HERMISTON WILL COME TO PENDLETON TO TRY AGAIN TO BEAT BUCKS

Return Game With Irrigation Champs Has Been Arranged to be Played Here Sunday.

Arrangements have been made by Manager Marshall Spell to have the Hermiston Seals leave their irrigated country next Sunday and come to Pendleton for a return game with the Hounding Bucks. The contest will assure Pendleton fans the best game they have been granted the privilege of seeing this season.

The Seals are anxious to get another chance at the Bucks because they believe that they were a little too confident when they started in Sunday's game. With an idea of the style of play used by the locals, the Irrigation League boys think they can show the Wheat Belt kings of few little tricks about the national pastime that they didn't uncoil in their home village.

There should be some things in favor of the Bucks up here. The field at Hermiston is sandy, and it is so slow that a batter has about three chances to reach first that he would never have on a hard diamond such as the one at Round-Up park. That will help Spell's gang because they made it plain Sunday that they can hit better than the Seals.

Sunday was to have been Dick Hanley's last day with the Bucks, but he is coming back to be in the lineup again next Sunday. That should enable the locals to have fully as strong an array of talent in the field as they boasted last Sunday. Then if Sid Williams can put the kibosh on the Seals with the same deadly accuracy he practiced last Sunday, it will only remain for the Bucks to solve Phelps' style. The big right handed twirler proved the hardest man for the Bucks to hit that they have met this year. The home run kings in particular were at a disadvantage in trying to work Phelps for long hits.

An effort will be made by the management to get out the biggest crowd of the year for the game.

MODERN FIGHT GAME GOT ITS START WHEN SULLIVAN BEAT RYAN

John L. Contended in Last Bare Knuckle Contest of Ring in 75 Round Fight With Kilrain

NEW YORK, June 14.—(A. P.)—The history of the modern prize ring, generally considered to have started with the defeat of Paddy Ryan by John L. Sullivan at Mississippi City, Miss., February 7, 1882, may be divided roughly into two eras. The first 20 years in length, ended when Jeffries stopped Bob Fitzsimmons for the second time on July 25, 1892 at San Francisco. "Jeff" having beaten all logical contenders was starting down the list for the second time, preparatory to retiring and handing the title to Marvin Hart.

Sullivan's "reign" lasted 10 years, during which the "Boston boy" defended his title in two major bouts. His memorable 75-round battle with Jake Kilrain was the last championship contest fought in America with bare knuckles. This fight, one of the most bitter in the history of the American ring, was preceded about a year by Sullivan's 25-round draw with Charley Mitchell at Charilly, France.

The introduction of gloves changed the game. It suited Corbett's style of fighting and on September 7, 1893, "Gentleman Jim" was the victor over Sullivan in 21 rounds at New Orleans, La. Corbett's next important battle in which he successfully defended his title came when he stopped Charley Mitchell in three rounds at Jacksonville, Fla.

Then "Rube" Bob Fitzsimmons landed up. "Fit" met Corbett at Corbett at Carson City, Nev., on March 17, 1897 and Corbett's supremacy was at an end. The heyday of Fitzsimmons, too, was comparatively short. He met James J. Jeffries in a Coney Island ring on June 9, 1899 and a new champion was enthroned who was to meet the greatest men of his day and retire undefeated until coaxed out of retirement.

Jeffries beat Fitzsimmons in 11 rounds. On November 2, 1899, "Jeff" won a referee's decision over Tom Sharkey at Coney Island in 25 rounds. In 1902, the Big Californian, hooded Fitzsimmons' demands for a rematch match and again stopped the lanky Cornishman, this time in eight rounds at San Francisco.

It was another battle of champions when Jeffries met Corbett at San Francisco a year later. Again Jeffries was invincible, knocking out "Gentleman Jim" in 10 rounds. After stopping Jack Munroe in two rounds at San Francisco in 1904, Jeffries retired, handing the title to Marvin Hart after the latter had defeated Jack Root in 12 rounds at Reno, Nev. That paved the way for the conquest of Tommy Burns the following year, bringing fistie history down to the present era.

SEALS WILL BE SLAUGHTERED

SEATTLE, Wash., 14.—(A. P.)—Sealskins coats—as many as can be made from about 20,000 skins—will be the object this summer in the government's drive on the seal preserves on the Pribilof Islands, which lie in the Bearing Sea, off Alaska.

Slaughter of the Pribilof seals will begin this year early in June and continue through the summer months. It was announced here recently. Last year 28,000 seals were taken and this year it is hoped to get 30,000.

Recently the U. S. S. Saturn of the navy department's transport service arrived here to load supplies for the annual summer campaign on the islands. The Saturn is taking the Pribilof seals expert carriers from a St. Louis firm which acts as the selling agent for the government.

Except for the months of the seal harvest, the Pribilofs are "no-go" natives only. The government for several years has been trying to improve living conditions for these inhabitants and this year is shipping north a complete modern water system.

A Japanese representative has introduced a prohibition bill at nineteen consecutive sessions of the Diet.
