WOULD GO FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE

Pendleton Woman Would Like to Tell Everybody How Tangle Restored Her Health.

"I wish I could go from house to house and tell everybody what I know about Tangle," said Mrs. Minda Davidson, 514 Market street, Pendleton. "About two years ago," she continued, "I had an attack of the flu that left me in a badly run-down condition. I could eat little more than enough to keep me alive and become so weak I couldn't even sweep the floor. I was very nervous. Never slept well and was so discouraged I hardly knew what to do. Then too, I suffered terribly from neuralgia in my face and it often swelled awfully and turned dark purple. "Finally one of my friends got me to try Tangle and I certainly feel grateful to her, for there were many times while I was sick when I would gladly have given a thousand dollars for something to help me. Well, Tangle troubles, for now I have a fine appetite, sleep well and feel well in every way, and I never have an attack of neuralgia, or whatever that trouble was I had in my face. Tangle certainly deserves every bit of the praise being given it."

Exhibit Is Interesting.

Two hundred thirty colored hand painted pictures of Oregon fungi and wildflowers are on display at the county library under the auspices of the University of Oregon extension department. Professor A. R. Sweetser, of the University botany department, is in charge, and the pictures were painted by Mrs. Sweetser. The art work is in itself beautiful and the pictures, all hand colored in the natural tints, are extremely accurate. The exhibit is open to the public and today the second grade pupils of Hawthorne school saw the display and named the flowers they knew. Professor Sweetser speaks tomorrow night under state federation convention auspices on the preservation and restoration of Oregon wild flowers.

SWARM OF BEES ARE COLLECTED AT CORNER OF BUSY CITY STREET

SPokane, June 1.—(A. P.)—Collecting a swarm of bees at a downtown street corner here today furnished amusement for several hundred spectators. One exponent of bee culture, braver than the rest, entered the ring with a tin can and a small tree. Turning the can upside down he beat gently upon it with a rock and held the tree aloft with the other hand, but the wary insects refused to recognize the hastily constructed forest. Finally the utensils were moved to the top of a nearby building, out of the noise of street traffic and the patience of the bee expert was rewarded. No casualties were reported.

CAPTAIN AND CREW OF STEAMER ESPERANTO ARRIVE ON ELSIE II.

Fishing Schooner Struck on Sunken Reef in Dense Fog and Sinks in 25 Minutes.

HALIFAX, June 1.—(U. P.)—Captain Behlman and his crew of 25 from the sunken fishing schooner Esperanto, arrived aboard the Elsie II. The Esperanto, which won the international fishing boat race last fall, struck a sunken reef in a dense fog off of Sable Island and sank in 25 minutes, Behlman said.

The arrivals of the survivors dispelled the fear felt since Monday that the New England fishermen aboard the Esperanto had gone down with their boat. Sable Island wireless had reported the wreck and said that the Elsie II, was standing by, but the reporter was unable to learn whether the crew had been taken off.
