CITY COUNCIL HEARS PROVISIONS OF MILK ORDINANCE PROPOSED

Measure Does Not Meet Hearty Reception at Hands of City Dads Who Take no Action. The first draft of the milk ordinance in the framing of which representatives of the Women's club, the county agent, the dairymen, the city physician and middle men who sell milk had a hand was read to the council last night.

The ordinance provides that the dairymen must have a license from the city, the fee to be regulated on a sliding scale with $5 as the minimum charge for a dairy of five cows or less. For dairies with from six to 10 cows, the fee is $10, and for every additional cow above 10, an additional fifty cents is to be charged if the measure is adopted.
