ROMANCE OF GOLD HUNTER WRITTEN ON HISTORY OF MAN'S EFFORTS TO REACH GOLD IN SIERRA MADRE MTS.

Murder and Violence Marked Many of These Attempts Yet Brave Spirit Still Prevails.

HISDER, Ariz., June 3.—(A. P.)—

For three hundred years, according to reliable records, the Sierra Madre mountains of Sonora and Chihuahua, Mexico, have held the secret of a gold mine of fabulous richness and a vast treasure store of gold, mined and hidden away in an inaccessible tunnel.

The romance of the gold hunter is written in the history of man's efforts through the centuries to reach and bring back to civilization this wealth of the Old Hyppia mines. Murders and violence have marked many of these efforts and still in many hardy breasts of this mining country today there still abides the spirit which has prompted many to brave the dangers of starvation, thirst and death at the hands of Indian bands and outlaws in the search for gold.

Mexico City contains records of the old mine and several prospectors, one of them Jack Dunn, accredited discoverer of the Warren district, have reported seeing ruins of the old mine, but none ever reached there.

According to records at the Mexican capital, in the latter part of the seventeenth century the isolated village of Old Tyopa was ruled by Indians who destroyed the town and killed all the inhabitants except a priest.

After wandering for several weeks, the priest arrived at a little town called Auga Fria, on the Paqui river, where he was received and cared for by a Mexican family. His hardships caused his death, but before he died he gave to the family a description and map of the mining camp. He also reported that the gold obtained from seven years of mining had been restored in an old tunnel because of the impossibility of shipment to civilization.

The story and map, it is said, have been handed down from family to family for generations. Those who attempted to reach the camp lost their souls and many did not return. The Indians for years maintained all prospectors and this condition still exists, augmented by bands of outlaws.

Max Covita, for several years Mexican consul at Naco, is said to have been the latest possessor of the priest's map. He declared he twice succeeded in getting as far as Cam-blanca from which the ruins of Old Tyopa are visible and it was reported he had not given up hopes of reaching the place at his death several years ago.

Best Grover, a local man, twice started with two companions to make the perilous journey, but was forced back because of insufficient equipment, Indians and outlaws.

NEW TOWN IS TO BE FOUNDED IN COUNTY

HERMISTON, Ore., June 3.—A new town is being started at Cold Spring, in Umatilla County. E. P. Dodd, who is the founder of the town of Boardman, is the founder of the new place. He owns the land at the old Cold Springs station and has employed E. I. Davis, the well known engineer, who has surveyed the site and is now preparing the plat, which will be filed in the county records, within a few days. The new place is at the river end of the new proposed Cold Springs-Pendleton Highway. The contract for the building for thirteen miles to Boardman was recently let by the state highway commission at the cost of $123,000. The Newport Construction company of Hermiston, will build the road and expect to establish camp on the new townsite within a few days.

citizens of the Columbia District.

The name of the new town has not been definitely determined yet. The founder of the town prefers the name of Cold Springs but this may not be permitted by the postal authorities, and if not suggestions for a name will be solicited.

The new town is Pendleton's nearest point to the Columbia River. It is only about thirty miles and when the highway is completed on the Pendleton end, truck lines can make the round trip to the boat landing in less than three hours.
