What About That Boy

It surely is a puzzle as to what to do with that boy during the long school-vacation, how to keep him out of mischief and provide means to make him useful to himself, to his parents and to the community. Past experience has demonstrated that one of the best means to obtain best results is some definite work at a fair compensation, and to induce the boy to place part or all of the earnings in a Savings Account for future use.

The Toddle

When you consider the frequency of the phrase, "Senate Takes Steps" in newspaper headlines, don't you wonder why it never seems to get anywhere?

It may have been a typographical error or it may not. But anyhow a grocer recently announced to his patrons that "I will save your money." Still it's nice to know that there's somebody who can do it.

Summer suits are to be fuller this year. Wallets after they have been purchased will be far otherwiser.

As for us, our summer suit will be worn thinner—thinner even than it was when we interned it in camphor last fall.

So! Batin says it's funny how many fishing worms you find spading the garden and how few when digging for bait.

Elbert Hubbard said of Brann, the demon iconoclast: "He wrote on asbested and dipped his pen in tobacco." Humph! It is reported that only three public libraries equipped with automatic fire sprinklers will contain Elinor Glyn's forthcoming novel.

There is one pest worse than the polecat. We refer to the hard-headed Woman's intuition may be all that it pretends to be, but we'd back the chances of a well dressed villain any time against those of a trampy-looking gentleman.
