MENNONITES SEEK FOR RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., May 20.—The pursuit of the mirage of religious freedom was taken up again today by 50,000 Mennonites. For four centuries this sect has followed the phantom. Arrangements are now completed for the transportation of a colony now residing in Canada to land purchased in Mexico for $5,000,000. The Mennonites have sought asylum where they could live in freedom and practice their religion in Holland, Germany, Switzerland and all through central Europe. With the passing of successive generations, they settled in thousands near the sea of Azov, Russia, under a promise of religious freedom. The promise was rescinded half a century ago and Canada became their mecca. Compulsory military service, enforced in Canada during the late war, started the trouble between the colony and the government.

H. T. Hopkins, formerly editor of The Dalles Chronicle, is now bureau manager of the International News Service and has headquarters in Portland. He is here on business today.

Fighter

Mrs. Frank Noster, candidate for council at Terre Haute, Ind., is a fighting politician. She made no other all up when she told them her investigations showed that heading whisky was being delivered to a high school where their children were pupils.

WHEAT EXAMINATIONS WILL BE EMPHASIZED HERE DURING SUMMER

Special Attention Will be Paid to Turkey Red and Certain Other Varieties.

Grain certification and examination of fields of Turkey Red, Bluestem, Jenkins Club, Red Chaff and Triplet wheat in Umatilla county will be emphasized this summer, according to Fred Bension, county agriculture agent who returned this morning after a visit to the Union, Hermiston and Sherman county experiment stations, made in company with other agents of Eastern Oregon and O. A. C. experts.

Not much attention will be given to Hybrid No. 128, says Mr. Bension, as it is pretty well standardized in this county. The other varieties, however, are quite badly mixed and efforts will be made to produce cleaner seed. This point was emphasized at the meeting of the agents at Moro, where the Sherman county station, the largest dry land wheat farming experiment station in the Northwest, is located. Besides making plans for the work of agents during the summer, the visitors saw some interesting exhibits of smut resistant wheat and high yielding varieties.

New Methods Seen. At the Hermiston station, the agents from counties which have some irrigated land noted the experiments in
