CALENDAR OF EVENTS
 June 27-August 1—Summer Normal School.
 July 10 to 16—Ellison-White Chautauqua.
 September 22, 23, 24—Annual Pendleton Round-Up.

Rev. Bradner to Speak.
 Rev. Lester Bradner, D. D., secretary of the Episcopal Board of Religious Education, will speak at the Church of the Redeemer tomorrow evening. Rev. Bradner is reported to be an excellent speaker.

No Quorum Present.
 The meeting of the directors of Happy Canyon, scheduled for last night, was not held due to lack of a quorum. A meeting will be held Monday night when six directors will be elected to fill existing vacancies. Action will also be taken on the resignation of Roy Raley as head of the program and arrangements committee.

Business Still Continues.
 Although the fire at the Umattilla Flour and Grain Warehouse yesterday destroyed a large quantity of feed the firm has sufficient to carry on business, says N. J. Blydenstein. The loss is estimated at $1500 including building and contents. Rebuilding of the warehouse will begin after the insurance adjusters have completed their work.

Florist's Shop Opens.
 Parr's Rose Garden, new florist's shop on Court street, opened this morning. Scores of people called during the day and each was presented with blossoms. The greenhouses are located at Freewater where F. C. Parr and S. L. Parr have been in business for the past seven years. They will divide their time between Pendleton and Freewater.

Equip Bicycles With Lamps.
 There is a provision of the lately enacted state motor law which provides that bicycles ridden after night-fall shall be equipped with lights, and Traffic Officer William Lyday declares that he will enforce the provision. A near collision between Bill and a rider of a bicycle last night called his attention to the danger of the cyclists being on the streets without lights.

Posters For Round-Up.
 The posters for the 1921 Round-Up are now in the hands of the printers and will be scattered broadcast throughout the country as soon as they come off the press. The posters will show Tex Smith, last year's bucking champion, making his famous ride, and will tell the story of the events of the three big days, September 22, 23 and 24, when the twelfth annual show is to be staged.

Suit Dismissed.
 The suit of the Tribune Publishing Co. to collect $8.10, alleged due as payment of subscription for The Tribune from Rev. W. H. Cox, pastor of the Baptist church, was dismissed this morning by Judge Joe H. Parkes. Rev. Cox testified that he ordered the paper discontinued in May, 1920, and that three weeks later, on June 1, 1920 the paper was sent to him and has continued during the past year.

Mrs. Johnson Convalescing.
 Mrs. Winn Johnson, who was operated upon recently in Portland for appendicitis, is resting easily, according to word received today by her niece, Mrs. L. U. Temple, from Dr. T. M. Henderson. Mrs. Johnson is at St. Vincent's hospital. If she continues to improve, Dr. E. O. Parker, son-in-law of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Nona La Fontaine, her daughter, will return to Pendleton by motor tomorrow.

Special S. A. Program.
 Captain Jennie Conrad, of the local Salvation Army post, will preach her farewell sermon tomorrow at the Salvation Army hall, 268 East Alta street. There will be a special program, as follows: Recitation, Howard Brundage; solo, Cadet Morford; star drill, four boys; monologue, John Moyle; solo, Captain Conrad; recitation, Hope Newcomb; trio, Captain Conrad, Lieutenant Moys and Cadet Morford; dialogue, Florence Weaver and William Moyle; piano solo, Lieutenant Moys; recitation, Jennie Brundage and tambourine drill, five girls.

Less Smut in Fields.
 There is less smut than usual in Umattilla county wheat fields says Fred Bennion, county agent, who with H. P. Barasa, professor of plant pathology at O. A. C., visited Umattilla county fields yesterday. Mr. Bennion says that the lack of much smut is due to favorable conditions for germinating smut spores before seeding time last year. An interesting feature this year, Mr. Bennion states, is that some rust is apparent in some fields. The disease is not serious here and will cause no damage, Mr. Bennion believes. It is due to the cool, moist spring, in Mr. Bennion's opinion.

