The pros-pective settlers from Nebraska and Kansas and other states of that sec-tion will leave Omaha July 19, and a tour of Oregon will be made.

Hawthorne Gets Record.

Hawthorne school holds the record n the school fire drills, according to William Ringold, fire chief, who conducted the drills this morning. Haw-thorne pupils were out of the building ne minute after the gong rang. Linand Washington pupils their exist in one minute and five conds, while the pupils of the high chool proved more deliberate and eft the building in one minute, twenty seconds. Because of the recess hour, no test was made at Field school. Chief Bingold, while at the grade schools, gave a talk and em-phasized the four "don'ts" of fire prevention, as follows: I will not play wreck that antedates the memories of with matches: Stamp it out: Turn off the earliest settlers in the Oregon the Current and Clean up trash. TREASURE IN HOLD OF MYSTERIOUS SHIP OFF OREGON COAST of Earliest Settlers in Oregon

Down on the coast of Southern Ore-H. country.

The hold of the ancient craft con and Manuel Friedly, chairman of the tains a cargo of metal bars, brass and chool board accompanied Chief copper perhaps even gold. This much was determined last year for the first time by an organized exploring party that braved the swift tides and quicksands of Neskowin for a few hours just long enough to ascertain that the nold contained ingots of some kind The curious ones were then driver back by the inrushing tide. When ricky Neskowin sunds had shifted and the wreck was almost out of solved, residents of the Neskowin dis-trict declare. They are prepared to spend a considerable sum of mone; in excavating. When all plans are condy hours-between tides-or not at all. Success of the expedition admittedly depends to a great extent upon the favor of the elements, for in the constantly shifting sands and tides the wreck is sometimes raised high above the beach, and again covered with tons of sand and almost submerged from sight.

The treasure-scekers will endcave to make their drive on a favorable day, when the tide is low and the wreck comparatively clear of sand. It planned to cut through the hold with axes and shovels, and remove as uch of the metal as possible before he incoming tides drive the it vaders

The old wreck has been on the beach at Neskowin, in Tillamoo county, for many years. The Indian ay it was there long before the irst homesteader in the region, sathe ship had apparently been wrecked for decades before he set ed o te Oregon court in 1885. Fowma who is taking an active interest in organizing the exploration party, beneves the ship was one of the Hud-
