ALTA TODAY

"Kismet," with the luminable Otis Skinner, a Robertson-Cole release, which was shown last night at the Alta Theatre, is the greatest photoplay of a decade.

In the first place, the combination of Otis Skinner and "Kismet" assures the movie fan of something worth while. Here is a real story, written by an American dramatist, in which the greatest of American character actors appears.

For three consecutive seasons Mr. Skinner played the part of Hall, on the legitimate stage. With him during this time was Hamilton Revelle, who, in the picture, plays his old role, that of the Mansur, Rosemary Theby as Kut-al-Kulib and Effner Fair as Marimah, give excellent performances.

One of the most thrilling sights possible on the screen is the sinking of a ship in a storm—even if the storm is "made to order." But there are storms—and storms. Those who were concerned in the making of the storm scene in "The Scuttlers," which will be shown at the Arcade Theatre today declare they got the thrill of their lives. Even William Farnum, the popular William Fox star, who has been in many thrilling scenes, says this scene surely made his red blood run fast. And the cameraman who photographed the picture are willing to sign a statement that they want no more thrills of this calibre.

The action took place outside of San Francisco on board a 220-foot ship, taken over by the Fox company for the purpose. J Gordon Edwards was directing the picture. The day was rather mean and threatening, but this gave the gray light necessary for the scene. Mr. Edwards intended to pump the storm from the ocean in the customary motion picture way, but the vessel had hardly pushed its way beyond the three-mile limit when, rain began to fall, and a high wind dashed the waves over the ship. At first Mr. Edwards, as he balanced himself on the rolling deck, thought it would be well to return to port. "Just the kind of weather we want," Farnum insisted. "Put an umbrella over the camera, Gordon—and this ought to be corking stuff."

GERANIUMS ATTRACT ATTENTION IN LOCAL DRUG STORE WINDOW

Geraniums of extraordinary size and beauty are the two on display at the Keppien Drug Store where they have been admired by a number of Pendleton people. The variety of the plant is not known, but they are used in beds. A border composed strictly of this one variety attracts a great deal of attention in the Portland city park. The flowers were grown by Mrs. F. W. Keppien, and six monster blossoms were produced on one small plant. The blossoms are salmon colored and one of the two on display measures 1 1/2 inches in circumference.
