WHAT PENDLETON GRADE SCHOOLS ARE DOING

Hawthorne School. Pupils of the third grade had several pictures taken Friday by their teacher, Miss Anna Brown. The doll house made by the third grade, four rooms complete with furnishings is finished and runs made by the pupils adorn each floor. The finishing touch was given Friday by hanging white curtains at the windows.

Earl Fioatke has returned after a long illness.

Fred Warnstrom received his reading certificate and twelve buttons for excellent work in writing.

The following pupils of the seventh grade were exempt from examinations in all subjects: Kathryn Simpson, Berdy Hartsh, Catherine Elliott, Myrtle Minnes, Florence Walters, Bernard Walter, Tom Baker and Jack Peckler.

The sixth grade exemptions were as follows: Laura Rasmussen, Bonnie Zelony, Willis Lecklider, Opal Rieves, Genevieve Morand, Gertrude Englehart, Jessamine Deebach, and Ruth Sherman.

As next week is examination week by the different grades, the Hawthorne pupils and teachers gave the principal, Gertrude E. Nash, a surprise, by calling an assembly of the pupils of the various grades in the eighth grade room and carrying out a well-arranged and very pleasing program.

Miss Mable Johnson then played a march and a representative of each grade marched through the room, showering the principal's desk with beautiful bouquets of roses presented by the different grades.

In behalf of the pupils of Hawthorne school Ray Mataoney made a short talk, and presented Mrs. Nash with a beautiful ivory hand mirror, a remembrance from all of the grades.

Babe Ruth Without His Bat

What's missing here? The big stick, of course. You've seen so many pictures of Babe Ruth at bat that here are two to show he's valuable to a club in other ways. Big league managers say Babe's almost as good killing home run hits of competitors by his fielding as he is at swinging them out. Was the sound of the bat he's off left, and makes his catch as good as his strike?

SPORT GAS (BY THE STAFF)

Tomorrow will be the final day's sport in the series of shoots that have been held by the Pendleton Rod and Gun club during the past six weeks under the auspices of the national association.

The trophies that have been hung up as prizes probably will bring out some good shooting.

For the baseball fan there's the Weston game with the Bees.

And the golf bugs will hold forth at the links where the final day's sport of the tournament will be staged.

Which is our idea of quite a lot of variety in the way of sports.

Marshall Spell has a real problem on his baseball team that he will have to handle soon.

Should a big guy like Cary be retained on first when he can't make a better batting average than a little guy like Olson at second?

Mutt and Jeff are tied in stick work or this season with an average of 225, and Marshall can't figure out what to do.

If Bill doesn't break the tie Sunday, there will be something doing.
