M. J. Buckley, general superintendent of the O. W. R. & N., was here this morning a few minutes while No. 19 stopped. He has been in Omaha records either for the weight or number of the employees and officials have been threshing out wage problems.

John Crow and Kenneth Bowman were among those Pendleton fishermen who hunted McKay creek yesterday. The boys didn't net any how records either for the weight or number of the catch. It is reported, but they were in a vicinity where many good fish have been caught by others.

Parties who fished in Camas creek yesterday made good catches, finding the fish both large and plentiful, says Albert Peterson. Mr. Peterson came in from Ukiah this morning and is going to hold a horse sale here later in the month.

Mrs. T. E. Hanley arrived this morning from Walla Walla where she has been on business to visit a short time with her son, Richard E. Hanley. Her home is in Spokane.

James H. Sturges and C. H. Marsh left last night for Tacoma on a business mission. They will also be in Seattle before returning home.

The road to Lehman Springs will be good by next Sunday, says Paul W. Robbins, forest ranger who is stationed at Rose Wallow. There are some bad mudholes at present and the road to Midway from Lehman is rough, says Mr. Robbins who is at the local forestry office today.

guttered buildings and ruined merchandise. New downpours of rain prevent the clearing of the wreckage. Pueblo, nerve shattered, still watches the skies with dread, fearing other bursts of rain. Concern is being felt for the safety of tourists, and farmers in the "pepper sauce" bottoms.

Arrangements are being made to rebuild the levees along the Arkansas. They hope to construct an impregnable wall. Local, state and federal aid planned to cooperate in the reconstruction, which is expected from President Harding's proffered aid.

Waters are Receding.
PUEBLO, Colo., June 6.—(A. P.)—This flood devastated city awoke to find the waters in the low lying sections receded to below a five foot level and still going down. The flood is at its lowest stage since the sudden onslaught of Friday night. The work of removing the bodies from the grove and the pepper sauce bottoms districts began. The situation is well in hand and order is rapidly being brought out of chaos.

State troops and rangers patrolled the residence districts. Everyone found on the streets after nightfall was stopped and questioned. There has only been one to two cases of actual looting since military assumed control.

Between 15 and 20 men were brought to military headquarters and questioned, but nearly all were ignorant Mexicans, wandering about aimlessly. A relief train with tents, beds, clothing, cooking utensils and medical supplies is due today. A refugee camp has been established at Mineral Palace Park to care for the sufferers who are now in churches, schools and public buildings. Guards on all roads are stopping everyone except those having official business. The report last night that a new flood was coming proved groundless.

POLICE GUARD DANGER ZONES.
DENVER, June 6.—(U. P.)—Police guards are thrown around the danger zone of the low lying Platte river bottom as a result of the stream overflowing part of the railroad yards. Families in the district are warned to leave if the stream continues to rise. The Platte river and Cherry creek, running through the southwest portion of the city, have been banked for the last three days. Railroad tracks, factories and many residences will be flooded if the stream continues to rise.

Repair Work Commences.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 6.—(U. P.)—Repair work on bridges and tracks of the Denver & Rio Grande is progressing rapidly. They expect to handle relief trains, first to the gross devastated area, carrying nurses, doctors and medical equipment. The first rolling stock of any kind to reach Pueblo was the Crescent Mining Company flanked truck carrying Governor Shoup, Colonel Marmack and various newspapermen. They will have a limited passenger train service in 48 hours, is the prediction. Danger of a further flood is negligible.

RED CROSS GIVES AID.
PUEBLO, June 6.—(A. P.)—Governor Shoup asked the United States government to place $20,000,000 at the command of the state for food relief. An urgent call was sent for antityphoid, anti-diphtheria serums and disinfectants. The governor placed all relief in the hands of the Red Cross. The city is planning to rebuild. Optimistic signs are displayed. The Associated Press check showed 42 known dead, against the Red Cross figures of 100 yesterday. Many bodies are still in the debris.

