of the business men was up to the average of the young students entering Columbia. And the general average of the business men was still further below that of the college students. Yet the business men were all regarded as the highest type, conspicuously successful. What does this indicate? I frankly do not know. It is not easy to believe that successful business men are less intelligent than college freshmen. Yet, perhaps, the affairs of this workaday world do dull our senses. I wonder if it isn't alarmingly easy to go to seed. And does proficiency in one special line of thought tend to rob us of our aptitude for everything else? Are we as smart as we think we are?—Fred Kelley in The Nation's Business.

Over at Seattle a man who was a war time investigator for the government was attacked by some I. W. W.s who stripped their victim and burned him with a torch. The poor fellows were perhaps drunk and merely meant to kill the man, so why should the department of justice worry.

Umatilla farmers are right in moving thoughtfully with reference to a new selling plan. Most anyone can see that a capably managed cooperative sales plan can accomplish good but there is such a thing as getting from the frying pan into the fire.

If the fruit growers of the Salem district are not expecting too much they may have their hopes realized this year—Salem Statesman. The nearness of the penitentiary evidently makes Salem editors guarded in their remarks.

The French are not moved by German walls of poverty. The French had an experience they have not forgotten and who can blame them for demanding that the invader pay the damage bill.

If Union and Umatilla counties work together the problems regarding the road over the mountains can be solved. The subject is of sufficient importance to justify real attention.

Owing to a fisherman's strike they are not catching salmon on the Columbia this season; maybe this will help out the mutton market.

With wages coming down the worker is entitled to reduced living costs.

28 YEARS AGO

(From the Daily East Oregonian, May 5, 1893.)

Dave Adams is in the city from his mountain ranch near Weston. He reports an immense amount of moisture there.

A big round-up was started from Umatilla on Wednesday. There were about 40 horsemen in the party and they will gather some 40,000 horses that range on the north side of the Columbia river and are owned by Switzer Brothers and other parties.

To produce the body of a murdered man at court as evidence, a Canadian Northwest Mounted Police officer "mashed" by dog team four hundred miles south to the nearest justice's court on the River Fliver producing the body at the trial of the murderer who was captured deep in the northwest wilderness.

EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY.

New styles in dogs as well as new styles in colors have arrived as a result of new White Home occasions. Carlo the Collie (lower right) once reigned supreme. Then came Pearl the Pomeranian (upper left). Pete the European police dog (lower left) supplanted Pearl after the war. Then came Brutus the bull (upper right). Now President Harding has returned to us anything to do with a bulldog offered by an admirer, prefecteur Ludovic Roy, his Alfreddo (center). So Alfreddo it will be—for the present at least.

Which Paint Costs Less?

NOTE how the best paint spreads easier and covers more square yards than cheap paint does.

Figure in the extra gallons of cheap paint that you must buy and the extra cost of application.

It means that cheap paint costs just as much as good paint on the house.

The best paint then gives five or more years' protection to your property investment. Cheap paint on the average, starts cracking in twelve months. Which paint costs less?

72 Years' Experience
The house paints we specify for your home are the result of 72 years' experience in making paints and varnishes for every purpose. Made to stand the peculiarities of western weather.

The best material—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, zinc and color—are combined with long-time skill, in scientifically exact proportions.

Our white lead base must pass through a silk screen with 40,000 meshes to the square inch. A patented purifier makes it "whiter," so Fuller paints are exceptionally clear-toned. The paint when finished and applied on the house is a beautiful, elastic, tough, protective coating.

Such paint costs but a trifle more to buy per gallon and is five to ten times more economical in service.

Don't allow surfaces to rot. It costs less to paint them.
