

CONGRESS DRY LEADERS DETERMINED TO HAVE PROHIBITION ENFORCED

Inquiry Made to See if Someone in Treasury Department is Trying to Hamper Law.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—(Herbert W. Walker, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Alarmed at an apparently prevailing laxity in prohibition enforcement, the dry leaders in congress are determined to force strict compliance with the law. At present an inquiry is being made quietly by some of the house members to determine whether "someone" in the treasury department is trying to hamper the enforcement of the dry law, as was recently charged on the floor of the house.

The dries are aroused because the treasury department released 100 of the 1,200 dry agents a few days ago when the appropriation allotments expired, without warning congress of the situation or asking for an additional amount. Senator Volstead of Minnesota, believes a big blow to prohibition work was dealt by this reduction, and that the house action in promptly voting an emergency appropriation of $200,000 will only partially repair the damage which he claims has been done.

LATEST STYLE SECRET: ***** WOMEN ROUGE KNEES TO ***** MAKE THEM BEAUTIFUL

NEW YORK, May 26.—(Harold D. Jacobs, U. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Latest style secret, women are rouging their knees. But, according to Sidney Brooks, who made this revelation today, it will not be a secret very long if the girls continue to wear 'em shorter and roll 'em lower. Brooks, a former hair dresser in the czar's palace, now manager of a beauty parlor in the Waldorf Astoria, said his assistants are now being called to initiate clients in the art of beautifying their knees.

BEAVERS WIN FROM BEES
SALT LAKE CITY, May 26.—(A. P.)—Excellent pitching by Johnson gave the Beavers a victory over Salt Lake yesterday 5 to 2. Leverage also pitched good ball, but Portland's hits were bunched. Brown and Krug hit home runs. Sammy Hale, infielder, joined Portland from Detroit today and played his first coast league game.

FEAR WESTERN WAG IS TRYING TO HAVE LITTLE FUN WITH U. S. ARMY

Charley Stepinthemud Wants
Compensation for Century of Service; Gives Age as 130.

They very much fear in the office of the Quartermaster General at Washington that a western wag has been trying to have a little fun with the Army. If he is spoofing the War Department, Charley Stepinthemud certainly has succeeded, for half a dozen veteran clerks of the Quartermaster Corps have been methodically searching files of the last hundred years in the hope of finding some record that Charley served as an Indian scout from 1812 almost to date.

Charley wants some compensation for his century of service, now that he is retired at the age of 130, and he plaintively asks if he must "wait another 100 years" which rather indicates that his financial difficulties are not very pressing.

And, poor Lo's story runs thus:

"First you will have to excuse my being as I only learned to write after I was 100 years old. I am now 120. I am an Onida and Seneca Indian and the reason of me writing to you is this. I have followed the American Army near on too 85 years as an Indian Scout scouting and spying for the Army and I have never drawn any pay for my services on account of some of them army officers not turning in my name for my services.

"My first service was with General Jackson at New Orleans. Filing the British Red-coats then scouting in Middle West after Bad Indians. I was with General Scott in the Old Mexican War then scouting on the Plains. I was with A. J. Smith thru the civil war then back West on the Plains and Rocky mountains after Bad Indians. I went to Cuba with Col. Roosevelt as a scout with them Ruff Riders and done my part to help whip the spaniards.

"Roosevelt did not get me my transportation home so I had to go and work in cane fields and sugar mill until I could get enough to build me a good tight canoe in which I can back to the Mississippi River and up to St. Louis and on up the Missouri River.

Vet at 11

Marines claim Sergeant Berno L. Woolley of Salt Lake City, is the youngest veteran of the World War. He is 11. He was officially enlisted in the marines recruiting service when he was seven and discharged four years later. He obtained more than 200 recruits.

Good News

It's good news—you know it is—this radical reduction of $1.40 on the Model H Lalley Light and Home Electric Power Plant. But do you realize the importance of taking advantage of this unusual opportunity?

This greatly reduced price of $4.85 is an arbitrary price—and this offer is being made for the month of May only.

Unless the demand is sufficient to keep the Lalley factories going at full speed, it will be necessary to increase the price June 1st.

Remember this low price of $4.85 is for the New, Bigger, Better, More Powerful Model H Lalley, the highly refined plant that "Does More—Does It Better"—the plant that is fully guaranteed for one year including the batteries.

This is your first chance—and it may be your last to secure this thoroughly reliable and efficient plant at so low a figure.

AMUSEMENTS

FAVORITE TENT CO. RETURNS.
Kelly Comedians Open Saturday.

Kelly's Comedians who made a decided hit in Pendleton last year are to pitch the big tent opposite the O. W. N. depot for a week's stay.

Direct from a full season's engagement at the Royal theatre, Vancouver, B. C. and with a record of ninety weeks without closing they should be able to furnish local theater goers something especially good in the way of entertainment.

The management has acquired a number of new plays for this season, some of which are being released for the first time at popular prices. Most of last season's favorites are still in the cast and quite a few new faces.

Phil Berg and Ert Hunt, better known as "Abie" and "Slivers," who furnish most of the comedy of the show are two of the best known comedians in the west today and incidentally the highest priced.

Then there are Ben Dix and Dolly Daye, Bob Sandberg, Lillian Isen, Olive Finney and a number of others whose names you will remember. The "Kelly Beauty Chorus" and the "Kelly Trio."

On Saturday evening a combination of vaudeville and musical comedy show different perhaps from any thing you have had an opportunity of seeing for a long time. Built and staged along the lines of the famous Ziegfeld shows, "Biff, Bing, Bang" should please everyone. This is the first time this show has been released at popular prices, although several western colleges had the use of it last season, including Montana's big school at Bozeman, where it proved such a success that they filled the big Panthea house for three nights.

This will be followed by such successful bills as "Easy Money," "All Aboard," "The High Cost of Loving," "A Night at Monte Carlo," and three of the old time dramatic favorites.

The company is only here for a limited engagement and would like to play to every man, woman and child while in Pendleton.

The policy is a family show for family people and at family prices, 25 and 50 cents.

The farmers own and operate half of the automobiles and trucks in the United States, the total of which is more than nine million.