Everyone Must Work.
PUEBLO, June 6.—(U. P.)—Colonel Hamrick has issued orders that within twenty four hours every able bodied man in Pueblo must go to work, go to jail or leave town. The men must clear the debris and make themselves useful in any way. Materials for working are expected to arrive tonight. Surgeon Cornell is taking charge of the sanitation work and may fight the possible outbreak of disease. He states there is no dangerous epidemic at present and no great alarm is felt. Arrangements are completed to establish a great concentration camp at the fair grounds. Reports here indicate the recovery of bodies downstream in Arkansas, thought to have been swept away by the flood. Caskets and embalming supplies are en route. The citizens committee wired Shoup requesting his aid to obtain $5,000,000 for relief work to rebuild the Arkansas levee.

NEWS OF FARM AND RANGE

SECURE BIG INCREASE IN ALFALFA YIELD BY APPLICATION SULPHUR

Practice of Using 100 Pounds Will be More Thoroughly Tried Out This Fall Here.

The yield on approximately 100,000 acres of alfalfa land in Eastern Oregon may be increased on an average of one ton per acre per year by the application of 100 pounds of flowers of sulphur every four years, according to F. L. Ballard, assistant county agent and leader of La Grande. This alfalfa land is located in the heart of the best range livestock areas in the state. Articles regarding the results obtained with sulphur in Deschutes county have been published in many papers in past years. In that county 17 carloads were applied to alfalfa land within a period of 18 months and yields were increased on an average somewhat above a ton per acre. It has been demonstrated, however, during the past two years, that equally as good results may be secured in Klamath and Union counties. In Klamath county, sulphur is now shipped in in carload lots under the direction of the Farm Bureau and is recognized as a staple in agricultural trade. Farmers in Union county have not yet made wholesale applications, but will do so this fall.

Sulphur was applied to alfalfa this year for the first time in Malheur county, one of the leading range sheep counties of the state. Reports from there show that favorable returns were secured. In Umatilla county, results varying from 13 to 20 per cent increase were secured this year and in the alfalfa districts of Wasco, Morrow and Lake counties, nearly a ton per acre is being secured. Soils of Walla Walla county, in the northeastern corner of the state, also respond to sulphur. Fred Falconer, sheep man of that county, who recently purchased the Cunningham Sheep Company in Umatilla county, uses the yellow dust extensively.

The county agents throughout Eastern Oregon list sulphur work as an important part in their programs and vigorous campaigns for its adoption will be carried on until the alfalfa acreage in those districts responding well to its use has been effectively treated. Sulphur, contrary to opinion held some years ago, is now recognized as a direct plant food for alfalfa and clover. There are approximately four pounds of the yellow element in a ton of alfalfa hay. Knowledge of this fact was obscured in the earlier days of scientific research in agriculture, by reasons of the fact that the element escaped as a gas from plant residues while being burned preparatory to analysis.

No ill effects are experienced in arid and semi-arid districts, because of the presence of large quantities of lime in soils under those conditions. The ill effects to be expected are increased acidity, which will probably limit the use of sulphur in humid districts. The difference in land contents between the soils in arid and humid districts is very great. The average for the former being 1.3 per cent, while the latter average run around .10 and .15 per cent. Soils in Deschutes county where the use of sulphur is more general, run as high as five per cent in lime content.

Although many serious problems confront the range sheepmen, the old fundamental problem of maximum forage production which means more cheap forage, still remains, and the use of sulphur, the adoption of Grimm alfalfa and the building of silos are the methods being followed in Eastern Oregon to provide it.

Professor Budlong Puts Tanlac To Test

"It's an actual fact, I'm in good health for the first time in thirty years and I owe my present splendid condition to Tanlac and nothing else," was the emphatic statement of Prof. C. J. Budlong, well-known and highly respected citizen of Manchester, N. H., residing at 42 School street.

"Practically all my life I had been discouraged as a man ever gets. Well, before I had finished my first bottle of Tanlac I realized it was different from anything I ever tried. It suited my case exactly. And now for almost the first time since I can remember I can eat anything I want and digest it. I haven't an ache or a pain and have gained fifteen pounds in weight. I just feel good all over and am full of life and energy these days. Everywhere I go I talk Tanlac. It hasn't an equal."
