DELEGATES LIKE CONVENTION
Letters of appreciation from delegates who attended the twenty-first annual convention of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs in Pendleton May 21, June 1, 2 and 3, are arriving here. All the delegates give Pendleton's hospitality and declare that the visit was one long to be remembered. Probably the event in the social calendar of the convention which was most enjoyed was the motor trip to Cabbage hill and the crab supper which preceded the tour.

The convention was undoubtedly one of the most successful in the history of the organization. The establishment of an endowment fund was a decided step forward. Reports from all committees showed a vast amount of work accomplished in child welfare, civics and conservation of natural resources.

THE CARELESS SMOKER
(Apologies to Kipling.)
(By Harold A. Reynolds in "The Open Road")
A fool there was and his pipe he lit
(Even as you and I)
On a forest trail where the leaves were fit
To become a blaze from the smallest bit
Of spark—and the fool he furnished it.
The day was windy and dry.

The forest was burned to its very roots.
Even beneath the ground,
With the flowers, the birds and the poor dumb brutes,
Old hoary oaks, and the tender shoots
Which might have made logs but for such galoots,
Allowed to wander around.

The lumber jack has now passed on
His pay-day comes no more,
And the screech owls haunt the camp
at dawn.

Where the cook's tin pan woke the men of brown,
But the will is silent, the trees are gone,
The soil and the forest floor.

A dently sight are those hills of roks
Which once were beds of green
No hope for the human, no food for the flocks,
The floods must be held by expensive locks,
And the harbor is silted to the docks.
The ships no more are seen.

But the fool smokes on in the forest still,
Leaves campfires burning too,
While the patient public pay the bill
And the nation's wealth is destroyed for nil.

If the law doesn't get him, old Satan will,
When his smoking days are through.

FROM THE PEOPLE

WOULD HONOR McLAUGHLIN.
Pendleton, June 6.
Editor East Oregonian.
The one name that stands in bold relief in the hearts of the Oregon pioneer is John McLaughlin—he it was who did more for the travel worn pioneer than any other man, so as my personal choice for a name for Cabbage hill is "Mount McLaughlin." In deference to those who desire an Indian cognomen I would suggest "Neiska La-mon-tal" (Our Mountain).
In this connection, and as a solution of the vexing problem of a proper monument to perpetuate the memory of Til Taylor, what would be more appropriate than a concrete, practically indestructible rest station, on the crest of Cabbage hill, where all travelers could rest and contemplate a view, when the weather is propitious, of awe inspiring grandeur—a tablet of bronze might be so placed that all who "can" might read.
Why when matters affecting Old Umatilla county are under consideration is it that we so seldom see the real pioneer consulted? It frequently happens that Smith, Brown and Jones, all of whom came to Umatilla county in a Pullman car are asked over the heads of men whose names were household words when I rolled into Pendleton on a stage nearly 40 years ago, here asked: "Smith, what do you think? Brown, what is your opinion? Jones, what the devil have you to say?"
I have an abiding faith in the old timer, and it would seem appropriate to me to ask: "Albert Gilliam, you happened along down the Umatilla river in the sixties, just before the Brad-shaws and Knotts with their bunch finished digging McKay creek, which you will remember peeved the Raleys, Teels, Bumgardners, Sionas, Thompsons et al—they wanted the water run down Alkali canyon."
Then again, I would consider it only a proper courtesy to the Welches, Marshalls, Lot Livermore, Fraker, La Dows, genial old Jimmy Hackett, any one of a score of old Pendletonians to take them into the meeting; and should you also consider that hot bed of pioneers—Weston—but you better keep away from Weston, you might get my friend, Clark Wood, started reminiscing and who the dickens could stop him.
N. BERKELEY.

Smugglers, eh?

These German youngsters might be innocent of any wrongdoing, but when they cross the border into the territory occupied by the French they have to submit to a thorough search for contraband. The French keep a sharp eye against smugglers.

FRENCH JEWELERS SMILE AT IDEA OF FEEDING AN OYSTER FIFTY YEARS TO PRODUCE ONE PEARL

In History of World no One Has Ever Succeeded in Artificially Producing Jewels.
PARIS, June 7.—(A. P.)—The fashionable jewelers of the Rue de la Paix are smiling over a report from London that a Japanese pearl expert had discovered a cultivating process to produce pearls which could not be distinguished from genuine Oriental pearls and which consequently had the same value.
"In the whole history of the world" said Jacques Cartier, a prominent jewel merchant, "no one has ever succeeded in artificially producing precious stones. Man has never been able to imitate the processes of nature."
The pearl, said M. Cartier, is particularly difficult to imitate and any one could distinguish an Oriental pearl from the imitation. The real pearl is composed of many concentric skins, as an onion. Held up in natural light the center shows darkest, with the transparency increasing in perfect gradation toward the exterior.
"The imitation, or 'Japanese pearl' is said to be produced by introducing into the living oyster a small stick of mother-of-pearl or a small ball of merschmal, which after several years becomes covered with several skins of the same substance as the real pearl."
"It would probably require 50 years to produce a solid pearl by this method," said M. Cartier, with a smile, "and who wants to feed an oyster for 50 years?"
LENROOT RESOLUTION PASSED.
WASHINGTON, June 7.—(U. P.)—The Lenroot resolution providing an investigation of agricultural conditions by the joint congressional committee passed the house. The senate had already passed the measure. As a concurrent resolution, it does not require the signature of the president.

Going Fishing? Going Hunting? Going Camping?

This past week, May 23 to 28, was Forest Protection week. Everybody should try to make each week FOREST PROTECTION WEEK.
Look out for the spark and tiny flame, no matter who starts it, which would spoil our HUNTING, FISHING and CAMPING places.
Watch your camp fire—
Build it on bare dirt—
Scrape the leaves away from around it—
Put it out before you leave—
Bury it! Be sure it is out!
Protect the forests, they are valuable.

How to Keep Your Refrigerator Cold!

Don't let ice run low. It's wasteful. Ice melts more rapidly when the chunk is small because the temperature rises.
Don't wrap anything around your ice. You can get refrigeration when you let ice melt—just the same as you can only get heat by letting coal burn.
We have refrigerators where the insulation that keeps ice from melting rapidly is in the wall. You don't have to wrap insulation around the ice.
Don't set warm dishes in your refrigerator. It raises the temperature each time you do it.
We'd like to show you the Automatic, a real refrigerator. Any time you wish to come in. Welcome.
