HERMISTON DEFEATED BY SEVENTH INNING RALLY WHEN PHELPS BLEW UP AND LOCALS TIED THE SCORE

Visitors Had Everything Their Own Way During First Part of Game Which Ended 10-9.

It may not have been very good baseball as baseball goes, but that game yesterday between Pendleton and Hermiston at Round-Up Park certainly had enough "kick" in it to keep a crowd of several hundred fans on tip-toe through three final, thrilling innings. The Buckaroos won, the score being 10 to 9.

Up until the last half of the seventh, the contest belonged to the Irrigation boys all the way, and even the batting rally that was staged by the Bucks in this period when the score was tied at 6 to 6, looked as if it might not be sufficient to keep the little old slab of bacon in Pendleton.

The Seals came up loaded for revenge for the defeat they suffered last Sunday, and they were in a fair way to get whole loads of it. Neither side drew any blood in the initial inning, but in their half of the second, the Seals started the count by scoring one tally on two hits. Jones got safe on fielder's choice and he was scored by Phelps' single.

Olson in the last half of this inning found Phelps for the first hit the Bucks had been able to make, but it did no good on the scoreboard, except that it made Bill Cary feel bad.

Add Another Pair
The fourth was featureless for both sides, but in the fifth the Seals made another marker. Spinning led off with a single to center, and he stole second after Voyer was out. Van Pelt to Cary, C. Thorn singled safely through Olson, scoring Spinning. That was the limit of the scoring until the sixth. In this period Phelps was safe on an infield hit, but he was forced out at second on Middledorf's weak bouncer. Longhorn fanned, and when Woods held Todd's single to right field, Middledorf crossed the plate. Spinning was out. Huey to Cary. In Pendleton's half, Olson got another hit, the second one for the Bucks, but he did when the locals failed to find the ball.

Phelps Blows Up
The Seals got another hit and pulled off a double steal in their half of the seventh, but they secured no more tallies. It remained for the Bucks to do that, and they did, too, just six being marked up when the season was complete.

Styson started the ball rolling when he was safe on Jones' bobble, and when Ad Huey put a slow one down the third base line, the crowd in the grand stand stood up for a while and yelled for a victory. Van Pelt hit a high one to the left garden, but he was out, and Gordon was hit by a pitched ball. Woods drew a walk which forced Styson in. With the bases full, Sidney Williams joined in the batting spree by slugging a hot one past third which he stretched in to a triple, scoring three runs. He was called out at the plate when Olson bunted. Peterson followed with a hit to center, and Cary got in the way of a pitched ball. Phelps was "all shot" by this time, and he took short, Spinning marching to the mound for the Seals. Styson set a single to right field on which Peterson and Cary scored. Huey flew to Voyer for the third out. Four hits, two men hit by pitched balls and one walk were responsible for these tallies added by the Bucks. Middledorf Knocks Homer

In the eighth, with the score tied, the Seals refused to quit without a fight, and the Bucks had some of the wind taken out of their sails when Middledorf, the first man up, and ordinarily a weak hitter, lifted one over the right field fence for a homer. Longhorn and Todd were both out in short order, Williams to Cary, and then Spinning got a single to center. He scored when Voyer struck one through the fence for a triple, but he died on third when C. Thorn was out, Williams to Cary.

Pendleton in the eighth made one score. Van Pelt led off with a triple and he scored when Jones failed to field Gordon's infield effort. In their half of the ninth, Hermiston got another marker which made the score stand 9 to 7, with the visitors in the lead.

In the final session, Peterson hit a nice single, and on a wide throw to Voyer at first, he took second. Cary got a single on which he waltzed down to second while Peterson was scoring. Styson hit through Jones, scoring Cary, and he was sacrificed to third by Huey. Van Pelt was out on a sacrifice that scored Styson and added the needed marker to give the Bucks a victory.
