That Speedy Lou
 Sunday there was a grass fire on the golf links. "Jeff," the professional caddy in charge of the country club thinks that the blaze started from a cigarette stub, but Lou Pinson says he is responsible. A hot, wicked drive of his yesterday morning, ignited the dry grass, he says.

Twilight Teams Play
 Two games are scheduled this evening, in the Twilight League. The Christians will leave at 8 o'clock for Helix where they will meet the strong team for a second game. Helix handed the Christians a defeat earlier in the season and the Pendletonians will go out this evening to try and even up the count. At Round-Up park the Presbyterians and Baptists will cross bata this evening. The Baptists have the edge on the Presbyterians on dope. But Dr. Eusebio and every layman think they will inject enough pep into the outfit to take the honors home with them.

Spreading Vacation Here
 H. T. Raney, whose home is in St. Joseph, Mo., arrived in Pendleton Sunday evening to be the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Charles Serell and his cousin, Frank Glaze. On his way west he visited at Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake. In the course of his travels he ran across several survivors of the Pueblo flood. Salesmen who were in the city at the time of the catastrophe told of watching heavy box cars smash through big brick buildings, and a big heavy platform which had been in the freight yards there floated on the high waters and smashed every building it hit. Raney will remain here for a week. He is a railroad man.

To Exchange Pulpits
 During the months of July and August Rev. John Sector and Rev. George L. Clark will exchange pulpits. A plan that will make it possible for them to effect a change during the two summer months whereby the pastors will be able to enjoy their vacations without depriving their congregations of the privilege of having religious services. During July, Rev. Sector will take his vacation and his congregation will attend the Presbyterian church where Rev. Clark will preach, and during August while Rev. Clark is absent the same hospitality will be afforded the Presbyterians by the Methodists.

For Parking Wrong
 A fine of $2 was given John Doe this morning in Police court. The charge was illegal parking of a car.

Return From College
 Lloyd Montgomery and Lowell Stockman returned today from Corvallis where they attended O. A. C. They will spend the summer here.

Dr. Hill Returns
 Dr. David B. Hill returned this morning from Portland, where he acted as a member of the State Board of Dental examiners. Thirty dentists were admitted to practice in Oregon, says Dr. Hill.

Presbyterians Enjoy Picnic
 Members of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school enjoyed their annual picnic today out on the river just this side of the Mission. A big party of the members left this morning at 10 o'clock. The program included a big dinner at noon and various games.

Still Another Grass Fire
 There was another grass fire yesterday on the north side of the city which caused no property loss, but several buildings were in danger for a time. W. E. Ringold, fire chief, urges property owners not to start a fire near the dry grass without first soaking the ground adjacent to buildings with plenty of water.

First Girl to Dive
 To Miss Frances Michael goes the honor of making the first plunge by a girl that has been taken from the new high dive that has been installed in the city "Nat." Miss Michael, after deliberating several minutes, dived from the 15-foot board Sunday afternoon. The experience was rather exhilarating.

Visits Former Students
 Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Noordhoff were here yesterday from their home in Freewater. Mr. Noordhoff was formerly an instructor in the old Pendleton academy and during the visit, yesterday he and his wife visited with Mrs. J. E. Tryon and Mrs. George Stangler who were students of his at the academy. Mr. Noordhoff is now a merchant at Freewater.

Call For Henry Hobson
 To Henry Hobson, colored still in Pendleton if he is, Judge Thomas Fitz Gerald wants to see him. No, the judge hasn't anything against Henry that might cause him any embarrassment, but he has received a letter from Springfield, Mass. in which the writer asks for information about Henry. The letter doesn't indicate whether there is a fortune waiting for Hobson if he makes himself known to the writer.

More Prices Knifed
 Another chapter in the price slashing that has been under way since Henry Ford made the first reduction in the price of his cars has been made in Pendleton. Rudd, the cleaner and hatter, has announced marked reductions in the scale of prices charged by him in cleaning. French cleaning of men's suits has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.50, and pressing prices are down to 75 cents. Cleaning and blocking of hats now cost $1, a reduction of 50 cents from the former prices.

Former Pendleton Boy Here
 R. W. Williamson, a former Pendleton boy, arrived here today at noon. He is on his way to Seattle where he will take advantage of vocational training offered him by the government. He was graduated from the Pendleton high school in 1913. His home now is at Twin Falls, Idaho, where the family removed after leaving Pendleton several years ago. Williamson reports that crops in that section of the country are good. Fruit in particular will be a heavy crop, he says, and other farm crops are looking good. An unusual amount of rain fell there this year, he says. He will leave tomorrow for Seattle. While here he will visit his brother who is employed by Temple Bros.

BUCKS TAKE MEASURE OF HERMISTON TEAM BY SCORE OF 5 TO 2
 Tight Little Contest Belonged to Anybody Until Seventh When Locals Sewed it Up.
 By gouging Phelps for 19 safe singles while Sid Williams was letting Hermiston get a mealy ax, the Buckaroos emerged victorious from their contest with the Irrigationists Sunday by a score of 5 to 2. The game was the tightest little affair that the Bucks have figured in this season.
 Hermiston got the lead in the first inning, and not until the seventh did either side have a shade that looked worth crowing over. The Bucks matched the one marker that Hermiston made in the first with a lone tally in the third, added two more in the seventh, and then for good measure, they scored another pair in the ninth. Hermiston's second score was made in the ninth when J. Thorn stole home.
 Phelps' slow delivery and his snappy throws to the bases were two virtues that proved difficult for the Bucks to solve. His quick motion on pegging to basemen caused several of the local players to retire prematurely from the field after they were started around the circuit.
 Hermiston Draws Blood
 It looked for a while as if there wouldn't be any ball game when Peterson was called out between second and third in the first half of the initial inning. The ump ruled that the Bucks' captain got off of the base line to keep from getting tagged. Peterson questioned the decision, and a recess was taken while the matter was adjusted. Pete was still out after the rag-chewing match, but Dave Roberts was added to the staff of umpires, working bases and behind the bat alternately.
 Hermiston in their half of the first got a score. Todd singled to center, and when Styson returned the ball to the infield after catching Spinning's fly, Todd stole second, and he scored on Voyer's single over third. C. Thorn fanned, J. Thorn drew a walk, and Phelps fanned.

Bucks Get Even
 In the third the Buckaroos evened the tally. Huey fanned, Williams was out, Phelps to Voyer. Olson got a neat single over first, stole second and scored on Peterson's infield hit. Peterson was caught off of second, and there wasn't any more work for the man at the scoreboard until the seventh. In this inning Huey's hit through short enabled Styson and Woods to score.
 The ninth inning proved plenty of action for the fans. The Bucks in their half made a pair of markers. Woods hit safely through third, and when Gordon slammed one past first Woods go to third. Huey was safe when he rapped one into the infield, and the bases were full with none down. Williams fanned and Woods was forced out at the plate on an infield bingle by Olson. Peterson came to the rescue again with a single through first which scored Gordon and Huey. The Bucks retired when Hanley fanned.
 The Irrigationists squeaked one marker in for themselves in their final effort. J. Thorn was safe on a grounder which Hanley failed to handle, and Phelps hit a hot one for a hit to Hanley. A double steal was worked by the two men on bases, and after Middledorf went out, Williams to Cary, and Peterson fanned, Thorn stole home as Todd knocked an easy one to sid.
