MOTH ER'S DAY

Tender, gentle, brave and true, Loving us whate'er we do! Waiting, watching at the gate For the footsteps that are late, Sleepless through the hours of night Till she knows that we're all right. Pleased with every word we say-That is ever mother's way.

Others sneer and turn aside, Mother welcomes us with pride; Over-boastful of us, too, Glorying in all we do. First to praise and last to blame, Love that always stays the same. Following us where'er we stray-That is ever mother's way.

PRICES AND MONEY

THE price index of the Bureau of Labor statistics shows a further decline of about 3 points from last month and leaves the average price level at about 62 per cent above prewar figures as contrasted with a peak figure of about 172 approximately a year ago. This fall of 110 points is equivalent to a shrinkage in the actual price level of April, 1920, of about 40 per cent and is probably the most remarkable movement of of Portland Council. the kind in recent financial history. As the government figures show, however, the price decline is coming to an end in the wholesale field although some adjustments remain to be made. A great deal is still to be done in adjusting the relation between retail and wholesale prices. The increase in the supply of time money has been noticeable during the past week and there is distinct evidence of improvement in the banking outlook at many points throughout the country. , While this improvement has not been paralleled abroad, the tendency in both Great Britain and France is toward better conditions.

Although reactions in some stocks have occurred from time to time during the past week many have held the gains they scored a week ago. The volume of trading has been on a moderate basis and it has been largely concentrated in comparatively few issues. Improvement in the oils, coppers and automobiles has again been noted and the steel shares in spite of some professional selling have in the main held their own well. There has been a better tone in the railroad list and while sugar and some other issues have suffered the decline has not been marked. The immediate future of the market is of course very dependent upon developments both at home and abroad and until a good deal of the uncertainty is removed the market will no doubt continue to back and fill; ;nevertheless, even the professional trading element is beginning to realize that while prices give way here and there when special drives are made against them, long stock does not come out in sufficient quantity dent of senate. to make any deep or lasting impression on values, which carries with it the conviction that the trend is in the direction of better Mrs. Josephine C.