Looking for Location.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Collier were here yesterday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Averill. They have been in the Peace River valley country in Canada for the past two years in the cattle business, but a lack of shipping facilities at a reasonable figure makes that much talked-of country an undesirable place for stockmen, Mr. Collier says. Before going to Canada, he operated in Idaho near Burley. Mrs. Collier left this morning for Twin Falls where she will visit relatives, and Mr. Collier left this afternoon on a trip that will take him through Northern California and Southern Oregon. He is looking for a location for establishing himself in the cattle business.

 Mrs. Matt Gilliland, of Stanfield, was operated upon yesterday for appendicitis at St. Anthony's hospital. She is convalescing nicely.

Picnic On Tuesday.
 The annual picnic of the Sunday school of the Church of the Redeemer will be an event of Tuesday. Machines will leave the church at 9:30 a. m. and the day will be spent at Hawthorne, the lovely country home of Mrs. Nancy Despain.

Rain At Ukiah.
 Ukiah had a light rain yesterday, says a message received today by J. C. Kuhns, Umattilla forest supervisor, from Walter Allison, forest ranger at Ukiah. Mr. Kuhns believes that the southern end of the Wenaha division was visited by rain also.

Officers to be Elected.
 The permanent officers of the Oregon Hay Growers Association, made up of hay growers of Umattilla and Morrow counties, will be held next Wednesday in Hermiston. A manager is to be chosen also. Five thousand acres of hay from the two counties, have been signed under a three year contract.

PASSPORT IS NUISANCE FOR EUROPEAN TOURISTS

LONDON (By Mail).—(By Clyde A. Beals. Written for the United Press.)—If there is anything that will bring out the latent foreign vocabularies of an American in Europe, it is the passport nuisance. There are now 23 countries, excluding Russia, to be encountered.

Belgium has recently taken the lead in doing away with the visum for allied nationals. Prior to this step she was charging Americans $10, which many other countries are still doing in retaliation for the American visum charge.

It is almost as if each state required passports visaged and charged ten dollars for each, except that the foreign traveler would be getting more for his money. With the present exchange in Austria and Hungary it costs more for the passport fee for a two or three day sojourn than the rest of the expense of the trip.

From Vienna I wanted to go to Budapest over Easter. The Hungarian Visa cost 750 kronen, and 500 more for the privilege of returning to Vienna. The visa charge was nominally ten dollars, but as always happens the exchange dropped, so that it actually was about twelve. Then the fare on the boat, an all-day trip on the Danube, was seven hundred kronen. And that visa is good for only one trip. If you want to go back a week or later the same 750 kronen is exacted.

But that is only half the fun. Before one can register at a hotel in Hungary one must register with the police. Then the police must be visited again for permission to leave the country. In Austria the traveler is allowed three days in which to register, but must likewise obtain permission to leave. Even in Italy, where one would think that thousands of years experience in government would have taught them better, the same regulations exist.

And the tourist himself is supposed to divine all these nuisances. In Rome the American consul has been thoughtful enough to have notices posted in the hotels where Americans are likely to stay. In other places an American blandly boards a train and then is pulled off at the frontier. Then is when the vocabulary comes out strongest.

In Italy, where in point of holidays the old song about "Every Day'll be Sunday: Bye and Bye," almost comes true, the passport nuisance is, because of the laziness of the officials, particularly irritating. The traveler must register with the police in each city. If he is pressed for time, which an American always is, he does not enjoy delaying his sightseeing to make a first trip and deposit a slip bearing the usual expurgated parts of his life history, then have to come back in an hour or so, and then wait another half hour to complete his resignation. Then it takes a day to get the pass ports prepared for leaving.

I was in Ventimiglia, near the French border on the Riviera, arriving there on May 1st in spite of the mess-up train service. I wanted to leave Monday morning, but because Sunday had been Labor Day, the police bureau had taken a vacation from Saturday noon to Monday noon. Then after my trouble, the Italian guard on the border where I walked across didn't even bother to look at me, let alone my passport.

If the vocabulary of the prospective American traveler is insufficient to meet the passport officials, he will find it comforting to know this in several languages: "I didn't want to buy your darned country, I just wanted to rent it for a couple of days."

Most people realize that a merchant cannot give things away; they know he has to make a profit; he isn't in business for his health. In the face of this statement we still claim we are giving you part of our profit by being satisfied with less than is usually exacted. This gains greater volume and after all we get the benefit. But you share in it.
