STAR ACTORS IN THE NATIONAL DRAMA USE "STAGE DOOR" IN ENTERING THE WHITE HOUSE

Tourists Stand by Hour in Front of Presidential Mansion Hoping to See Some Players.

By DAVID M. CHURCH (International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The White House—heart of the national drama—has its "stage door."

door enter most of the principals in the national drama.

The "stage door" of the White House is really the entrance to the executive offices. Those who are familiar with White House business methods generally use the "stage door" entrance, and it is only the uninitiated and the very formal who seek the president at the front entrance of the White House.

During the Wilson administration the "stage door" was closely guarded, but now it is wide open and all may enter who will, but lest they trespass too far without the proper passports there are Kelly and Dalrymple and a final barrier "Pat" McKenna, who knows who is who in the cast of the White House play.

WILL INVESTIGATE MILK AND BUTTER PROFITS

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(U. P.)—Profits as high as 25 percent were common in the manufacture of creamery butter and canned evaporated milk, the federal trade commission reported to congress. The report is based on a nationwide survey of milk products. The report includes: high profits in making butter and canned milk caused the prices of raw milk to soar; many manufacturers of butter and canned milk do a business of $5,000,000 yearly; unfair practices is common in this trade.

ZIONISTS CRITICISE WOMAN'S APPAREL

ZION CITY, Ill., June 21.—(U. P.)—Mrs. Sarah Johnson, charged with being dressed immodestly because she wore a waist, short-sleeved, peekaboo and low-necked, told the chief of police that when he started buying her clothes he could tell her what she should wear. Her case was continued.

Girls who plan on entering the fashionable Wellesley college preparatory school, Dana Hall, must pledge themselves to wear evening gowns with long sleeves and dresses reaching to the ankles, according to new rules recently issued.
