PRIZMA PROCESS IS EMPLOYED IN "THE GILDED LILY"

For the first time in the history of Paramount picture-making in the East, scenes made by the Prizma process in natural colors have been incorporated into a Paramount feature picture. This was for "The Gilded Lily," featuring Mae Murray, which will be shown at the Alta theatre for three days, beginning today.

Director Robert Z. Leonard, in explaining the reason for combining Prizma shots with the regular motion picture photography said that "The Gilded Lily" lent itself especially to colored photography for the opening of the picture and that by use of it the main theme of the story could be more convincingly and effectively introduced. The color shots were used only for the introduction to the picture itself. "The Gilded Lily" is an original story by Clara Burnham, and was written especially for Mae Murray. It tells the story of a dancer in a New York club, and gives Mae Murray unusual opportunities to display her histrionic ability and her skill as a dancer. In a monster cabaret set of rare beauty, Mae Murray executed two difficult dances, one a variation of the Spanish variety, the other a bubble dance.

The cast surrounding Mae Murray is composed of Lowell Sherman, Jason

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Every family should keep this preparation at hand during the hot of the summer months. It is almost sure to be needed, and when that time comes, is worth many times its cost. Buy it now.

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?
Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment? The pain may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, which makes sleep and rest possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism.

The Home of the Soul
In older times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never so completely upset as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets.
"Chamberlain's Tablets have been used by my husband and myself off and on for the past five years. When my husband goes away from home he always takes a bottle of them along with him. Whenever I have that heavy feeling after eating, or feel dull and played out, I take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets and they fix me up fine," writes Mrs. Newton Freehand, Minoa, N. Y. Take these tablets when troubled with constipation or indigestion and they will do you good.

JUDGE BEN LINDSEY IN BIG BOY FILM

The latest, and one of the most distinguished recruits to the ranks of the temporary motion picture actors is Judge Ben Lindsey, founder and still presiding genius of Denver's far-famed model Juvenile Court. The "Little Judge" who has "put over" one of the biggest known reforms in dealing with juvenile delinquency, has not deserted the bench for the screen by any manner of means, but he did realize that by consenting to appear in one big film production he could send his message of a square deal for every child to more persons in a few months than he could hope to reach in years of lecturing and writing on his pet topic.

Judge Lindsey and his wife journeyed all the way from Denver to Hollywood, California, to appear in the several scenes dealing with the part of the story. A member of the producing staff had already been to Denver and made all arrangements for his appearance in the film, and much to Judge Lindsey's astonishment, he found an exact replica of his private office and his court room awaiting him in the Hollywood studio.

"Why, this might be my own office," he exclaimed when he saw the prepared "set." "That looks exactly like my old office chair back home." He sat down in it and added, "It feels just like my chair, too! I had no idea you motion picture people took such pains with minor details. I still half believe you have some secret method of spiriting things about, like a magic carpet. But if this is actually my own office furniture which you have got here by some black art, I warn you now that you will have to return it in the same way, for I'll need it when I return."

A brilliant new Paramount picture, "The Gilded Lily," starring Mae Murray, will be the feature at the Alta theatre today. The photoplay was produced by Robert Z. Leonard, and is the first Mr. Leonard has made with Mae Murray, his wife, under a new contract with Paramount.

"The Gilded Lily" is reminiscent of the George Fitzmaurice production of "On With the Dance," in which Mae Murray achieved a notable success last year. The bewitching blond star is seen as Lillian Drake, a typical Salomander—one of those women who can take from men and give nothing in return—but through who is all laughter and rouse and silk on the exterior, her one longing is to quit her butterfly life and become a wife.

She has many admirers among whom are Creighton Howard, a typical Broadway man-about-town, and Frank Thompson, a country boy. Frank asks her to marry him and she consents, and, in order to be better fitted to bear his name, she quits dancing and leads a quiet life. Frank is not pleased because he loved her frivolities, and the final twist is more surprising.

Creighton Howard is played by Lowell Sherman and Jason Roberts plays Frank Montgomery. A big cabaret scene in which Mae Murray executes several of her fascinating dances is one of the most striking scenes.

The attempt was unsuccessful, but the "bo's" defied the crew, and rode into Denver where they were met by a squad of 25 police. They explained they were "tourists," desirous of spending the summer in Colorado.

Misleading newspaper stories of street "raucous" alleged to be caused by coal mining under Wilkes-Barre have led the Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce to issue a statement denying that surface subsidence has occurred on the city streets. The stories were ridiculous, the report declares, since mining is prohibited under central locations of the city.

Here's fun for amateur photographers. It's making a spirit photograph. Set up the camera for a time exposure indoors. Set the aperture to just a tiny hole and expose for half the necessary time. The "spirit" subject then moves out of the picture and the exposure is completed. That will do the trick.
