DOROTHY DALTON IN FINE NEW YUKON PICTURE

Dorothy Dalton is back again in the role of a daughter of the great Canadian Northwest, a similar character to that in which she made such a success in "The Flame of the Yukon," several years ago. It was in such a role as she has in "The Idol of the North," J. Clarkson Miller's story, which will be seen at the Alta Theatre today that Miss Dalton gained her reputation as a screen star.

Miss Dalton plays Colette Brisac, daughter of a French-Canadian miner, who fled to the wilderness to escape arrest for having killed a man. She is left without father and mother in a mining town built up over night and obtains a position in the Aurora Ballroom, a saloon and dance hall of the town. She soon becomes one of the biggest drawing cards of the saloon and plays unmercifully with the miners, "trimming" them for all they are worth, but still remaining the most desired of all the girls.

In the dance hall she meets Martin Bates, a young engineer, who has come from New York after a series of financial difficulties, and who fast becomes a worthless drunkard. In order to get even with the way she has treated them the miners force her to marry Bates. After the first shock Colette decides to make the best of it and determines to make a man of him. After many incidents of dramatic interest she succeeds not only in regenerating Bates but also in winning his love.

HOW TOM MIX, FILM STAR, FOUND SATAN

Tom Mix, the noted Fox film star, had to make an exception to his well-known rule of training all the horses used in his productions, when he was forced to find a big stallion to take the part of Satan in "The Untamed," made from Max Brand's novel of that name and to be presented today at the Arcade Theatre.

Mix had no idea it would be so hard to find a horse with the essential requirements. He delegated Pat Christman, his right-hand man on his ranch at Maxwell, to scout the surrounding country.

Christman examined 350 horses, and after a trip of more than 800 miles returned to the ranch unsuccessful. No sooner had he returned than "Chick" Morrison, of Santa Barbara, offered his horse Buster for sale. Reported about the horse looked so favorable that Mix himself went to see the animal.

"Greatest horse for pictures I ever saw" was the star's comment as to Christman. "Get him at once." Buster was purchased.

The horse is said to do some marvelous stunts under his daredevil master in "The Untamed."

HOME MAKER'S WEEK CORVALLIS JUNE 13-18

Umatilla county people are being urged by Fred Bennion, county agent, and Mrs. Edith G. Van Dusen, home demonstration agent, to attend Home Makers' Week at Corvallis, June 13-18.

Previously, Farmers' Week has been in the winter. It was changed to this time of the year with the thought that people may combine it with their summer vacation and have an enjoyable trip and a profitable week at the same time. Regular class room work will be given during the week and the women who attend may enroll for as many two-hour classes in various home subjects as they wish. The subjects covered will be those in which women are most interested; millinery, clothing renovation, dress forms, interior decoration, household management, cookery, home nursing, child feeding, etc. The class work and instruction will be given by members of the resident faculty.

Miss Florence Ward, who is in charge of Extension work with Women in Washington, D. C., will be in Corvallis during the week and all who attend will be delighted to meet Miss Ward and to hear her talk on "The Farm Woman."
