INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT G. A. R. FOLKS

C. B. Sutton of Roseburg and Joseph H. V. Grubbe of Walsburg, Washington, are in a way in a class by themselves among the veterans now here. They were enlisted men in the two Oregon civil war regiments, the First Oregon Infantry and the First Oregon Cavalry. Mr. Sutton was in Co. G, First Ore. Infantry and Mr. Grubbe in A Company of the cavalry regiment. They are in the Oregon Veterans' Association and as far as they could discover are the only members here at present.

Service for three years under General Sherman was the experience of J. Gorton of the 111th Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He was in some of the most exciting campaigns of the war. Incidentally, Mr. Gorton qualifies for membership in the Annapolis club because he enlisted in the army when he was only 14 years old.

Levi Stewart of Portland thinks he is near the top of the "old boys" who are in attendance here at the encampment. He is past 88 and is the grandfather of Rev. W. A. Gressman, pastor of the Christian church, at whose home he is spending his leisure time. Mr. Stewart was a member of Co. K, 49th Illinois Infantry, and he was with Sherman on the famous march to the sea. He served during the entire war.

To be reunited after an absence of 46 years was an experience enjoyed today by J. B. Hansen, members of Co. A, 18 Ohio Infantry, and R. S. Payne, who was a member of Co. F in the same regiment. The men were with

CAPTAIN LYMAN G. RICE NAMED BY GOVERNOR TO BE MEMBER BOARD HANDLING VETERAN'S AID LAW

Arthur C. Spencer, Portland,
Will be Other Appointee;
Three Designated in Law.

SALEM, June 15.—Governor Olcott announced today that as soon as the votes were canvassed and the bonus amendment proclaimed a law he will appoint Arthur C. Spencer, an attorney at Portland, and Captain Lyman G. Rice, banker and ex-service man of Pendleton, as members of the world war veterans' state aid commission created by the act.

The act provided that one of the two members appointed by the governor shall be a veteran of the world war and a person qualified to receive a loan under the act. Commissioner Rice, of Pendleton, will be appointed as a person with these qualifications. The other members of the commission will be the governor, secretary of state and adjutant-general of the state. Governor Olcott, Secretary of State Koser and Adjutant-General White, today agreed that all of the members of the commission should be called together at an early date. While legal restrictions will prevent them from taking any formal action and functioning until after the canvass of the votes and proclamation by the governor, it will be possible for the commission in this way to outline plans and details covering regulations.

Arthur C. Spencer is one of the best known lawyers of the state, and was general counsel in Oregon for the railroad administration during the war. He has for many years been connected with the O. W. R. & N. as an attorney, and is counsel for that railroad in Oregon at present.

Captain Rice is prominently known in eastern Oregon; is assistant cashier

THINK MURDERER DID AWAY WITH ACCOMPLICE

PORTLAND, June 15.—(A. P.)—That one of the box car robbers who last night killed J. H. Phillips, the special agent of the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company, killed and wounded his confederate in a rowboat and threw the body into the Willamette was the theory today of the police.

Four shots were heard on the river after the robbers escaped. Officers found the tracks of a boat that had been dragged on the bank near the scene of the box car robbery and believed the slayers escaped in a boat in which they intended to carry the loot. The police declared they thought the robber who had been wounded by the fire of Phillips and his companion was H. G. Schneider, another special agent, and was dispatched in the boat.

TAYLOR SAYS LARGE PERCENTAGE OF BOYS OF '61 WERE UNDERAGE

Statistics on File in War Department Prove Youthful Character of Union Army.

If all of the men of the Northern forces who participated in the Civil War were alive today, a mighty big percentage of them would be qualified for membership in the Annapolis club, in that they misrepresented their ages in entering the army, according to the opinion of S. W. Taylor, commandant of the Oregon Soldiers' Home at Roseburg. To back his statement, Mr. Taylor had an old newspaper clipping which he presented, and the figures incorporated in the story show that the majority of the veterans of the Civil War were mere lads in years. Following is the story:

It will be interesting reading to the rising generation to look over the statistics on file in the war department at Washington proving the youthful character of the Union army during the Civil War. The total number of enlistments was 2,778,209, and the total number of different men in the service was about 2,250,000. The following is an correct statement as it in the First National bank of Pendleton and was an enlisted man in the world war.

