MANY FRENCH SPORTSMEN PLAN TO JOURNEY TO U. S. WHEN BIG FIGHT IS STAGED BY GEORGES

Many Fans From Over Pond Will Back Carpentier When He Battles Dempsey for Belt.

PARIS, May 17.—(Webb Miller, U. P. Staff Correspondent)—July 2, 1921, when Georges Carpentier climbs through the ropes to face Jack Dempsey will be the most important date in the sporting history of France.

For the first time a Frenchman has attained the status of an international figure in the boxing world and France as a nation is backing its "idol" and fervently hoping for his success.

The nation-wide interest is intensified by the fact that France as a whole is decidedly backward in a sporting way—especially in boxing, which is an Anglo-Saxon game. And this is the first time a man representing France has been able to meet an Anglo-Saxon as an equal. Coupled with this is Carpentier's extraordinary popularity. If Carpentier knocks out Dempsey he will take the place as the greatest of France's sporting heroes.

Now that the date is definitely fixed the "cave dopsters" are beginning to figure on Carpentier's chances. The lurid word pictures of Dempsey as the "ferocious tiger-man" have served to dampen somewhat the optimism of the dopsters. The most optimistic of them manage to convince themselves that Georges has a "fifty-fifty" chance, at least, taking Dempsey's record and weight into consideration.

Their main reason seems to center on the "lucky first punch" and Carpentier's previous demonstrated ability to deliver this punch. They are convinced that the fight will not last many rounds and that it will be a hammer-and-tongs affair from the first gong. The dopsters comfort themselves with the idea that Carpentier is faster than Dempsey and may be able to utilize this speed in the first few rounds to land the "lucky punch."

According to this café chatter, Carpentier's whole plan of campaign is based on this idea. He will start trying to land the knockout from the instant the gong rings. The general idea is that Dempsey will try to do exactly the same thing.

The sporting element is planning upon an unprecedented migration to New York to see the mix-up. According to present indications France will send more adherents to cheer Georges than have ever traveled such a distance on a similar errand. Meanwhile Georges has not been content to rest upon his laurels as Europe's premier boxer. He has been busy gathering in the pounds, kronen, pesetas, guilders and francs that go with the laurels. In the past two months Carpentier with his sparring partner has toured England, Sweden, Denmark, Spain and Algeria, slugging his hardy sparring partner with one hand and raking in the coin with the other. His friends claim that he has amassed more than any other European fighter ever dreamed of getting—enough so that Georges isn't worrying whether the Germans pay or not.

Likewise with characteristic Gallic foresight Georges is salting away the accrued income in his aluminum business and coal mines in Lens. The net result is that Georges won't have to worry about the wolf at the door if he should happen to wake up July 2 with Dempsey standing over him.

Unlike most fighters with his prestige, Carpentier isn't trying to cut much of a figure in the well-known night life of Paris. Only occasionally is he seen in the all night joints in the Rue Caumartin and even then he keeps training hours and dabbles little with the sparkling wines.

At present, Carpentier is figuring on retiring after the little affair of July 2—win or lose—and devote himself to his business interests.

The total score in the 4,000 point match now stands—Schafer 3,560; Horemans 2,131.

PADDOCK'S ILLNESS TO PREVENT HIM GOING EAST

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—(A. P.)—Charles Paddock, student at the University of Southern California and Olympic sprint champion, is recovering from an illness which has kept him in his bed for more than a week, but through his father last night he issued a statement reiterating his intention not to compete in meets at Harvard and Chicago next month. He also stated that he would be unable to enter the Pacific conference meet at Eugene, Or., next Saturday, as his physician had forbidden it.

Paddock said he had not received a telegram from those in charge of the Harvard meet offering to have Harvard professors conduct his examinations and permitting him to pick his own opponents. He said, however, the former suggestions was not feasible and the latter not in keeping with his idea of sportsmanship.

In the Alaska Gold Rush of 1902

When thousands of men rushed to Alaska for gold, it was necessary to ship in sufficient food to last through the long winter months. In such a climate, coffee, when packed in the ordinary way, deteriorates rapidly, but Hills Bros., who originated the vacuum process several years previously, were there with Red Can Coffee, packed in vacuum cans, insuring the Klondikers of having their coffee as fresh and flavorful as when at home.
