It took Ehrlich 696 experiments to discover a way to give a man arsenic enough to kill syphilis germs in his blood without running the risk of killing him. He called the result 6-0-6 or "salvarsan." In this country the United States government supervises its production through the Hygienic Laboratory of the Public Health Service and calls it arsphenamine.

The U. S. Public Health Service estimates that at least 500 and possibly 1000 lepers are at large in the United States, and that the number is increasing. The government did not start work on its Federal Home for Lepers a minute too soon.