It was believed by the early announcement that these men will be appointed as members of the commission so that at least a month's time would be saved in expediting the actual operation of the new law.

Friends of Lyman Rice showered him today with congratulations following receipt of the news that he will be one of the members to serve in the commission that will have charge of the work of enforcing the provisions of the Veterans' Aid Bill. The commission will be one of the most important in the state, and the selection of the Pendleton man for a place is an honor.

SECRETARY OF WAR ADDRESSES STUDENTS OF RUTGERS COLLEGE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 15.—(A. P.)—A fair chance for the administration in attempting to solve national problems was asked by Secretary of War Weeks in an address today at the annual commencement dinner at Rutgers College. He received the honorary degree of doctor of laws. "I want to plead with you," he said, "to give this administration a fair opportunity to work out a cure for the abnormal conditions which now exist. If the administration does not succeed, then you may criticize its members and if you please, drive them from public life, but first you must give them a fair chance. We cannot recover from a disaster, either as individuals or as a nation, in a short time. It takes time and patience to overcome this difficulty. We must get ourselves as individuals into a normal frame of mind. Don't be unduly critical. Be as helpful as you can, and I am confident that the return to normal will not be long delayed."

William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers declared the condition of practically every other industry reflects back on the coal mining industry. The demand for bituminous coal was gradually shut down, while anthracite, for domestic use, held up well. The miners had difficulty in supplying themselves and their families with food.

MEN OF GETTYSBURG AND SHILOH LEAD NOTABLE-PARADE WHICH IS WITNESSED BY ADMIRING THROG

Men who fought on the bloody fields of Gettysburg; men who were with General Wheaton at the Battle of Malabon, and men who felt the deadly peril of the Argonne fight made up the three generations of America's defenders who marched today in the great G. A. R. parade.

The fiftieth sunlight gleamed on scores of G. A. R. men marching with a firmness which belied their years and on members of the Veterans' Drum Corps, some of whom played at Lincoln's funeral, and all of them brave in uniforms of blue. The clear notes of the fife and the roll of the drum mingled with the music of the Pendleton band and furnished cadence for the scores of veterans who marched or rode. Over a thousand flags in the hands of the crowds who lined the streets waved in salute and again and again ripples of applause from the sidelines caused the old fellows to bow in acknowledgement.

Judge G. C. Burton, past commander in chief of the G. A. R., Mr. Butler, Oregon commander, Mr. Williams, adjutant general and members of the Fife and Drum corps were honored guests of the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon held at the Delta today. Their presence was credited with making the Rotary program the most noted in history and talks by the veterans were fervently cheered by the members who rose.

"Ninety per cent of the men who fought the civil war rest on the battlefields of the north and south and elsewhere over the land in villages of the dead," said Judge Burton. "We are soon to go and the doors of the G. A. R. will be closed forever. It is our one wish that the new generation will uphold always the cardinal principles of our government, will protect the flag and seek those things that exalt a nation."

In brief addresses Messrs Butler and Williams expressed warm appreciation for courtesies extended to the G. A. R. during their stay in Pendleton. The Fife and Drum corps, ever popular wherever they appear, played several selections in front of the luncheon place.

BIDS NOW WANTED ON NEW HOSPITAL WING

FIFE AND DRUM CORPS NOW HERE IS UNIQUE; NO OTHER IN NATION

All Members of Corps Over 75 Years of Age; All Were Volunteers in Civil War.

When it comes to stirring pulses with martial music, the fife and drum corps of the Oregon Department of the Grand Army of the Republic refuse to take off their hats to any such body in the United States of their own age. Their renditions given on the streets of Pendleton during the encampment evoked from every consideration local people believe.

The corps now consists of nine members. A few years ago there were 25 of them, and the remaining nine declare that they are going to continue playing as long as they have a nucleus left. Some members of the corps were in southern prisons at one time or another during their service. They are at least 75 years old now, and every man of the outfit was a volunteer. They also have the distinction of being the best all veteran organization of musicians surviving from Civil War days.

F. B. Grant is the drum major and during his three years of service with Co. H, 142nd New York Volunteer Infantry, there were 15 months when he was never out of range of enemy fire. The drumsticks he now uses were the
